CATANIA, Sicily, Nov. 9.—Several companies of engineer troops today were trying to lay mines in order to form trenches and thus divert the flow of lava from Mount Etna.

The principal stream of lava was flowing in the direction of the railway station at Mascali. Although it had advanced to within 250 yards of the road, rail service was continuing. The stream, which had been flowing at a rate of 100 yards an hour, today had slowed up to 10 to 12 yards an hour.

Mascali, once the home of 10,000 persons, today was a mass of lava and shooting flames. Three persons whose escape was cut off were burned to death in the molten stream rolling down the slopes of Mount Etna.

The onrush of the three lava streams which had threatened the region between Mascali and the sea, however, has diminished in intensity.

Thousands of spectators came from all over Sicily and Calabria. They had to park their cars far from the scene of destruction and proceed afoot.

Aid to Sufferers.

Giovanni Giurati, Minister of Public Works, was mustering all aid for the stricken people. The population of towns which had not been affected by the lava offered hospitality to those made homeless. Giurati also was having meals dug to divert the flow to the sea in order to avoid its running over the beaches at Giarre and Riposto.

Prof. Ponte, Director of the Volcano Institute, estimated that the quantity of lava thrown out by the volcano equaled in one day the quantity thrown out in two days during previous eruptions. He said the flow was five times faster than it had been in 1923, the last serious eruption.

The disaster so stunned the simple folk of the countryside that gamblers and gamblers, sent to the scene from Catania, sometimes found it necessary to use force to drive them to places of safety.

The three casualties were a father, son and grandson named Pistone. They had returned to their homes to have household goods and as they slept the lava surrounded the dwelling. Fellow townsmen were forced to watch death overtake the three from beyond the lake of lava, being helpless to rescue them.

Men and Animals Stunned.

The spectacle of the silently flowing lava seemed to exercise a terrible fascination on men and beasts. A number of cats were lured into Mascali by the fiery light and destroyed by the molten lava. Birds which hovered over the river of lava were caught by the fumes and fluttered down into the fire like dead leaves.

Two women begged the authorities for permission to disinter the body of one of their relatives so as to bury it in a safer place, but to advance the lava made this impossible.

A monument to the war dead which was to have been unveiled next Sunday was hastily dedicated and performed the rite by calling the names of the dead on the spot while the crowd answered "present" after each name was called.

Students.

By the Associated Press.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 9.—President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University yesterday announced an anonymous gift to the university of $3,000,000 to be used to build and endow a group of dormitories, dining halls and common rooms for 200 or 300 students.

The establishment of such groups of dormitories, to be known as "houses," was suggested three years ago in a report presented by a group of undergraduates appointed by the Student Council. The plan is designed to bring together, in a social community, students whose varying interests and ideals represent a fair cross-section of undergraduate life.

In his announcement, described it as the "capping stone" to the tutorial system which has been built up at Harvard during the last 15 years.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Radio Corporation today advanced 37 points to 270, in wild trading on the New York Stock Exchange near the close of the session today as cries of "corner" rang through the financial district.

The stock closed at 250, for a gain of 17 points for the day. The violent rise in the stock was due directly to the comparative lack of supply available in the open market, most of the stock being held by corporations and rich investors. According to a statement issued today, the corporation earned $7.33 a share in the first nine months of the year, against $2.68 in the same period last year.

The company has valuable patents, which will be the basis of future developments.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—The body of a well-dressed man, tied by the neck to a fence post, was found today in a sitting posture propped against a barbed wire fence. The only mark of violence, beside the bruise on the neck, was a bruise on the top of the head, indicating a severe blow had been struck.

Numerous footprints near the body and the marks of automobile tires indicated to police of Melrose Park, suburb where the body was discovered, that the man had been strangled to death elsewhere and his body taken to the lonely spot. All marks of identification had been removed from the clothing.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 9.—Jose de Leon-Toral was convicted yesterday at San Angelo of the assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon last July and was sentenced to face a firing squad.

Mother Concepcion Acebedo de la Liza, the Catholic nun charged with being the "intellectual author" of the crime, also was found guilty and sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment.

The jury of nine, largely composed of farmers and workmen, was unanimous in finding de Leon-Toral guilty. One juror, however, voted for the acquittal for Madre Conchita, as Mother Concepcion is called here. Under Mexican law a majority verdict is sufficient to convict.

Both defendants heard their sentences without any display of emotion. The nun sat motionless with eyes downcast.

In a firm voice de Leon-Toral asked Judge Mendoza for permission to make a statement over the radio, by which the proceedings have been broadcast by the Department of Communications. His request was curtly denied. The judge saying: "You will have a chance to speak some other day."

As soon as sentence had been pronounced, Demetrio Sodi, former president of the Mexican Supreme Court, assigned as defense counsel, announced that he would appeal within the five days allowed by the Court.

The atmosphere about the Court-house, which has been growing steadily more tense during the seven days of the trial, was tenser than ever yesterday. For several days the jurymen had been taking their places in the box with revolvers slung to their hips.

After they had returned their verdict, the jurors asked the Court for armed guards to take them to their homes, reminding the Court that "there are a lot of fanatics outside."

In refusing the request on the grounds that such protection was unnecessary, Judge Alonso Aznar Mendoza said:

"You have performed your duty and returned a fair verdict. The Nation applauds you and you do not need protection."

At the conclusion of the trial both prisoners were led out of the Court-house surrounded by solid phalanxes of guards with loaded rifles. They were hustled into waiting cars and driven off through wildly shouting crowds. Obregon partisans in the crowds were yelling: "Viva Obregon! Death to Obregon's assassins! Death to Sodi!"

Women Weep for Nun.

Many women in the crowd wept for the convicted nun. As de Leon-Toral was being put into a limousine with half a dozen soldiers he caught sight of a friend in the crowd. He had heard that there was a plot to kill him as he left the Court-house, but he waved his hand in a gay salute and smiled toward his friend.

With the crowd 20 deep around him, de Leon-Toral clambered into the car and threw an arm over the shoulders of the chauffeur. From his seat he calmly surveyed the throng around him, seeming to take much satisfaction from being in the limelight.

Mother Concepcion was a tragic figure. Her spirit seemed absolutely broken.

Yesterday's session lasted eight hours without a break, and during all that time she appeared passive. Only once, when Attorney General Esquivel Padilla denounced her as a heretic, did she raise flashing eyes, and even then only for an instant. When the judge asked her if she had anything to say, she answered in a low voice, "No," and then walked back to her seat between her guards.

At 4 a. m., when the tide turned, the great ship reversed propellers and slowly slid into her berth. Relatives and friends had waited on the pier for hours.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 9.—The State Court of Pardons yesterday granted a parole to James Sweeney, serving a term of life imprisonment for an Elizabeth (N. J.) mail robbery in which John Enz, mail truck driver, was killed.

Sweeney's case was laid before the Court of Pardons by Gov. Moore, who stated that in the light of new evidence he was reasonably sure that Sweeney was not guilty. Enz was shot by robbers, who made away with $51,700 in a daylight mail robbery, Oct. 14, 1927. Sweeney was arrested, and at the trial two witnesses identified him as the "lookout" man, but he declared that on the date of the crime he had gone to Sing Sing prison to visit an inmate. He admitted signing another name to the visitors' card and failed to prove an alibi with the admission slip. The jury convicted him of murder, but recommended mercy.

Several months ago Sweeney's counsel obtained five affidavits affirming the alibi he failed to establish at the trial and, two men awaiting trial in the robbery case exonerated him.

Zimmerman said his wife, in her sleep, called the name of "Alf" in endearing terms. He said "Alf" was Alfred Gallagher. An endeavor was made to get a letter from Mrs. Zimmerman was found in a bureau drawer, the husband testified.

The darkness which enveloped downtown St. Louis after 2 o'clock this afternoon was caused by a smoke pall trapped by a light wind which shifted from northeast to southwest and at the same time dropped in velocity to two miles an hour, according to Montrose W. Hayes, head of the Weather Bureau here.

The condition of the atmosphere all day was favorable to the holding of smoke, and the wind, after dropping in velocity, was too light to blow away the accumulation. At Lambert-St. Louis Field there was no smoke but visibility was reduced to three miles, and there was a low "ceiling" of between 800 and 1000 feet.

The alleged attack took place in a downtown drug store. Witnesses said Jacobs, who recently represented Mrs. Vrooman in a separate maintenance suit, was seated at a table when Judge Vrooman approached, drew a pistol and asked: "Did you speak at my wife's house yesterday?"

PALO ALTO, Cal., Nov. 9.—It was announced today at the home of Mr. Hoover that the President-elect planned to make a good will visit to South America in November and December.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—President-elect Hoover today telegraphed President Coolidge that he proposed to make a trip to Central and South America before assuming office on March 4.

Hoover in his message to the President said he would appreciate the assignment of the battleship Maryland to him for the journey.

His purpose in the trip, as explained to Mr. Coolidge, would be to give evidence of good will to Latin American countries and to express his desire to co-operate with them for the promotion of mutual good relations besides familiarizing himself with common problems.

Mr. Coolidge has promised Hoover all the co-operation which his administration can offer in carrying out his program and making it a thorough success.

Hoover had thought of such a trip before his election. It was said, and had spoken of its possibility to the President on his final visit to the White House before leaving for his home at Palo Alto, Cal.

The trip will be made on the battleship Maryland and the details will be worked out within the next few days. Under tentative plans the President-elect would go down the west coast of the Latin-American continent to Valparaiso, Chile, and cross the Andes by rail to Buenos Aires, then proceed up the east coast to the United States.

This information was given after the President-elect had been informed by the Associated Press that President Coolidge had made the announcement of his plans at the White House in Washington.

Hoover Expected to Reorganize
Six of It in South.

PALO ALTO, Cal., Nov. 9.—President-elect Hoover will be confronted by new problems, quite apart from those he must shoulder as the chief executive, as the result of his sweep of the country and the breaking of the solid South. These problems are political in character, and as the head of his party the decision as to dealing with them rests with him. Foremost among them is the future organization in the Southern States, involving extensive expansion and some realignments south of the Mason and Dixon line.

The President-elect has been fully aware of the factors contributing to the political revolution there, and he has surprised him as much as it did the country as a whole. However, latest returns show that in some of the states which threw their electoral votes to him, the Republican trend extended into the congressional field, with the election of candidates of his own party in stricts which heretofore have been strongly Democratic.

Hoover Sought Southern Support.

One of the high hopes Hoover entertained during the campaign was that sectional lines might be broken down, and consequently his friends look on it as only a natural consequence of the election that he should take steps to consolidate as far as possible the ground that has been gained.

Just how this will be done is for future determination, as the President-elect has not yet decided.

GENERAL MOTORS VOTES DIVIDEND OF $65,625,000

Directors Agree on Two and Half for One Stock Split Up and Extra Payment.

FINAL DECISION UP TO STOCKHOLDERS

Increase in Rate Calls for Annual Outlay of $130,500,000 Against $87,000,000.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Distribution to its stockholders of the greatest bonus ever paid by an American industrial corporation has been ordered by the directors of General Motors Corporation. Common stockholders are to be asked to vote on a two and a half to one split-up and to receive an extra cash dividend of $43,500,000 and an increase of $43,500,000 in annual dividend disbursements. The action of the directors followed recent announcement by President Alfred P. Sloan Jr. that a "pleasant surprise" was in store for the stockholders. The directors' plan is subject to the vote of the stockholders at the Dec. 10 meeting.

Under the plan each holder of a common share of the present stock will receive the regular quarterly dividend of $1.50, an extra cash dividend of $2.50 and his annual dividend hereafter will be $7.50 instead of $5.00.

In Form of Splitup. The stock distribution planned is in the form of a split-up of the 17,500,000 shares of common stock outstanding into 43,500,000 shares or on the basis of two and one-half new shares of $10 par value for each old share of $25 par value. The dividend rate on the new stock was set at $1.50, an equivalent of $7.50 on the old shares.

The increase in the dividend rate calls for an annual outlay of $130,500,000 against the present dividends of $87,000,000 a year, without the extra dividends which have been a feature of General Motors policy.

Hereafter, a statement from the directors said, extra dividends will depend on the corporation's profit-making ability. It has been the policy heretofore to distribute approximately 90 percent of its earnings to stockholders.

Splitup of the stock is regarded as in line with the corporation's policy of obtaining as wide a distribution of its shares as possible at a reasonable market price. Total of common stock outstanding will be increased to 43,500,000 shares, calling for annual dividends of around $120,000,000. At present 200,000,000 shares of common stock are authorized and there are about 17,400,000 outstanding.

Based on final prices in yesterday's market, each new share will have a market value of around $33.

Fourth Stock Splitup. The stock splitup is the fourth the corporation has made in recent years. In 1920 outstanding stock of $100 par value was split 10 for one through issuance of no par shares. In 1924 the directors voted to simplify the capital structure and reduced the number of shares outstanding to 5,000,000 by creating a new $50 par stock and offering it in exchange for no par stock on the basis of one $50 share for four no par shares. In 1926 parity again was eliminated and a 50 percent stock dividend declared, while last year the company placed the stock on a $25 par basis and gave shareholders the new shares for each old share held.

ident-elect is keeping his mind free from political problems as much as possible during his period of rest.

Like most other men who have been elected to the presidency, he finds it a little difficult to submit to constant watch by Secret Service men all the time he is away from home, and to have his residence constantly under guard. Heretofore, Hoover has roamed the hills about his home unattended and has delighted in getting away from Mrs. Hoover for an hour or more of automobile driving.

But now, as his automobile sets out for a run over the President-elect's favorite driveway, another machine bearing the Secret Service men trails closely behind.

A corps of stenographers and secretaries was busy yesterday replying to the steadily mounting heap of telegrams and letters. The more important telegrams were answered in kind but there were hundreds from strangers to whom brief letters of thanks were written. Each of these, however, will carry an autograph to the well-wisher in the form of the personal signature of the President-elect.

administration activities. One of the telegrams came from Gov. John Hammill of Iowa, informing him that the people of his birthplace at West Branch were celebrating his election. To him Hoover replied:

"Will you convey my greetings to the people of West Branch and the State of Iowa? I am deeply grateful for the support my native State has given to the cause of our party and for the neighborly friendship they have shown to me."

There also was mail public at the Hoover home hundreds of telegrams from national, State, and Republican party officials and friends. Vice President Dawes telegraphed:

"Congratulations upon your great victory and best wishes for a successful administration."

William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the United States, sent this message:

"I deeply congratulate the country and you on the overwhelming result."

The following telegrams were received from Cabinet members: Secretary of the Treasury Mellon: "Very happy to congratulate you upon the splendid response of the American people. All good wishes."

Secretary of Commerce Whiting: "Needless to say your election is a matter of special gratification to the Department of Commerce and to myself."

Secretary of War Davis: "Heartiest congratulations on your overwhelming and well deserved victory."

Postmaster General New: "Mrs. New joins me in heartiest congratulations. You have been far the biggest majority by which it was ever carried."

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine: "Congratulations to yourself and Mr. Hoover. It isn't a landslide but an earthquake."

Secretary of Labor Davis: "Congratulations. There are a few folks west of the Hudson and north of Harlem."

Dwight W. Morrow, Ambassador to Mexico, telegraphed from Mexico City: "Please accept my hearty congratulations upon your fine victory."

The undivided attention of the courtroom and of the radio audience throughout Mexico for an hour during his summing up. (Broadcasting of the arguments was permitted, after the Government had stopped broadcasting of the testimony.)

In attempting to substantiate the charge that back of De Leon-Toral and Mother Concepcion was a plot furthered by the Catholic clergy of Mexico, he delivered a denunciation of that body.

"Those who wish to cover the assassination of President-elect Obregon with the name of Christ," he cried, "stand before the world as liars. They are not real Catholics and the Catholic religion repudiates them. De Leon-Toral and Mother Concepcion are heretics who calumniate and falsify their own church."

"I am a Catholic, myself, but true Catholics everywhere oppose and repudiate assassination and rebellion and the greedy acquisition of wealth as exemplified by the Catholic clergy of Mexico in the name of Catholicism. De Leon-Toral and Mother Concepcion are blasphemous betrayers of their own religion."

"Instead of being a holy woman, this Mother Concepcion is possessed of the devil. Literally, the devil who made hell is in her."

Defense Attorney Sodi, in his speech, charged that the religious policy of the country was responsible for the state of mind that led De Leon-Toral to crime.

As he spoke, there could be heard from outside the courtroom the savage shout, "Death to Sodi!" He had given to the crowd which entered the courtroom and in operation his address told the Court that despite the guards assigned to protect him, he had expected to be killed in the disturbance which took place in the courtroom Monday night when a number of his houses and sheds filled with the recently gathered crowd, or the loss of the forests which have been devastated.

A new danger would arise if the three branches of the lava stream now moving toward the sea should unite along the front, which is about one mile in extent. It is estimated that already the flow has destroyed more than 250 acres of intensively cultivated land, which means damage of 15,000,000 lire.

This does not take into account the town of Mascoli, with its houses and sheds filled with the recently gathered crowd, or the loss of the forests which have been devastated.

Prof. Ponte, director of the Volcano Institute, has made several inspection trips by airplane, one of them to inspect the crater and to ascertain if possible the nature of the lava flow. Owing to the smoke and atmospheric conditions, there was difficulty in coming to a conclusion as to the exact volume of material being erupted.

ROOSEVELT PLURALITY 25,284 FOR GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK

One District Missing; Opponent Refuses to Admit Defeat Before Check of Votes.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—With one district still unreported, Franklin D. Roosevelt today appeared to have been elected Governor of New York State by more than 25,000 votes. Attorney-General Ottinger, the Republican nominee, still refused to concede his defeat, thinking a checkup of the totals would show him a winner by a narrow margin.

Errors found in the unofficial compilation, however, have added to Roosevelt's total. A checkup of the returns in the Borough of Richmond, New York City, added 3455 to the Roosevelt plurality, in Suffolk County 731, and in Oswego County 405; in Oneida County Ottinger gained 1670. The missing district is in New York City.

The revised State figures compiled by the Associated Press give Roosevelt 2,120,151. Ottinger 2,094,867, a plurality for Roosevelt of 25,284. Roosevelt carried New York City by 465,512.

With Roosevelt apparently elected, it appeared that he had carried with him the Democratic State ticket except Albert Conway, nominee for Attorney-General.

Eighteen Months for Check Passer. Chester Mantey, 29 years old, a refrigerator salesman, who gave his address as 1823 Alfred avenue, was sentenced to 18 months in the workhouse today by Judge Butler in Court of Criminal Correction for passing on merchants nine worthless checks aggregating $222. Mantey, in pleading guilty, said an over-indulgence in liquor was responsible for his misdeeds.

across the threatened territory so communication will not be cut off. Figures received here say that 4300 persons are homeless and are being cared for by neighboring villages. Measures already are under way to provide work for the farm laborers. The Pope has sent $25,000 live ($1212.50) for relief of the sufferers, and the Fascist authorities have added 20,000 lire as a first instalment of the relief fund.

The village of Nunziata is thought to be out of the danger zone, as it is protected by a high ridge along the lava flow. Although a few houses in the outlying district have been swept away by the stream.

A new danger would arise if the three branches of the lava stream now moving toward the sea should unite along the front, which is about one mile in extent. It is estimated that already the flow has destroyed more than 250 acres of intensively cultivated land, which means damage of 15,000,000 lire.

This does not take into account the town of Mascoli, with its houses and sheds filled with the recently gathered crowd, or the loss of the forests which have been devastated.

Prof. Ponte, director of the Volcano Institute, has made several inspection trips by airplane, one of them to inspect the crater and to ascertain if possible the nature of the lava flow. Owing to the smoke and atmospheric conditions, there was difficulty in coming to a conclusion as to the exact volume of material being erupted.

Harry M. Wurzbach, the only Republican Texas sends to Congress, apparently has won a very narrow victory in the Fourteenth District.

HOOVER PLURALITY 6,118,157 ON RETURNS TO DATE

His Vote, Still Incomplete Exceeds That of Harding by 4,551,328 and of Coolidge by 4,978,521.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—A total popular vote of 35,288,899 was cast for President of the United States on the two major party tickets in Tuesday's election, according to the figures compiled by the Associated Press up to 1 p. m. today.

Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee, received 20,703,528 votes, while Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee, received 14,585,371, making Hoover's plurality 6,118,157. Scattered throughout the country, 5422 precincts are missing.

The total vote in the election will mount, when the votes cast for minor parties are tabulated, close to the 35,500,000 indicated in the estimate made by the Associated Press 10 days before election.

Hoover's total vote exceeded that of Warren G. Harding in 1920 by 4,551,328 and that of President Coolidge in 1924 by 4,978,521. Smith's total vote exceeded that of James M. Cox in 1920 by 5,438,018 and that of John W. Davis in 1924 by 6,198,868.

The total popular vote thus far compiled is 6,197,482 more than cast in the 1924 election.

G. O. P. GAINS IN BOTH HOUSES OF CONGRESS

House: Republicans, 211; Democrats, 193; Farmer-Labor, 5; Socialist, 1; vacant, 8.

HOOVER ENTITLED TO FULL CHANCE, GOV. SMITH SAYS

"He Should Have Aid of Every Citizen in Opportunity to Make Good as Head of Government."

"CAMPAIGN WAS GREAT EXPERIENCE"

Tears Come to His Eyes When Welcomed by Crowd on His Return to the State Capital.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Gov. Smith sent word this afternoon to the millions who voted for him for President that Herbert Hoover, the President-elect, is entitled to a full chance to make good as the head of the American Government.

Leaving his chair in the Executive Chamber, Smith made the following statement when asked what he thought was

"THAT'S MY GIRL," AND FIGHT IS ON;
3 HURT; 16 HELD

The band then struck up "The Spangled Banner," and Governor B. held high the brown derby in gesture of farewell.

The Governor-elect waxes quietly enthusiastic as he discusses his children, yet deprecates their exploits as unimportant to the visitor even while he relates them. John, he says, is "pretty efficient."

HELD FOR SON'S DEATH

By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.
MICHAEL MEEKER.

MEEKER DENIES

WIFE'S CHARGE HE KILLED HIS SON

Brought Back From New York Farm, He Declares She Wants to Get His Property.

Michael L. Meeker, in jail at Clayton, awaiting trial for the murder of his 14-year-old son, Michael Jr., to collect $4500 life insurance, today declared his wife's charges against him were made to obtain possession of his property, including a $6000 farm at Dryden, N. Y., where he was arrested last week.

To reporters, Meeker vigorously denied the first-degree murder charge against him and repeated the story he told after his son was shot, July 4, 1927, that the boy had been wounded by highwaymen who stopped Meeker's automobile on Clayton road near Price road.

Meeker was brought from Ithaca, N. Y., by Deputy Sheriff Harvey Litzinger, arriving yesterday. He will have a preliminary hearing next Thursday before Justice of the Peace Werremeyer on the murder charge, which is based almost entirely on the affidavits of his second wife, Mrs. Frances Meeker.

His Story of Leaving City.
Meeker declared he left St. Louis after the boy's death because of a persistent run of bad luck. His first wife had died of heart disease, another son had died of pneumonia poisoning or a similar illness, and Michael Jr. had been killed. With his remaining children and the present Mrs. Meeker, then his housekeeper, he moved to New York to realize a dream of owning a farm there and buying his place with the proceeds of the insurance on the boy's life. He married his housekeeper in September.

While living in St. Louis, at 4309 Hunt avenue, Meeker said he worked nights as a mechanic for the Terminal Railroad Association and increased his income by odd jobs during the day. He insured his children, he said, to please a friend who was in the business and was not very successful. Except for the insurance on Michael Jr., the policies were not large, from $150 to $300 on each child and $2000 on Mrs. Meeker.

"Told Me I Killed My Boy."
Meeker declared he had no idea what the charge against him was when he was arrested.

"I was digging potatoes on my farm when a Deputy Sheriff came up," he related. "He said he had come to get me and I asked him, 'What for?' He said, 'For a bad check in Clayton, Mo.' He took me to Ithaca and put me in jail where two days later I asked a trustee and he told me I was charged with murder. Later they told me I was charged with killing my boy."

Neither Mrs. Meeker nor Meeker's three children came to St. Louis with him yesterday, although it is expected Mrs. Meeker, at least, will be brought here for the trial. Whether she will be able to testify against him is questioned because of a law which forbids a wife to testify against her husband.

RECOUNT OF MASSACHUSETTS
VOTE SOUGHT BY PETITION

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Petitions for a recount of the vote cast in the presidential contests in this State Tuesday are being circulated throughout Massachusetts. The action was taken after a conference between members of the Republican State Committee and the Hoover Volunteer Committee.

Complete returns of the State gave Gov. Smith a margin of 21,702 votes over Herbert Hoover. It was said that, as Brigadier-General Charles H. Cole (Dem.), who opposed Frank C. Allen, Lieutenant-Governor, in the gubernatorial contest had asked for a recount, it would not be difficult to conduct the two recounts simultaneously.

The petitions must be signed by at least 2000 citizens, 200 of whom must be certified in each district. The papers must be filed at the State House by 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The complete count of Massachusetts for President was: Hoover 771,528, Smith 792,520.

CHURCHILL OFFERS BRITISH PLAN TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Tax Relief, Absorption of Miners, Tariff Protection, Export Credit Extension Among Measures.

BEFORE COMMONS

Chancellor Tells Laborite Resumption of Trade With Russia Would Not Help Situation.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 9. — Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, outlined six measures by which the Government would endeavor to reduce unemployment in Britain in replying in the House of Commons last evening to a Labor party resolution censuring the Government on this question.

One of the proposals was a scheme of empire settlement under which 20,000 miners a year would get agricultural training for settlement in the dominions. The others provide means of encouraging industry.

The labor censure was in the form of an amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne and was put forward by J. R. Clynes (Laborite) in the House of Commons last evening. The amendment regretted that the country was "burdened with unemployment in the most acute form" and declared appalling conditions prevailed in many mine areas.

Clynes complained that the program for the session contained nothing to lessen the despair of hundreds of thousands of people now out of work. He estimated that at least $6,000,000 weekly was received from the Government by those persons who were forced to be idle, to keep them alive.

He suggested this dole be increased and turned into a wage for actual work and he urged upon the Government as one solution, to reconsider opening trade relations with Russia.

Churchill in reply declared resumption of trade relations with Russia would not make the slightest difference to the problem of unemployment. The industrial history of the last four years could be summed up in one word, "Coal," he said.

Outlines Proposals.
Despite the large number of unemployed miners, the coal industry, without employment of another man, could produce 20,000,000 tons of coal more than Britain could sell anywhere, the Chancellor asserted.

He then outlined the Government's proposals for relieving the unemployment situation. They were:

1. Rating relief, or removal of the local taxes on agricultural, industrial and transportation properties.

2. Empire settlement of men from the industrial districts, who would receive agricultural training under the Government.

3. "Safeguarding" of industries by tariff protection in special cases.

4. Extension of the scheme of export credits.

5. Operation of the electricity scheme.

6. Special measures for absorption of the surplus miners into other industries.

IN BASEMENT OF HER HOME

Body of Mrs. Jennie Lantz of Detroit Found Near Furnace; Indications of Struggle.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 9.—The body of Mrs. Jennie Lantz, 51-year old widow of a wealthy Detroit real estate dealer, was found this morning near the furnace in the basement of her home. Her head had been crushed and indications were she had been in a struggle.

The body was found by Mrs. Presilla Selma, a neighbor, who said she entered the Lantz home to investigate because she had not seen Mrs. Lantz since yesterday afternoon. Near the body was one of Mrs. Lantz' slippers.

Police said they believed Mrs. Lantz was slain yesterday afternoon. One theory advanced was that she was slain by a robber, although a number of her valuable diamonds were found in the house.

Mrs. Lantz had resided alone in her home since the death of her husband, James Lantz, 18 months ago.

LIQUOR SEIZED IN TWO RAIDS
Beer Found by Police in Ice Cream Box of Grocery.

Samuel Gianola, 32 years old, proprietor of a grocery at 718 North Eleventh street, was arrested last night after police found 10 quarts of beer in the ice cream box, and several gallons of whiskey under a showcase. The raid was conducted without a search warrant.

Federal prohibition agents, accompanied by several patrolmen, raided the two-story brick building at 2402 North Market street last night and seized 43 cases of beer on the second floor. No arrests were made. Entry was gained through a search warrant.

CASE AGAINST ATHEIST LEADER NOLLE PROSSED IN ARKANSAS

Attorneys for Charles Smith Say Rest of Fine Was Paid Without His Consent.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 9.—
The case against Charles Smith.

New York atheist who three weeks ago started a fight for nullification of the Arkansas laws against atheists, was nolle prossed, after the judgment had been satisfied.

The case was brought before Judge Abner McGehee of the Circuit Court on an appeal from the Little Rock Municipal Court, where

Smith was fined $25 and costs Oct.
17 on a charge of conduct likely to incite a riot. The atheist refused to pay the fine, but after he had served 17 days of the time some person whom the police have not identified, paid the remainder of the fine, and Smith was released.

Attorneys for Smith claimed that, since the fine was paid without their client's consent, the judgment was not legally satisfied, and took an appeal to the Circuit Court.

When the case was called this morning, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Kenneth Coulter, representing the city, nolle prossed it, thereby temporarily, at least, defeating Smith's plan to carry his fight through the state courts and to the United States Supreme Court.

S. C. PETERSEN WILL CONTEST LILL'S ELECTION

Grand Jury Also to Investigate Evidence of Fraud in Vote for Sheriff in the County.

S. C. Petersen of Clayton, Democratic nominee for Sheriff of St.
Louis County, who was defeated on unofficial returns by Al Lill of Maplewood in Tuesday's election, announced today his intention to file a contest with the league for Simultaneously, the Post-Dispatch learned that evidence of alleged frauds in the election, in connection with the vote for Sheriff, was to be presented to the grand jury today.

Petersen was supported by the Taxpayers' League, a reform organization, which opposed Lill.
There was an independent candidate, Marshall B. Peterson, former Mayor of Webster Groves, who had been endorsed by the league for the Republican nomination in the primary. League leaders think his candidacy kept Petersen from winning Tuesday.

Unofficial returns, with one predict missing, gave Lill 36,413 votes, S. C. Petersen 32,649 and Marshall Peterson 6287, a lead of 2764 for Lill. The missing predict, Richmond Heights No. 4, probably had a vote of about 600.
In the primary it gave overwhelming pluralities to league candidates, and the league expects Lill's lead to be cut when this precinct's report is tabulated in the official count.

Friends of S. C. Petersen pointed out today that the total vote cast for Sheriff, as shown in the incomplete unofficial returns, considerably exceeded that of any other office, even where the successful candidates led the State and local tickets. These persons think this may be an indication of stuffing the ballot box or falsifying the count in favor of a candidate for Sheriff, and this will be called to the attention of the grand jury.

The total vote on the three candidates for Sheriff was 76,349.
This exceeded the total for other offices as follows: Prosecuting Attorney, by 1780 votes; Coroner, 1578; Circuit Judges, 1495; Public Administrator, 1530; Assessor, 1035 Treasurer, 2463 Surveyor, 1166 Secretary of State, 1622;
President, 2181; Governor, 489.

The contests for Prosecuting Attorney and Coroner were as vigorous as that for Sheriff, and the county had spirited contests for President, Governor and Secretary of State. The Republicans elected Circuit Judges led the county ticket, each getting about 11,000 votes more than Lill. Secretary of State Becker, who led the State and national ticket, had about 8000 votes more than Lill.

As was told yesterday, Dr. John O'Connell, Coroner-elect, the only Democrat elected in the county, had a lead of 815 votes over

Holland H. Bopp, Republican nominee, in the unofficial returns.
Leaders of the Taxpayers' League, which supported Dr. O'Connell, think the missing Richmond Heights precinct will increase Dr.
O'Connell's lead. Bopp telephoned Dr. O'Connell yesterday to congratulate him, and a contest for that office is not anticipated.

The grand jury a short time ago indicted 15 men and women, the election officers in three precincts in the August primary, for alleged vote frauds.

ROAD BONDS LEAD BY 132,000 ON RETURNS THUS FAR

Friends of Police Pension Hopeful Country Vote May Overcome 40,000 Adverse Majority

LEGISLATORS' PAY RISE LAGS BEHIND

Incomplete Count Gives 108,000 Against It—How Some of the Counties Stand.

Returns from outlying Missouri counties on the three propositions on the constitutional ballot in Tuesday's election are coming in slowly, but proponents of the $75,000,000 State road bond issue are confident it will win by a big majority, supporters of the St. Louis police pension plan have a faint hope that the country vote may overcome the majority now against it, and leaders in the movement to raise legislators' pay expect defeat.

With 68 per cent of the 4293 precincts reported, including virtually all those from the cities and the 13 counties with the next largest towns, also with about half of the St. Louis County vote, the road bond measure had a lead this afternoon of 132,000 votes, the returns from 129 out-State precincts during the morning having reduced the lead by 8000. However, the complete count from St. Louis County and Springfield is expected to add 20,000 to the majority, and supporters of the measure look now for a minimal majority in favor of the issue of 150,000 to 175,000.

Pension and Pay Bills Lag.
 The majority against the police pension this afternoon was 40,000 behind, an increase of 3000 since morning, while the legislators' pay increase was 108,000 behind, or 15,000 worst off than it was this morning.

The latest compilation by the Associated Press shows the vote:

Road bonds—2923 precincts gave yes 431,620 and no 359,790.

Police pension—2923 precincts gave yes 386,335 and no 426,811.

Legislators' pay—2893 precincts gave yes 337,355 and no 445,232.

Of 24 counties in which all precincts have reported, 21 have voted for the road bonds besides St. Louis and 13 against. Those opposing the issue are: Bollinger, Buchanan, Cedar, Charleston, Clinton, Hickory, Lawrence, Macon, Mercer, Morgan, Ray, St. Charles and St. Clair. The St. Charles County vote was yes, 3839 and no 4562. Other communities adjoining St. Louis County favored the bonds, as follows: Jefferson County, yes 5264, no 31,121; Franklin County, yes 6456, no 3772; Linn County in the northern section of the State, where the greatest opposition to the bonds developed, did not follow the example of its neighbors, but gave a majority of 915 in favor of the bonds. It is the home of R. S. Brownlee, a member of the State Highway Commission, and his brother, State Senator Brownlee, Brookfield, their home town, gave a majority of 1115. Residents there give the credit for the victory to the Brownlee, just as credit for the defeat in the adjoining Macon County is given to Theodore Gary of Macon, chief opponent of the bonds in Missouri.

Results on the three propositions in the cities and more urban counties afford an interesting study. Included are St. Louis, Kansas City and the rest of Jackson County, half of St. Louis County, Buchanan County (St. Joseph), one precinct of Greene County (Springfield), and the nearly complete votes of the following counties having the larger towns: Jasper, Pettis, Cole, Boone, Marion, Macon, Audrain, Randolph, Butler and Cape Girardeau.

In the foregoing list, 1712 of 1892 precincts have reported. They gave, in the aggregate, 358,397 votes for the road bond issue and 324,805 against; 274,443 for the St. Louis police pension and 309,270 against; and 259,717 for the legislators' pay increase and 301,483 against.

On the road bonds in this category, the total vote was 583,202, with a favorable majority of 132,597, or about all of the aggregate majority so far reported throughout the State. In other words, the larger communities favored the issue and the rural districts opposed it. The bonds are supported entirely by the State motor license fees and gasoline tax, by far the greater part of which is paid by residents of the cities. The only communities in the foregoing list which gave majorities against the bonds are: Buchanan County, 1378; Pettis County (Sedalia), 1878; Macon County, 3784; total, 7035.

St. Louis city and Pettis, Macon and Butler counties were the only ones giving majorities against the police pension. The only counties whose reported precincts favored the legislators' pay increase were St. Louis County, Cole, Boone and Greene.

WILMAS BANK ACCOUNTObtains Record in Inquiry Into Protection of Crime in County.

The St. Louis County grand jury, which is investigating reports of official protection of organized crime, today obtained the bank account of Sheriff Albert A. Wilmas from the St. Louis County Bank on a subpoena duces tecum issued by Circuit Judge Mulloy.

The demand for an examination of the bank account followed the appearance for the fifth time before the grand jury of Clarence Lerita, who was a deputy and stenographer in the Sheriff's office until last January.

Lerita has declined to discuss with reporters his connection with the Sheriff's office or anything he observed as an inside clerk.

The grand jury proceeding the one now sitting began an inquiry into the conduct of the Sheriff's office following disclosures by the Post-Dispatch that Sheriff Wilmas was compelled by Federal income tax examiners to pay a tax and civil penalty amounting to $900 on a secret income of $30,000, while Sheriff, from sources he refused to make public.

The income tax examiners discovered this secret income in the personal account of Sheriff Wilmas at the St. Louis County Bank. He had made no Federal or State income tax return on it, and when the Federal examiners confronted him with it and inquired concerning its source, Sheriff Wilmas remarked that it was "pocket money." This explanation did not excuse his failure to make a return, which was prepared for him by the Federal examiners and which he signed without protest, paying the tax and penalty.

State Auditor Thompson, administrative officer of the State Income Tax Department, has said his office would investigate the failure of Sheriff Wilmas to make a State return on his secret income whenever the State examiners got around to St. Louis County to make their regular check of State funds.

ADMITS HE AIDED JAIL BREAK

Brother of Paul Jaworski Sentenced for Part in Escape of Two.

By the Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 9.—Sam Jaworski today pleaded guilty to charges of aiding his brother, Paul Jaworski, slayer of at least two persons, and Jack Vashinder, another convicted player, in their escape from the Allegheny County jail here in August, 1927. Jaworski pleaded not guilty when he went on trial Wednesday. He changed his plea when court convened this morning and was immediately sentenced to serve from eight to 25 years in the Western penitentiary.

Sam was alleged to have visited Paul Jaworski at the jail Aug. 18 and to have handed the prisoner two revolvers. Vashinder was given one of them and the prisoners, aided by the visitor, shot their way to freedom. Two guards were wounded in the jail break. Paul Jaworski has been returned to the jail and is under sentence of death for killing a payroll guard. He was awaiting action on a motion for a new trial in the killing of the guard when he escaped. Before he was returned to Allegheny County, however, he added another killing to his record, shooting down a Cleveland policeman when he was captured in that city. Vashinder still is at large.

STRANGLER PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Youth Who Killed Sweetheart Plans Insanity Defense.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Vincent T. Rice, 17-year-old Staten Island youth who confessed strangling to death his high school sweetheart, Alice Jost, entered a plea of guilty of murder today pending examination by alienists.

Supreme Court Justice Johnston allowed the defense 10 days for the examination. If the defense decides there is ground for a plea of insanity, it will change the plea to guilty and ask the appointment of a Lunacy Commission to hear evidence and make recommendations to the Court, defense counsel indicated. Handcuffed to Sheriff William S. Hart, of Staten Island, the tall youth watched the brief court proceedings with unconcern.

GIANTS OF OLD MARCH IN PAGEANT IN LONDON

Lord Mayor's Annual Show Features Educational Progress Through Ages.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Educational progress throughout the ages was the feature of today's brilliant pageant in the annual Lord Mayor's show given by Sir Kynaston Studd, London's new chief executive. The fine weather brought out enormous crowds.

Gog and Magog, giant effigies closely connected with legends of the ancient city of London, made their first appearance for more than 250 years in the pageant. The effigies were modeled by students of the Polytechnic Institute, London's great popular educational center, of which Sir Kynaston is president. Each figure was 15 feet high, and 10 Polytechnic students acted as legs for each.

According to legend, Gog and Magog were the survivors of a race of giants descended from the 33 wicked daughters of Diocletian. They are supposed to have been brought to London and compelled to officiate as porters at the gate of the royal palace. One ancient chronicle also sets forth that the originals of Gog and Magog were giants who tyrannized the western horn of England until slain by foreign invaders.

A score of bands, symbolical floats, tableaux by the ancient literary companies, marching "territorial," or military guardsmen, and troops of gaily garbed men representing all phases of London life furnished color in the pageant, but in view of the association of Sir Kynaston with the polytechnic institution, it was appropriate that the character of his procession dealt mainly with education and with social service.

The Salvation Army, which does important relief and religious work in England, had a place in the parade with a float illustrating the emigration work of the army in relation to Great Britain's unemployment problem. The float was accompanied by two Salvation Army bands and 30 lads and lassies of Gen. Booth's organization.

The Industrial Welfare Society had two cars illustrating the difference between industrial conditions today and a century ago. A flower-covered car carried great displays of fruit from all parts of the British Empire.

Eighty boys and girls dressed in the costumes of students through the ages, showed the march of scholastic education.

G. O. P. WINS PLACE AS PARTY IN FLORIDA FOR FIRST TIME

Polls More Than 30 Per Cent of Vote Necessary to Recognition at the Next Primary.
By the Associated Press.
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 9.—Florida not only left the "Solid South" by giving its six electoral votes to Herbert Hoover, but also became a two-party State under the State law as a result of Tuesday's general election.

William J. Howey, Republican candidate for Governor, was defeated by Doyle E. Carlton, Democratic nominee, but he succeeded in polling sufficient votes to bring his party into legal recognition in this State and there will be a Republican primary two years hence for the first time in history.

The Florida primary law recognizes any political party that polls 30 per cent of the total vote cast for Governor in a general election. On the basis of returns from 1000 of the State's 1268 precincts Howey received $5,148 votes to Carlton's 124,717, more than the legal requirement.

Heretofore, the Republican party in Florida, as in many other Southern states, has been compelled to select its candidates for State office through convention. Now a primary becomes mandatory. Figures from 1061 precincts gave a Hoover plurality of 39,256 votes over Smith.

ROYAL TITLE TO GOLD UPHELD
Privy Council Rules on Metals on Lands of Hudson's Bay Co.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 9.—Gold and silver on Hudson's Bay Co. lands is owned by the crown in the right of the Dominion Government under a ruling of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council today. The council dismissed with costs an appeal of the company from the Canadian Supreme Court's decision in favor of the Dominion.

The Hudson's Bay Co. received a charter in the days of King Charles II, which gave it absolute ownership of a vast territory around Hudson's Bay. A few years after Canada became a Dominion, the company surrendered this Northern empire in return for Western settlement lands. The company then claimed that, though it surrendered ownership of the territory, it retained ownership of precious metals in the lands occupied by the company at its trading posts and adjoining the trading posts.

The Supreme Court unanimously rejected this claim and was confirmed by the Privy Council today.

Posse Hunts Police Chief's Slayer.
LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 9.—A Sheriff's posse in Floyd County, east of here is hunting for Millard Salisbury, 45 years old, a barber, who fled to the mountains after the fatal shooting of Chief of Police F. E. Stanley, 42, of Weeksbury. Citizens of Weeksbury have offered a $500 reward for his capture. The shooting followed a quarrel over a pistol taken by the officer from Salisbury's son, election day.

BOYD-RICHARDSON—OLIVE AND SIXTH

GAYER PAROLES DRIVER ARRESTED 24 TIMES

Irving Jolly, Service Car Man, Had Appealed From 60-Day Workhouse Term.

Irving Jolly, 28-year-old service car driver, who has a record of 24 arrests and 17 convictions on traffic law violations, seven of them for speeding and careless driving, was paroled by Judge Gayer in Court of Criminal Correction yesterday to pay a $50 fine after an appeal from a 60-day workhouse sentence and $100 fine assessed by Provisional Police Judge Blocher as a penalty for his eighth arrest as a careless driver.
Jolly's latest offense was Oct. 7, when he was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Luntzer for speeding on Olive street between Twenty-third and Eighteenth streets.
His record of traffic law violations began Dec. 3, 1920, when he was arrested for speeding on a motorcycle. He was later fined $15 as a first offender.

Only a month ago, Jolly was before Judge Gayer on an appeal from a 30-day workhouse sentence imposed by Judge Beck for a traffic law violation but the case was dismissed because the prosecuting policeman failed to appear.
"This man had no conviction in a serious case against him for several years," said Judge Gayer explaining his action. "I dropped the workhouse sentence and reduced the fine because my policy is against sentencing speeders to the workhouse."

Henry Haag, 20 North Spring avenue, was the second driver to be sentenced under Judge Gayer's ruling that all drivers arrested after Sept. 10 and found guilty in his court of driving while intoxicated will have to go to the workhouse.
The Court sustained the penalty of 30 days and $100 imposed by Judge Blocher Oct. 20.

In 11 speeding cases other than Jolly's, where Judge Gayer found convictions yesterday, six drivers were let off on payment of costs, about $5, three were fined and the fines stayed on good behavior, and two were dismissed when arresting officers failed to appear.

114 INDICTED IN LIQUOR CONSPIRACY IN ILLINOIS

Officials of McHenry County and Towns of McHenry and Woodstock Accused.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Officials of McHenry County and the towns of McHenry and Woodstock in that county were named in a blanket indictment returned yesterday by the McHenry County grand jury against 114 residents of the county on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Included in the list was one State Legislator, a former State's Attorney, now a fugitive, a former Sheriff, the Mayor of McHenry, the McHenry Chief of Police, an Alderman of Woodstock and two Deputy Sheriffs.

The grand jury under the direction of a special State's Attorney, had spent several weeks investigating charges that county officials were conspiring with roadhouse and resort owners to promote violations of the liquor laws and gambling.

Previously the jury had voted about 50 indictments against individuals and in yesterday's blanket indictment appeared the names of many roadhouse owners, including George Druggan, brother of Terry

Druggan, Chicago beer baron, and Con Shea, former Chicago labor leader.

The charges of conspiracy date back to shortly after Alfred H. Pouse, now a fugitive, assumed the office of State's Attorney. Pouse, named in yesterday's indictment, fled when he feared detection of the alleged collusion between the authorities and the roadhouse proprietors and now is reported in Central America.

A citizens' committee, co-operating with Federal agents, started an investigation of the connection between the roadhouses, favorite spots for hundreds of Chicagoans, and McHenry officials. Among others named in yesterday's indictment were Roy Stewart, State Representative; Mayor Peter W. Frett of McHenry; Martin J. Wandrack and Sylvester Muldoon, Deputy Sheriffs; Lester

Edinger, former Sheriff; John Walsh, McHenry Chief of Police, and Gus Peters, Woodstock Alderman.

BANISHES SELF FROM U. S. BECAUSE OF SMITH DEFEAT
Joseph M. Muldoon of New York Goes to Canada; Will Settle in France.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 9.—Joseph M. Muldoon of New York City has begun a self-imposed exile from his native land that will last until he dies. When Herbert Hoover was elected President Tuesday, Muldoon boarded a train for Canada and he will never return to the country of his birth, he said.

He came to Toronto Wednesday. He will proceed to Vancouver. Muldoon said renunciation of his native land is not the result of a freak election bet, but is due simply to disgust with his fellow countrymen.

"I cannot understand how so-called intelligent people could elect Hoover when a man of Smith's caliber was in the running," he said. "The people of the United States did not vote for Hoover nor did they vote against Smith. They went to the polls to defeat the Pope of Rome. The 1928 campaign will brand Americans as bigots for the next century."

Muldoon says he intends to travel for the next six months, after which he will settle in the south of France. He is a bachelor.

HOOVER'S NATIVE TOWN CELEBRATES VICTORY

Citizens of West Branch, Ia., Who Knew Him as a Boy, Lead Noisy Demonstration.

By the Associated Press.

WEST BRANCH, Ia., Nov. 9.—Herbert Hoover's home folks in this quiet Quaker village where the President-elect was born, rejoiced in his election to the presidency yesterday with the noisiest celebration the village has ever known.

The men and women who knew him as a boy, the doctor who attended him as a baby, the women who taught him in school, and the townspeople generally, participated. From all about the county came these folks who helped mold the character of the boy who was to become President. They released their feelings in a noisy parade that wound up in the front yard of the old Hoover homestead and then listened while speakers praised the President-elect.

There are only 800 persons who call West Branch their home. Three times that number joined in yesterday's celebration.

It was early morning when explosions of bombs started the citizens on the noisiest and merriest celebration this town has known.

The children of the folks with whom Hoover played and studied at the West Branch School were the first to hear the praises of the President-elect. To them Gov. John Hammill and Lieutenant-Governor McFarlane reviewed the early life of Hoover and compared the opportunities which await them to that of the man who has won the highest office of the land.

Dr. L. J. Leech, the country doctor who was a close friend of Hoover's family, had charge of the ceremony at the home.

The Rev. G. W. Guy, a first cousin of the President-elect and pastor of the Friends' Church here where Hoover's mother preached more than 50 years ago, offered prayer. Elizabeth Sumner of Iowa City, Hoover's first school teacher, and Mrs. Mollie Brown Carran, who taught him in his fourth grade studies, spoke briefly.

Gov. Hammill, to whom the President-elect sent a telegram of appreciation for the support Iowa gave to his candidacy, and Representative Cole of the Fifth Iowa District, praised Hoover in addresses.

6-YEAR-OLD NEGRO BOY DIES OF AUTO INJURIES

Christopher Rayford 164th Fatality This Year—Benjamin Ward, 8, Hurt.

Christopher Rayford, 6-year-old Negro, 2761 Cook avenue, died at City Hospital No. 2 yesterday afternoon of a fractured skull suffered earlier in the day when he was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Burton, a Negro, 2924 Fairfax avenue, at Bell and Leonard avenues.

The boy's death brought the number of motor vehicle fatalities in St. Louis since Jan. 1 to 164, as compared with 115 at this date last year.

Benjamin Ward, 8, 5123 Rosa, suffered internal injuries when he was run over by the rear wheel of a truck driven by Arthur Conklin, 1487 South Vandeventer avenue, at Kingshighway and Milentz avenue. Witnesses said the boy ran into the side of the truck. He was on his way home from school at the time.

NEW ZEALAND CUTS RED TAPE FOR BYRD

Officials Offer Aid in Making Antarctic Expedition a Success.

By RUSSELL OWEN.
(Copyright, 1928, by St. Louis Post-Dispatch and New York Times. World Rights Reserved.)
This story is published exclusively in St. Louis in the Post-Dispatch. All news articles from members of the Byrd party, or from special correspondents assigned to it, will appear only in the Post-Dispatch in this city.

WELLINGTON, N. Z., Nov. 8.—Commander Richard E. Byrd spent yesterday visiting New Zealand officials, who have extended many courtesies to him. Customs rules were waived, transportation was offered and red tape was cut for Commander Byrd who has caught the imagination of these people of a country still not far removed from its pioneer days.

First he called on Premier Joseph G. Coates, who had just returned from a strenuous election tour. Coates extended the official welcome of New Zealand. Congratulated the commander on the thoroughness of his preparations and offered any possible assistance.

Later Commander Byrd called at the home of Sir Maui Pomar, the minister of the Interior, a full-blooded Maori, a brilliant man and a close student of the history and origin of his people.

He interested Commander Byrd greatly in telling of the similarity between the Maori language and Sanskrit and the story of Hui-Te-Rangiora, the famous Polynesian explorer, who journeyed from Rongitonga southward till he met drift ice which he called the "Sea of Arrowfoot," having no name for snow.

The Minister presented Commander Byrd with a robe made of heavy New Zealand wool, similar to the robe presented to the Prince of Wales.

The home of Sir Maui is on a hill overlooking the beautiful Hutt Valley, and with his rare collection of Maori antiquities, it made a delightful place to visit.

Commander Byrd spent two hours conferring with Dr. Edward Kidson, the Government meteorologist, an expert on Antarctic weather, who offered for the commander's inspection his studies of Antarctic weather based on the findings of previous expeditions.

Dr. Kidson was optimistic regarding flying conditions, if care is exercised to choose good weather, but warned regarding the vagaries of storms, the laws of which are little known.

Another volunteer for the expedition has arrived in New Zealand, Dr. Václav Voutech, a young Czechoslovak geologist, who used his last funds to pay his passage here after Commander Byrd had written to him that he was unable to find a place for him in the expedition. Dr. Voutech does not speak English, which is also a handicap.

JAPAN SPENDING $12,000,000 TO CROWN EMPEROR

Imperial Family Will Be One-Third of Cost of Enthronement of Hirohito at Kyoto

CEREMONY WILL END TOMORROW

New Ruler Expected Grant Amnesty to 30,000 Convicts and $7,500,000 to Charity

By the Associated Press.

KYOTO, Japan, Nov. 9.—Enthronement of the Emperor Japan, the oldest and most solemn State ceremony surviving from the modern great powers, also the most costly. It also is the occasion of a great distribution of largesse, honors, titles and unequalled in any other State. According to preliminary estimates it will cost the Japanese Government and the Imperial family together approximately 24,000,000 yen (about $12,000,000) to celebrate the accession of Hirohito, 124th Emperor. The principal ceremony will be held tomorrow. Of this total about $8,000,000 ready has been appropriated to the Imperial diet. The remaining costs will come directly from the fortune of the Imperial family. The high costs of the enthronement are due to the long period covered by the series of ceremonies; by the outlays necessary to produce in great detail and the finest possible manner a pageant as nearly as possible that of the ancient court of Kyoto by the tremendous mobilization of police and other guardians of peace to insure absolute safety to the person of the Emperor and the entire tranquility throughout the realm during this auspicious rite; by the construction of many buildings that will never be used again.

Despite its expensiveness, Japanese enthronement presents little of the pageantry and display ordinarily associated with Oriental display. The palace at Kyoto where most of the ceremonies are held is no splendid glistening pile. It is rather a fully arranged and co-ordinated group of smaller, simply built, furnished residences, pavilions and shrines. The keynote is simplicity and severity of line and somberness in color. But to achieve this requires money, especially modern Japan, where material and labor cost more than the average in other advanced countries.

Last of Oriental Pageants. The enthronement is the greatest Oriental pageant that lives on such a scale, since Manchus were toppled from dragon throne of China and of peoples of the East came under the rule of alien races. In the event there remains nothing to compare with it in its wealth of symbolism, the amount of preparation involved and the wealth required to carry it through. To the foreign observer it appears that the nation accepts expense, for the occasion which comes once in a lifetime, with any resentment worthy of note. This is due in part to the general diffusion of wealth and benevolence that accompany the occasion, though chiefly of course, to the unquestioning loyalty and veneration which the Imperial house claims. For merchants, innkeepers, entertainers, tens of thousands of workers, for all the classes profit from the movement and semicircle of the Imperial family. There also is the wide distribution of Imperial gifts and honors. The Emperor this year was expected to make donations to various forms of philanthropy totaling 15,000,000 yen. This would include hospitals, schools, social service organizations and direct relief to the poor. Besides this there is the distribution of approximately 475,000 "old age" cups to subjects of the Empire of 80 years or over. An effort is made to see that no subject who has deserved well of his sovereign is forgotten at this time.

$7,000 to Get Amnesty. For the dignitaries of the throne will be new decorations higher court ranks, promotion to the grades of the nobles. Decorations will not be confined to Japanese. Foreign diplomats and residents in Japan also will be included in the honors lists, as will a few non-Japanese living abroad. No advance estimate of the extent of such honors is available, as they are a closely guarded secret until announced by the Emperor. Imperial benevolence is not confined to those who have deserved well of their ruler. There will be an amnesty involving about 67,000 persons now undergoing punishment or suffering civil disabilities.

STATE TO SPEED WORK OF ROADS UNDER NEW $75,000,000 BOND ISSUE

Chief Engineer Declares Plans Will Be Made at Once With First Contracts Let by Sept. 1.

Immediate steps will be taken by the State Highway Department to start plans for the construction of roads under the $75,000,000 State road bond issue voted last Tuesday, Chief Engineer Cutler told the Post-Dispatch today. While it will be necessary to await the formality of passage of a law by the Legislature before the bonds can be sold and contracts awarded, surveys and detailed layouts can be made in the meanwhile.

This work could not be undertaken in advance of the election, as the expense had to be charged to the bond fund. It is mandatory for the Legislature, which will convene in January, to pass the law, under the constitutional amendment which the people approved. The State Highway Commission and its executives will proceed at once to frame the law, as a guide to the Legislature, which will convene in January, to pass the law, under the constitutional amendment which the people approved.

Cutler discussed the plans over long distance telephone from Louisiana, Mo., where he was conferring with Lloyd C. Stark, chairman of the Citizens' Road Bond Committee, which campaigned for the issue, aided by the commission, the Automobile Club of Missouri and others. Cutler and Stark expressed pleasure at the success achieved in the election.

Contracts by Sept. 17.

In 1920, Missouri voters authorized a $60,000,000 bond issue for roads, with which the 7640-mile designated State highway system has been brought past the halfway mark toward completion. The new issue puts this among the leading states which have financed highway systems with large bond issues in recent years. The bond sinking fund, the department upkeep, maintenance of the roads and new construction all are financed from the State motor license fees and the State gasoline tax of two cents a gallon, and the amendment provides that neither of these may be increased for 10 years, except by the widening and new roads to provide better entrances to St. Louis and Kansas City, and the spur to State parks. Just what roads and mileage in each of these categories will be undertaken at first remains to be determined.

As far as may be possible, Cutler went on, the endeavor will be to have actual construction work under way and finished to some extent next autumn, before winter interferes. Surveys for the remainder of the present year's system will be completed by the end of this year, and then the surveying parties will be assigned immediately to the new roads. The highway department wants the counties to furnish necessary rights of way, as much as possible, leaving the State funds free for construction use.

for past offenses. Thirty-two thousand men and women now in prison are expected to have their sentences lightened in the general amnesty. There will be a special amnesty applying to 15,000 undergoing punishment for violation of the election laws, an offense that became widespread only with the coming of universal manhood suffrage in this year's election. Citizenship rights will be restored to 20,000 persons. More definite announcement concerning terms of the amnesties and numbers involved will be announced at Kyoto during the enthronement.

Kyoto in Gala Dress.

The city of Kyoto tonight bore a festive aspect in preparation for tomorrow's enthronement ceremony. Late this afternoon the sun emerged from heavy clouds which have overhung the ancient capital for the last three days, promising fair weather.

Tonight the streets and shops were brilliantly illuminated and the thoroughfares thronged with holiday crowds. The buildings throughout the city were decorated with bunting and flowers, the chief flowers being the large golden chrysanthemums, the Imperial flower.

The Japanese sovereigns rested today after yesterday's full dress rehearsal of the enthronement ceremony.

The foreign diplomatic contingent, which will attend tomorrow's functions, totals 97, including 23 women. The Americans who will attend are Ambassador Charles MacVane and Mrs. MacVane; Consul-General Edwin L. Neville and Mrs. Neville; and Lieutenant-Colonel Charles Burnett, military attaché, and Mrs. Burnett.

Although not a foot of highway will be built by the State inside St. Louis, this city will benefit in large measure from the bond issue, as it will receive not only more but broader roads to relieve the congestion of traffic approaching the metropolis in St. Louis County. The highway department has planned to spend $3,000,000 of the money in the county in this way, aside from whatever farm-to-market roads may be established there. Together, the city and county have the bond issue about 123,000 acres of its majority. The major portion of the license fees and gasoline tax is paid in this community.

St. Louis County is starting construction of many main roads under a $10,000,000 bond issue passed last June, which will supplement the State improvements. Furthermore, the city is building numerous main traffic arteries which will connect with the outlying highways, under its big bond issue of 1923.

A comprehensive major highway plan, made public last month, has been prepared by the County Planning Association, with Chief Engineer Cutler and others co-operating. It includes 129 additional miles of State highways proposed for the county, as well as 55 miles existing there. Cutler said today that the Highway Department was in agreement with county authorities on this plan, except as to use of Natural Bridge road as a relief route for St. Charles road and as to the location suggested for the outer belt highway, near the Franklin County line.

To Spend $5,000,000 in 1929.

The State already has started construction of an inner belt highway, between Melville and Fort Belvedere, by way of Jenny and new construction all are financed from the State motor license fees and the State gasoline tax of two cents a gallon, and the amendment provides that neither of these may be increased for 10 years, except by the widening and new roads to provide better entrances to St. Louis and Kansas City, and the spur to State parks. Just what roads and mileage in each of these categories will be undertaken at first remains to be determined.

DEMOCRATS HOLD SLIGHT MAJORITY IN STATE SENATE

Lose Two Seats, Leaving Them a Bare Constitutional Margin Required to Pass Bills.

CLOSE CONTEST FOR CONGRESS IN THIRD

Victory There Would Assure
G. O. P. 11 of Missouri's 16 Representatives, a Gain of Seven.

Retention by the Democrats of control of the Senate of the Missouri Legislature was assured, on the face of unofficial returns from elections in 18 senatorial districts, when revised reports were received today from districts in which the contests were close.

The Democratic majority in the upper house will be reduced by two seats, making the party division 19 Democrats and 13 Republicans, giving the Democrats one above a constitutional majority required to pass a bill, but leaving them three short of enough to override a veto by the Governor. The Senate has 24 members, one-half elected every two years.

Revised returns on the Congressional races made no material change in earlier forecasts that Republicans would gain six and possibly seven seats in the Missouri delegation of 16 Congressmen, thereby taking control of the delegation from the Democrats.

The Republicans held their present four seats in the Missouri Congressional delegation and were assured of gaining six on the face of unofficial returns.

Close Fight in Third.

In the Third District the official canvass will be required to determine the result. H. F. Lawrence, Republican of Cameron, is leading Jacob L. Milligan, Democratic of Richmond Heights, by a plurality of 502 on the complete unofficial returns in the Fifth District. His Democratic opponent, Floyd Jacobs, has declined to concede defeat, pending the official canvass.

Former Congressman Edgar C. Ell, Republican, Kansas City, had a plurality of 502 on the complete unofficial returns in the Fifth District. His Democratic opponent, Floyd Jacobs, has declined to concede defeat, pending the official canvass.

In the State Senate the Democrats have 10 holdover Senators and election of eight is assured on returns from Tuesday's election. Republicans have six holdover Senators and the election of eight is assured.

The Republicans gained seats in the First and Seventeenth Districts, and election of eight is assured on returns from Tuesday's election. Republicans have six holdover Senators and the election of eight is assured.

The rank of the cities in voting population is: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore, Cincinnati, Buffalo, San Francisco, Pittsburgh and Newark. Milwaukee, which was the thirteenth city in the census, was not included in the vote tabulation. Washington, the fourteenth city, does not participate in the voting.

HOUGHTON WILL GO BACK TO LONDON AS AMBASSADOR

President said to Have Prevailed Upon Defeated Senate Candidate to Complete Term.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Alanson B. Houghton, defeated for the United States senatorship from New York, in Tuesday's election, said today that he would return to London as Ambassador sailing next Wednesday on the Leviathan. He made the announcement after a conference with President Coolidge.

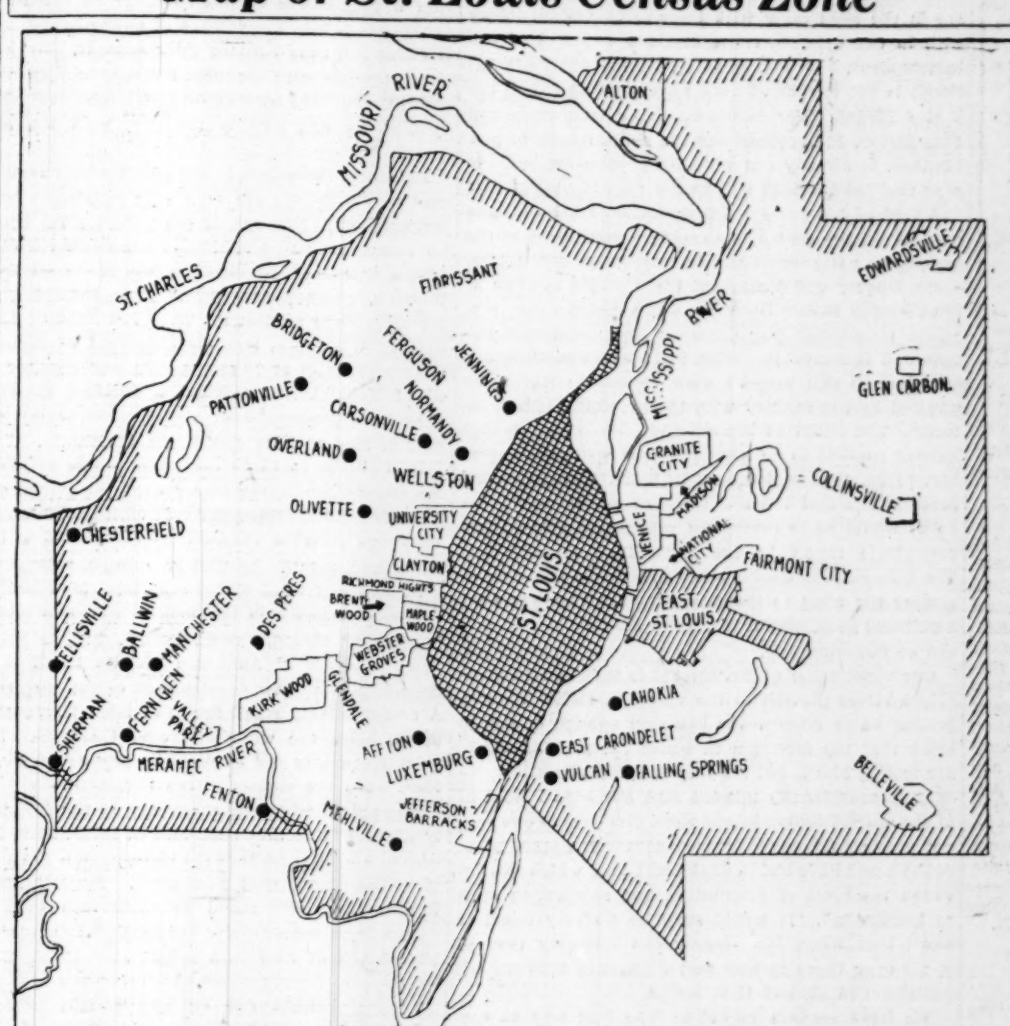

Houghton's resignation, which was presented to the chief executive today after his nomination for the New York senatorship, was offered to become effective at the President's pleasure. In his reply to Houghton, Mr. Coolidge acknowledged its receipt and regretted the loss of Houghton's services, which its acceptance would imply.

In view of Houghton's defeat, Mr. Coolidge, it was learned, prevailed upon the former to return to London and complete his term.

Los Angeles Fourth With 520-575; Detroit, Cleveland and
St. Louis Following in Totals.

The story of the next national census, to be taken in 1930, appears to be forecast by the large city votes in Tuesday's election, listed by the Associated Press yesterday.

Los Angeles held tenth place in the 1920 census. In that census, Detroit stood fourth, Cleveland fifth, St. Louis sixth. In the election, Los Angeles reports a total vote of 520,575 for Hoover and Smith. The St. Louis total for Hoover and Smith was 337,558. Detroit reports 422,722 votes cast. The total shown for Cleveland was 336,467, which includes outlying precincts of Cuyahoga County.

Boston, seventh in the 1920 census, cast 285,802 votes. Baltimore, which was eighth in 1920, had 261,531 votes. Pittsburgh, which was ninth in 1920, had 248,313 votes. Cincinnati, which was the sixteenth city in 1920, had 246,488 votes, or more than the showing of Baltimore and Pittsburgh. Buffalo, which was the thirteenth city in the census, was not included in the vote tabulation. Washington, the fourteenth city, does not participate in the voting.

TRACES REPTILE TRACKS IN U. S. BACK 200,000,000 YEARS

Chicago U. Professor Describes Marks in Slab Found in Wyoming.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Reptile tracks made 200,000,000 years ago and found last summer on a slab of Pennsylvania sandstone in Wyoming, were described today by Alfred S. Romer, University of Chicago paleontologist, as the only specimens of their kind ever found west of the Alleghenies.

The sandstone slab was found 35 miles southeast of Lander, Wyo., by university students studying rock formation. Photographs of the tracks, showing the print of the reptile's four-toed feet, have been studied by Prof. Romer. The slab is to be brought to the University museum.

Prof. Romer said the tracks appeared to have been made by a creature developed early in the evolutionary process by which animal life first crawled out of the water and grew into land forms, perhaps a progenitor of the modern salamander.

At the time the prehistoric tracks were made, the professor estimated the region which is now the Rocky Mountains was covered by water, while the modern plains district was the only land. At this juncture the water animals began moving toward land, the mountains being pushed up later by some great earthquake.

PANAMA ADVANCES ROOSEVELT BILL.

PANAMA, Nov. 9.—The Panama Congress today gave first reading to a bill whereby Panama seeks to perpetuate the memory of Theodore Roosevelt by renaming a public plaza now named after Ferdinand de Lesseps, celebrated French engineer, "Roosevelt Plaza." A statue also is to be erected by popular subscription "as a small contribution toward repayment of the debt of gratitude which Panama owes President Roosevelt." The bill passed first reading without a single dissenting vote.

ZONE OF 35 MILES IS OUTLINED FOR ST. LOUIS CENSUS

Area, as Mapped by Committee of 50, Contains an Estimated Population of 1,315,000.

DISTRICT BASED ON ECONOMIC FACTORS

Plan Will Be Submitted to Federal Bureau as Basis for Decennial Enumeration in 1930.

A St. Louis Metropolitan District with a present population estimated at 1,315,000 has been constituted, for the purposes of the decennial census in 1930, by a committee representing business organizations and industries.

The 1930 census, like those of the past, will credit the city of St. Louis with only the population residing within its corporate boundaries. But it will show also the population of the entire metropolitan district, including the city and adjacent communities, regardless of state lines.

A metropolitan district is defined by the Census Bureau as "an area within which the conditions of manufacturing, trade, transportation, labor and living, in brief, the economic and social life, are predominantly influenced by the city."

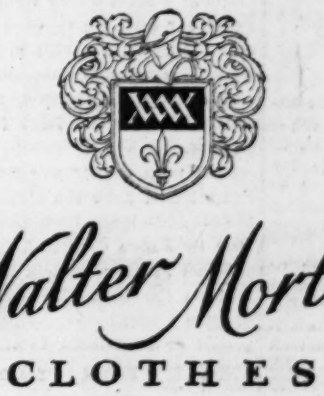

Heretofore, the Census Bureau formed metropolitan districts arbitrarily, by mapping zones extending 10 miles in all directions from the limits of cities, and eliminating areas in which population was less than 150 to the square mile. This method has been abandoned, and in preparation for the 1930 census, the Bureau has left it to each city to map out its own metropolitan district, subject to approval by the Bureau.

50 Persons Outline District.

About 50 representatives of industries and business organizations aided in shaping the district, which will be offered to the census officials for approval. The district is 35 miles from east to west, and nearly 30 miles from north to south, at the points of greatest distance. It is made irregular in shape by the lines of the Missouri River and the Mississippi above the Missouri's mouth, also by the Meramec River on the south.

The district includes, besides the city, the following areas:

Wants Police Pension Report.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
WHY do not the Police Commissioners give to the officers on the police force a report of all the money collected from them for the police pension fund? The writer is informed that the Police Board has a representative in each district that does the collecting and each representative receives from the captain about $28, a lieutenant $15, sergeant $10.83, patrolman $9 and probationary patrolman $7.30. These payments are made every month and they never see any report—whether a monthly, quarterly or anything else. The police officers are very anxious for a report of all these funds. They want to know how much is taken in every month and from whom, and also a list of those now receiving pensions.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY is frequently "shot at" by the metropolitan press (as well as by skylarking citizens out for a ride) for some of its cardinal—but not understood virtues.
We have honor among thieves. Our ways may not be your ways, but we trust them not upon you. We send no missionaries to purify (?) or convert you to our vices. We are quiet and orderly in our malfeactions and unaware of sinning until you tell us.
Our people never move into the city. Many of your people invade us and attempt to thrust your urbanities upon us. Those of your kind, who are really our kind, "quit stin and line us."
Come on out, breathe some ozone, try our moonshine and see if I'm nutty.

I CAN'T understand why the people cheered the way they did for Gov. Smith and then voted the opposite way. And let the same old 76 walk back into the White House. The cry is "We want Republican prosperity." But what have we had the last four years? Call it prosperity! Why don't our working class of people stick together and vote for a good fellow like Al Smith who is for them and not for the rich man?

Reflections on the Election.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE election is over, but we have retained our self-respect, for "What profiteth a man if he gains the world and loses his soul?" The struggle for freedom of conscience was expected to be long and bitter, so the present result is only one of many that will interrupt a steady advance to that goal.
History warns us that the forces of bigotry and intolerance always conceal their plans with a cloak of sanctity (the present forces are no exception), and it is useless to deny that they are now well organized, in the saddle and riding hard. The majority is always indifferent to this encroachment until the limit of endurance is reached, then the reaction is violent and usually disastrous. What a pity these intolerants cannot be checked by easy means, rather than later, when only a drastic operation will remove the infection from the body politic. Perhaps that is too much to expect in this troubled world.

No spirit of sympathy is intended, however, because the people are only what they demand. On the contrary, a spirit of encouragement and determination is intended, for there are many with the vision to foresee the menace of these intolerants, and many others who need only be awakened to act.
In the present test, St. Louis as a whole responded nobly and registered a distinct note of resentment. This evidence of a healthy state of mind is gratifying to all thinking people, and no inconsiderable part of the credit for creating this evidence is due to the Post-Dispatch.

PHOENIX.

Hoover's Victory at Moberly.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
REALLY, you did more to put Hoover over in Missouri than the Kansas City Star and other Republican newspapers. Your digs at Hoover made my blood boil sometimes, but I knew what was going to happen on Nov. 6 and that's what counted.
And listen! Moberly, Mo., went Republican for the first time in its 70-odd years. It was never even close before. Republicans were outnumbered nearly five to one. They have never even placed a ticket in the race before.
I can't help but thank you. Your paper is read quite extensively here and I am sure helped to put Hoover over in Moberly.

ARTHUR MARRIOTT, JR.

MR. HOOVER AND PROHIBITION.

The Post-Dispatch has not known what Mr. Hoover's intentions are as to prohibition, beyond his declaration that he is opposed to repealing the eighteenth amendment or modifying the Volstead act. It nevertheless does hope that at least some of those abuses which he acknowledged can be corrected. This is a problem demanding the best thought of the country, and its solution is not going to be found by recrimination between drys and wets.

The prohibition forces which supported Mr. Hoover are in the field early with their expectations. They will, in our opinion, cause him a great deal of embarrassment. Indeed, it will surprise us if his patience is not exhausted very soon after he enters the White House. For instance, the Flying Squadron Foundation, Inc., comprising the shock troops of prohibition, is already out with its pronouncement. It says that "sad indeed will be his (Mr. Hoover's) fate and that of his party if failure attends his administration in the task of advancing enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and its supporting legislation."

Mr. Hoover will disappoint these people as certainly as human nature itself has disappointed them. Absolute prohibition postulates an ideal of which humankind is incapable. What Mr. Hoover possibly has in mind or will propose with respect to it will be awaited by the country with the greatest possible interest. The situation has gone too far to believe that he will consent to do what the prohibitionists expect him to do, that is, increase both the prohibition appropriations and the strictures of enforcement. To do so would be to overcrowd courts and prisons and precipitate revolt in the Republican organization. The policy of the Coolidge administration has been to temper the wind to the shorn lamb. This has been a political necessity. It is hard to see how Mr. Hoover can do anything else.

Our expectation of Mr. Hoover is that he will probably address himself to the way out, rather than to getting us in deeper. He has seen enough of life to know that the direction in which the prohibitionists are urging him is not the way of political wisdom. No such internationally minded man has been President of the United States in our time. His perspective cannot possibly exclude the experiences which other parts of the world have had in that great gulf which lies between the ideal of prohibition and application of it to humankind. It would surprise us very much to learn that when Mr. Hoover has seriously thought it all over there is any real difference between his position and that of Gov. Smith.

We have made a mistake. The best way to convince the country of this is to have the Government and the enforcement of the law put into the hands of prohibition's friends. This is what we have done.

THE LILY GILDER.

Senator Heflin of Alabama, not content with Gov. Smith's overwhelming defeat, insists that Mr. Hoover should have carried Alabama by 20,000, and would have done so but for fraud in the election. Heflin announces he is on the trail of the culprits and intimates that by exposing them he will add Alabama to Mr. Hoover's list.

We hereby declare the implacable Tom a charter member of the Lily Gilders' Union.

Smith has joined Cox and Davis in the Never-Again Club.

JUDGE CAULFIELD AND THE UTILITIES.

We have worked, almost continuously, for four months, examining the law and the evidence in this case, animated, we believe, by a desire to arrive at the true value of the street railway property in St. Louis. We have taken up and considered each element that might have a bearing on the property and have arrived at a conclusion thereon without regard to how such conclusion might affect the final figures.
We inevitably arrived at the conclusion that the final value of the property, as of Dec. 31, 1920, is $30,414,241.

Henry S. Caulfield, who on Tuesday was elected Governor of Missouri, is the quoted speaker. As City Counselor for St. Louis he was addressing the Public Service Commission of Missouri in an effort to keep the valuation of the street car property in St. Louis at a level which would require no more than a 6-cent car fare. He rejected the illogical reproduction new theory as a device to line the pockets of financiers. He rejected delusions such as promotion cost and overhead omissions, with which the railways sought to pad the final figure. He stood for the straphanger.

Less than a year ago Gov. Baker's Public Service Commission gave the street railways a valuation of $66,000,000—more than twice that said to be fair in 1920 by Judge Caulfield.

When Judge Caulfield becomes Gov. Caulfield, his will be the task of appointing men to the Public Service Commission. Will they be defenders of the people or recumbent figures under the soporific arguments of public utility counsel?

Some of the Democrats think the party cannot win until we have hard times, but since all the Republicans believe we cannot ever have hard times until the Democrats get in, we can easily guess when that won't be.

THE UNCLE TOM OF BASEBALL.

Rogers Hornsby, the Uncle Tom of major-league baseball, once more descends from the auction block, this time to become a member of the Chicago Cubs. Why the greatest hitter of modern times is shunted about in this manner has never been explained to the public. It can only be the subject of guesswork. Presumably, he was traded by the Cardinals after winning the only world championship St. Louis has had in 40 years because of incompatibility with Sam Breadon and Branch Rickey. A symptom of this condition was exposed when Hornsby, in the midst of the 1926 pennant fight, objected to playing small-time exhibition games to swell the profits of the club.

Rogers got a great reception in New York, especially from John McGraw, who is supposed to have coveted the star second baseman for years. It was freely rumored that McGraw regarded Hornsby as his crown prince and, in fact, during McGraw's illness in 1927 he turned over to Hornsby the management of the club. Overnight, however, Hornsby found himself in Boston, traded for two obscure players, Hoag and Welsh. Nobody knows why, unless Hornsby's gambling activities had something to do with it. Boston is supposed to have traded Hornsby, after making him manager of the team, because the club is unable to pay the huge salary he commands. Next season, unless in the interim he is traded to Nicaragua for a couple of Generals, he will play for Chicago under Manager McCarthy. In the opinion of some, Hornsby is all Chicago needs to win the pennant next year. At any rate, what Chicago thinks of Hornsby is indicated by its payment for him of five Bruns and a large amount of cash. That knowledge should save the Rajah's wounded feelings, if any.

THE TRIUMPHANT PROGRESSIVES.

There is a sense in which it is of more importance to popular government in the United States that the progressives in the Senate should be re-elected than that a progressive should be made President. The progressives hold the balance of power in the Senate. Nothing can pass without their consent. By joining their strength with the more liberally-minded in both parties they have been able to pass measures of their own. This was notably the case with the Muscle Shoals bill.

Evidently the voters in the states which send these men to the Senate are very well satisfied with this arrangement. Not one of the progressives standing for re-election lost. Washington has re-elected Senator Dill, a Democrat, as Montana has re-elected Senator Wheeler, another Democrat. Four Republican progressives were re-elected. They are Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, Senator Shipstead of Minnesota, Senator Frazier of North Dakota and Senator Howell of Nebraska. Shipstead, a nominal Republican, runs on a Farmer-Labor ticket. His majority this year is said to be a record for Minnesota.

In addition to these men, the people returned to the Senate two others who are on the fringe of progressivism and frequently vote with the progressives. They are Senator Johnson of California, a Republican; and Senator Ashurst of Arizona, a Democrat.

In this way what would otherwise be a heavy Republican majority in the Senate, and one which no progressive measure could escape, will be balanced. Some students of American politics think this the most important new development in our Government. A comparatively small group of men, irrespective of party, holds the whip-hand over Congress. It can, as it frequently did during the regime of Mr. Coolidge, undo the wishes of the President.

The people who send these men to the Senate likely are not altogether conscious of interposing so successful a stratagem into the Government. Like Topsy, it is something that just grew. Nevertheless, the progressive states stand by their men even while voting for a conservative President. It is one of the phenomena of American politics.

REAL AID TO THE VOTER.

By casting partisanship aside and actively taking the field in the city elections the St. Louis Bar Association has made itself a real civic asset.

This was the first time the association had undertaken really to guide the voter. It was also the first time it had interested itself in the office of Circuit Attorney and the Courts of Criminal Correction. The association first conducted a plebiscite among its 864 members. Hitherto it had polled the Republicans and Democrats separately, and had not participated in the election itself. This year it had a ticket of six Republicans and three Democrats for the Circuit bench, a Democrat for Circuit Attorney, and two Republicans for the Courts of Criminal Correction. It made this ticket public, advertised it in the press, and worked for it in the campaign. The result is that the blushing Bar Association elected every one of its men.

The Post-Dispatch congratulates the association and its president, Mr. Jacob M. Lashly, by putting citizenship above partisanship they have rendered a genuine public service.

HELP FOR THE PEDESTRIAN.

Two-thirds of the deaths by automobiles on streets and highways are contributed by pedestrians. Motor drivers perish only when they attack other motor drivers.

The model traffic code recommended for general adoption throughout the country by the conference called last year by Mr. Hoover defines the relation of motorist and pedestrian at street crossings. It declares that in the absence of police or automatic signals the pedestrian has the absolute right of way on a crosswalk. At uncontrolled crossings the pedestrian is not legally required to jump, sidestep or sprint to avoid the oncoming motor car. The motorist must slow down or stop, if necessary, to avoid a collision. At controlled intersections, when he starts with the "go" signal the pedestrian has right-of-way until he has reached the opposite curb. When he is proceeding legally on a crosswalk he has the right over a vehicle making a turn.

The experience of the average pedestrian in St. Louis is the opposite. He still is a gyrating, sprinting fugitive.

The St. Louis Safety Council will complete this week its modification of the Hoover conference model code to fit conditions in St. Louis and then hopes to make it the law for our streets.

Pedestrians will scan it carefully to see whether they have lost any of their rights in the process of modification.

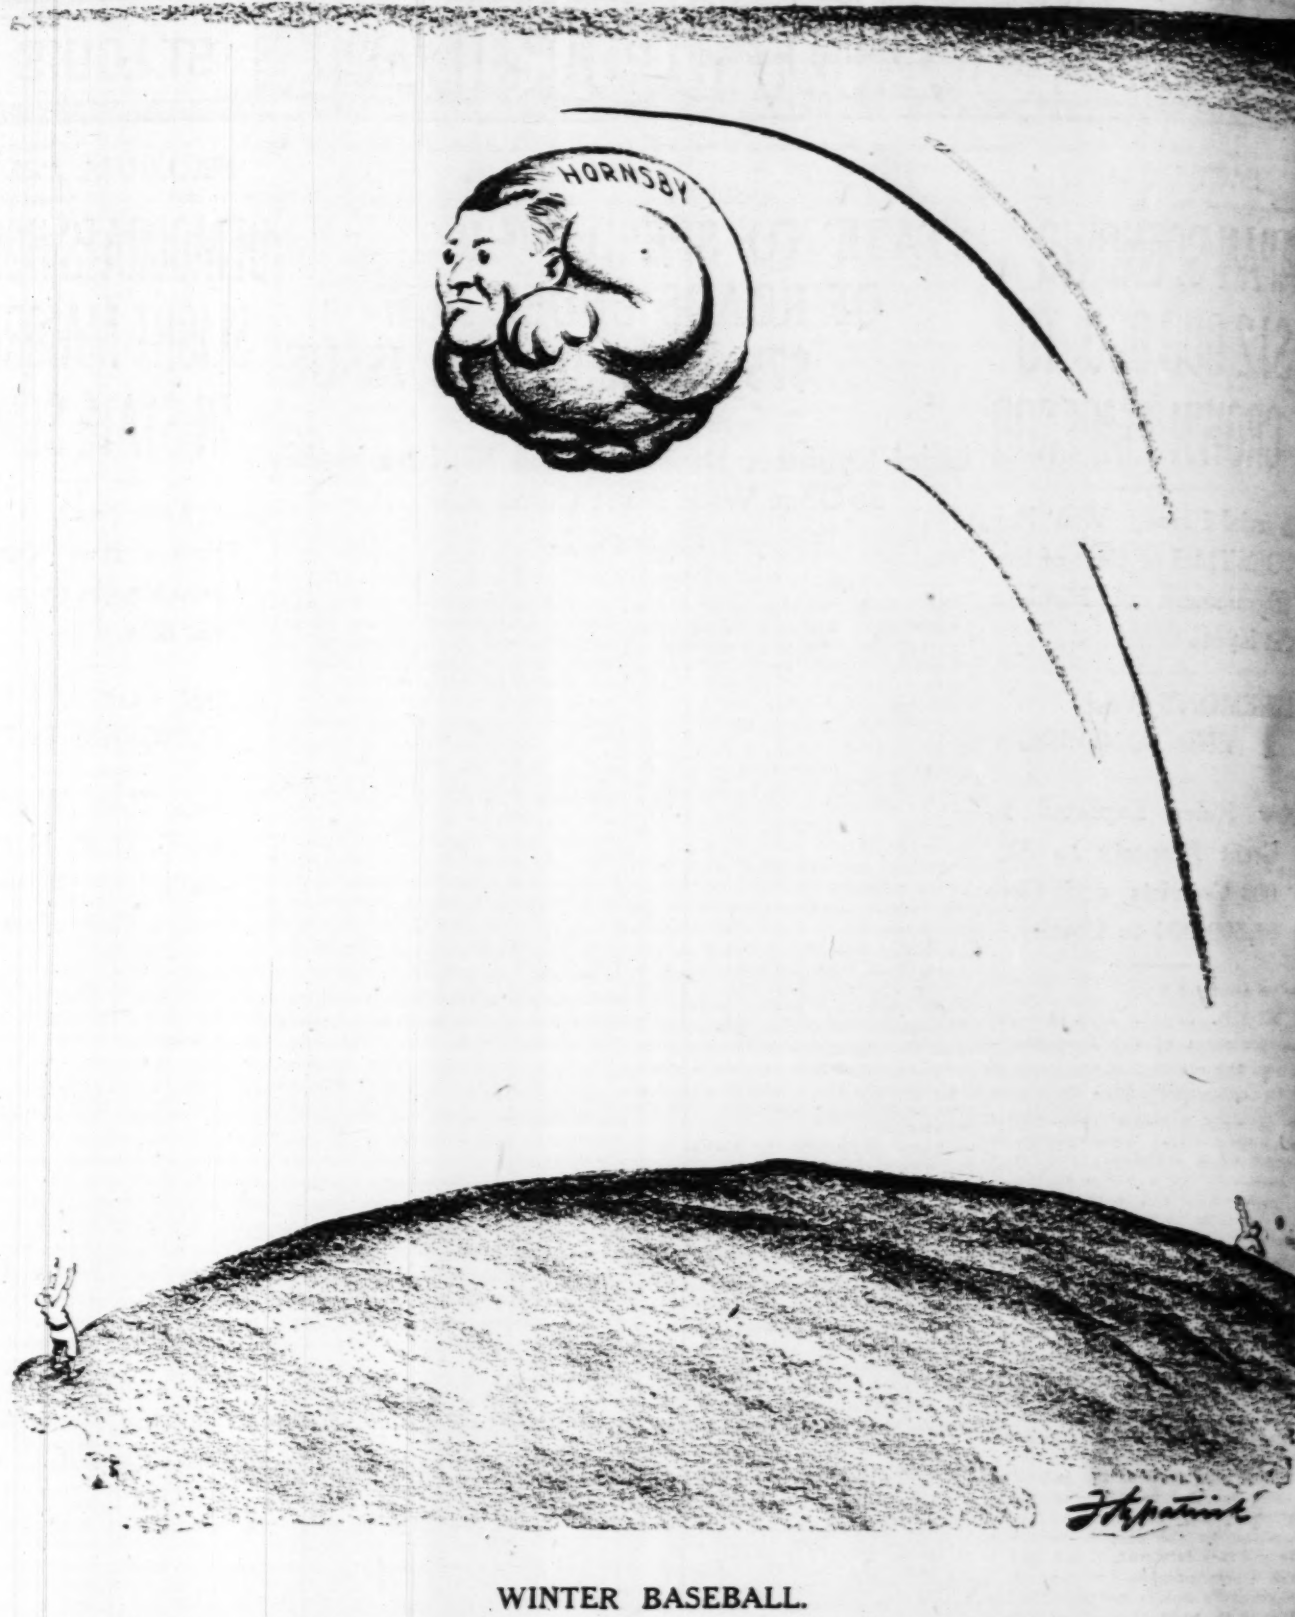

As we understand it, Chicago gave both the zoo and the Federal Reserve Bank in that district for Hornsby.

DISCOURAGING THE RADICALS.

Milton S. Hershby is one of those capitalists whom radicals not only abhor, but fear. Because he is hard-headed? Not at all. He is as emphatically the opposite as any employer could be. To him his employees, and the residents of Hershby, Pa., the town which grew up with his chocolate factory, are "my people." He has given his people schools, clubs, apartments, theaters, parks and a great industrial school for orphans. Recently he has even given away his residence and its landscaped grounds for a golf club for his people. And these millions have not been outright, enervating "charity." In every case possible they have merely provided opportunities which Hershby's people could if they wished take and pay for. The fees did not amount to much in money, but they meant worlds in self-respect.

Such industrial capitalists as Hershby simply play hob with radical hopes. How can you make radicals out of people as well fixed as Hershby's people? Even the trade unions can't organize them, for they see nothing to organize for. Let's have no more Hershby's; let the radicals give us 12 hour days and audacious graft in high places, and tenement homes like dungeons; give us industrial task masters whose methods breed wolves, and we shall use the wolves to run them down.

Even the Wisconsin sugar beet crop is disappointing this year.

WINTER BASEBALL.

A Conservative Landslide

Mr. Hoover's victory transcends all divisions of class, race and sect, all division of opinion on public issues, and even the sectionalism which is the heritage of the Civil War; however, Mr. Hoover as President will have to follow a different course than the one he set as candidate; he will not be able to please all the elements which contributed to his majority.

From the New York World.

MR. HOOVER and his party have won the most decisive victory within the memory of man. Although the figures will show, we believe, that the election was a landslide of states in the electoral college and not a popular landslide such as overwhelmed Davis and Cox, and, although the figures will show that Gov. Smith has polled more votes than any Democrat has ever received, the fact remains that Mr. Hoover has polled immensely more votes than any one has ever received. Both in the electoral college and in the popular returns, Mr. Hoover is unmistakably the choice of the nation. His victory not only transcends all divisions of class, race and sect, not only all division of opinion on public questions like farm relief, water power and prohibition, but even the sectionalism which has remained to confuse American politics as a heritage of the Civil War.

Where so many millions have contributed to the result, with the returns decisive as to the outcome but wholly inadequate as to details, it is impossible today to attempt any estimate of the relative weight of all the elements which gave Mr. Hoover his victory. It is evident, however, that there was a common factor in all of them: a deep-seated aversion to change. No one can say today, probably no one will ever be able to say, how many votes were cast for Mr. Hoover to preserve "prosperity," how many were cast to preserve prohibition, how many were cast to preserve the unwritten law that the President must be a Protestant, how many were cast against the unconventionalism of Gov. Smith's demeanor, how many were cast against Oliver street and Tammany Hall.

Many votes were dominated by each of these considerations, and the combination of all those considerations was a combination of votes which registered an overwhelming determination against change either in the policies of the Federal Government or in the imponderables of our national life. Gov. Smith's personality, and what he symbolized, his party, his program and his campaign, provoked the most powerful conservative instincts of the American people. Millions who agreed with him on one issue or another, millions even who liked him for this trait or that, nevertheless voted against him because they were convinced that he was a menace to something else which they regarded as overwhelmingly important.

Mr. Hoover's campaign was perfectly adapted to this result. He let Gov. Smith provoke the conglomerate objections to change which defeated him. Mr. Hoover conducted a campaign which was carefully calculated to make himself the recipient of the votes of all the different types of voters who feared Smith. Obviously the Government of the United States cannot be conducted on this principle. The farmers who were not willing to trust Smith will still demand farm relief. The drys who refused to follow Smith will remain as obdurate and disobedient as they were on election night when they celebrated a Hoover victory with bootlegged liquor. Mr. Hoover, in short, cannot as President follow the pattern he has set as a candidate.

ST. LOUIS HAS ALL THE LUCK.

From the Detroit News.

DETROIT for long has had a feeling of kinship for St. Louis. Both old cities with French backgrounds, both lagged for a time in the race of American cities for magnitude and power. Newer cities passed them and Detroit and St. Louis seemed to have lapsed into an orderly desuetude. They were as two nice old ladies who, although so nice, were deemed to minor places because so "set" in their ways. But then, practically simultaneously, each quaffed a cup from the fountain of youth, and each had a burst of growth which carried them into the foreground.

Cousins of old, they remained related in the problems which, in their new roles, they were compelled to face. To fashion thoroughfares for the new traffic out of the narrow lanes which were the downtown streets, to reach for and get the adornments of art and culture and, perhaps, above all, to seek the redemption of their frontages on two of the most magnificent rivers this world possesses, these were among their similar tasks. In the similar race the relationship between the two cities produced, of course, rivalry, and in rivalries those smaller matters that are the "breaks" of the game and make good advertising are not as small as they may look.

Though, inasmuch as he was born here, we had a share in him, Lindbergh was a grand "break" for St. Louis. "Twas our rejuvenated cousin who sent him upon his epochal flight, and that, we'd say, earned St. Louis, more or less, a couple of billions in publicity. There was that break in which, however, we had a consolatory share; but now comes another in which, apparently, we have no share at all. St. Louis produces the first stowaway to cross the wide blue sea to Europe by airship. Young Clarence Terhune, the stowaway on the Graf Zeppelin, hails from St. Louis.

Let no one make light of the value, by way of appeal to the imagination and in respect of the world, of a stowaway. Since ships began to sail the ocean, stowaways have had a romantic place in nautical story, and here we have, absolutely, the first aeronautical stowaway of all time. As the fare was $2000, young Terhune, too, clearly hangs up a financial record unequalled in the past and not likely to be superseded by a stowaway for a long time to come. Since it takes 400 men to haul the Graf to dock, she could not put back and dump the young man off. So he has made good and, as the accounts, has had no more to do than wash the dishes. No joke about it; her stowaway is a real dispensation of fortune.

ON PROPHETS AND PESSIMISM.

We, scaring, read, undaring, heed, what notes the prophets, blaring, blud. The world is in a sorry way, and things are in a mess. Now heading we are dreadfully to where there will tough sledding be. The awful end to which we'll come, none but the saddest guess.

We're losing what we, choosing, got, and on such luck we're musing not. The plaint that we will lose our legs is added to that class. Yet noting these so dotting pleas, the calm observer, gloating, sees Unnumbered dreadful prophecies that never come to pass.

Time's passing flight is classing right the dreadfully amazing sight Of terribly unpleasant things we shall have had last year: Their failing we greet rallying, though not yet will clear sailing be. Still, that we somehow live at all must give the mocking cheer; I weeping read of heaping dead along the path where, creeping, led The bloody path of those dread was which at all corners lurk.

But heading these misleading pleas of signs the prophet, reading, sees, Still bear in mind the prophecies that never seem to work.

A thoroughly well informed person, it occurs to us, is one who knows when, where and to what extent he can believe in evolution.

At the present writing it looks as though the jail in which Harry Sinclair will spend that sentence has not as yet been built.

Even if Jack Dempsey does not need the money, Tex Rickard does.

The more or less gloomy outlook is that the radio will go right back to the popular songs.

At that, we have not as yet come to the point where every team in the National League makes a note of Hornsby's measurements, just in case he wears that team's uniform.

Now and then when motoring, especially with one of these blanket sized road maps, we yearn longingly for the good old days of the A. E. F., when, on inquiring our destination, the answer was an all-inclusive "There!"

A neat little problem, if you like problems, is what did those who enter almost any sort of silly contest find to do before contests were invented?

Considering the matter in all its various aspects, it may be just as well that we do not make up our Christmas lists until several days after the radio has become silent on the question of our prosperity.

Among those who are reminded of an old story at the most inappropriate moment we might list the delegates to a disarmament conference.

We are blinded by our prejudices and are likely as not the Second Lieutenant in a war story is not the one you think it is at all.

Swapping Illusions

THE FUTURE OF AN ILLUSION. By Sigmund Freud.

DOCTOR FREUD of Vienna has written an interesting book for "tough-minded" people, that is to say, people who are willing and able to face the "bitter truth" and reshape their lives thereby. The bitter truth in this instance is concerned with the psycho-analytical discovery that all religious ideas are the bunk, being fantastic attempts on the part of poor human nature to escape the pangs of reality. This would be astonishing news to millions upon millions, were they ever to hear of it. They will not, and even if they did they would scarcely be affected, for when we are of the millions ever convinced of anything by reason?

Nevertheless, the proud parent of many complexes proves that religion is doomed for the curious reason that it has been shown to be an illusion. "As he has taught us to forsake childish things," writes the publisher's blurbster, "and to become adults in our conduct," so he urges us to maturity in our philosophy of the cosmos." This seems an ambitious program.

Without a doubt, "The Future of an Illusion" is a masterpiece of rationality. It may even be a profound contribution to the literature of Twentieth century science. "Science," says Dr. Freud in conclusion, "is no illusion." So the matter seems to be settled at last. Having "forsaken childish things" and "become adults," we may now dismiss our preachers and go into the maturing business.

But here and there an occasional layman, with who knows what infantile complexes, may have a few silly questions to ask about this illusion business in general. Without questioning the obvious practical triumphs of scientific technology, and without the least intention of either defending or attacking anybody's religion, such a person might ask, for instance, how it happens that scientific theory is so admirably adapted to flatter the dominant social psychosis? Why, in a democratic, materialistic time, do the most celebrated psychologists happen to discover exactly the sort of "truth" that agrees best with the going notions of the crowd? Have not celebrated psychologists assured us that all the older, aristocratic ideas about human nature are pitiful, and that we are the brute victims of gross reactions? Are not many of us glad to hear the old men are born with exactly equal potentialities and that environ-

ROSE AND CARNATION

DAY AT FLOWER SHOW

Miscellaneous Cut Blossoms at Shaw's Garden Tomorrow and Sunday.

The floral display house at Shaw's Garden this week end is given over to the competitive exhibits of 75 commercial growers and dealers in the St. Louis Fair Flower Show, the first to be held in the garden. The show opens yesterday and will continue through Sunday with daily changing in the exhibits. Hours are from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Chrysanthemums were featured yesterday, roses and carnations today, while miscellaneous cut flowers will compete for honors tomorrow and Sunday. The prizes are red, white and blue ribbons, with the exception of one pretentious silver cup offered as a sweepstakes prize to the florist gaining the most points.

Several hundred persons thronged the green house yesterday during the opening hours of the show, although several of the flower booths lined along the walls of the place had not been completed. Those that were finished, however, each had its admiring knot of men and women.

Bridal Booth Attractive.
A bridal booth, set with life-size wax figures of a bride carrying a bunch of roses and a groom in a tuxedo, was one of the most attractive features of the place. The bride and groom were dressed in the latest fashion, and the booth was decorated with flowers and ribbons.

The center of the huge green house was banked with "mums" the feature of the day, among the two new varieties which were exhibited for the first time, "Mrs. G. G. Mason," a tawny bronze red chrysanthemum, and the "Betsey Ross," a dashing white blossom. Women visitors particularly were attracted by the entire display in a special competition for dinner tables decorated with "mums" and completely set with silverware and linens.

Roses and Carnations.
Today, the chrysanthemums, except those in the "retailer's booth" were removed to be replaced with roses and carnations of countless varieties. Special ribbons were forced today for various types of bouquets.

Anticipating capacity attendance tomorrow and Sunday, George Pring, horticulturist of the garden, was prepared to establish one-way traffic rules such as were necessary during the commercial flower show last spring.

Monday and Tuesday the majority of the floral exhibits will be donated to hospitals and the display house cleared for the opening of the show.

THE FUTURE OF AN ILLUSION. By Sigmund Freud. (Harcourt Liveright.)

Dr. Sigmund Freud of Vienna has written another book for the "tough-minded" people, that is to say, people who are willing to face the "bitter truth" and reshape their lives thereby. The bitter truth in this instance is concerned with the psychoanalytical discovery that all religious ideas are the bunk, being fantastic attempts on the part of poor human nature to escape the pangs of reality. This would be astonishing news to millions upon millions, were they ever to hear of it. They will not, and for the reason that they would scarcely be affected, for when we are of the millions we are convinced of anything by reason?

Nevertheless, the proud parent of many complexes proves that religion is doomed to the same fate as the illusion. "As he has taught us to forsake childish things (1)," writes the publisher's blurbster, "and to become adults in our conduct (2)," so he urges us to maturity in our philosophy of the cosmos. This seems an ambitious program.

Without a doubt, "The Future of an Illusion" is a masterpiece of rationality. It may even be a profound contribution to the literature of Twentieth century science. Freud in conclusion, "is no illusion." So the matter seems to be settled at last. Having "forsaken childish things" and "become adults," we may now dismiss our preachers and go into the maturing business.

But here and there an occasional layman, with who knows what infantile complexes, may have a few silly questions to ask about this illusion business in general. Without questioning the obvious practical triumphs of scientific technology, and without the least intention of either defending or attacking anybody's religion, such a person might ask, for instance, how it happens that scientific theory is so admirably adapted to flatter the dominant social psychology? Why, in a democratic, materialistic time, do the most celebrated psychologists happen to discover exactly the sort of "truth" that serves best to flatter the ruling notions of the crowd? Have not celebrated psychologists assured us that all the older, aristocratic ideas about human nature are piffle, and that we are the brute victims of gut reactions? Have not many of us glad to hear that all men are born with exactly equal potentialities and that environment explains all excellence in others who may surpass us in ability? Are we not told, what is well calculated to please many of us in our present temper, that sex is about all that really matters in determining our attitudes? Is it not strange that, with the "emancipation" (and greatly increased buying power) of woman, our scientific theorists should suddenly begin to discover extremely flattering truths about the feminine mentality? Is it possible that there may be some relation between the scientific doctrine of universal relativity and the prevailing anarchic mood of a competitive society?

Suspicious circumstances of this sort abound in our scientific theorizing and there can be no harm in asking it, by any chance, there might be such a thing as swapping illusions as the wind of world-whim veers.

SCHUBERT CENTENNIAL FESTIVAL PROGRAM

To Be Given Sunday at 2:30 P. M. in Scottish Rite Cathedral.

The complete program of the Franz Schubert centennial music festival, to be given at the Scottish Rite Cathedral at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, was announced yesterday by Richard Spamer, chairman of the committee in charge. It is composed entirely of Schubert music, presented by the Philharmonic Orchestra, members of the cast of "Blossom Time," an operetta built on the story of Schubert's life and by St. Louis musicians in solo numbers.

The festival, which is held in accordance with a proclamation of Mayor Miller setting aside next week for an official celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the death of Schubert, will be broadcast from station KMOX, which will use a new wave length of 1090 kilocycles, recently granted by the Federal Radio Commission. Admission to the Scottish Rite Cathedral will be free. The hall will seat 5000 persons.

The program follows:

- Greetings by Mayor Miller.
- Singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the audience in honor of America.
- Address by Richard Spamer.
- II. March, "Schubert" Schubert.
- III. Duet, "The Song of Love" Schubert.
- IV. The Unfinished Symphony, Schubert.
- V. Resolutions relative to "The Cultural Value of Schubert to the World" Lewis J. Time.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.

THOUGHTS while strolling: Dorothy Knapp, the highly advertised "most beautiful girl in the world." And very near that, too. Who remembers when money was called splendour? Judas Bach, the banker and his monologue. An expressman named I. Swann.

The theater with a row of seats equipped with phones for the deaf. Wesley W. Stout, a Kansas City, Mo., boy, who made good in the city. Lads sporting sideburns to appear Argentine-ish. Very few hat cleaning shops any more. The pet white owl that rides with a taxi driver.

Sign: "Colds cured while you wait." Liver becomes more important every day. Displays of Palm Beach things. The site of the new Metropolitan opera house—and a lot of speak-easies will have to move. From whispering to yelling, as it were. And that's not so good, either.

Anna Held's close-eyed daughter. Stocky looking agents. With tightly gripped cigars. A man with a wrist watch swinging a pick. A double-breasted suit called "The Herbert Hoover." The columnist who wears a red tie and poses as a cynic.

Nothing so clumsy as a sheep dog. Winter is here—Al Jolson brings out his belted leather coat. The East Side grumman known as "The Taranulula"—the red scar on his cheek having been made by the sting of one. Wonder what that guy gets a week for wearing a uniform and looking important.

A steam roller driver eating lunch and reading Ludwig's "Napoleon." Sukes, the haberdasher. Sometimes I think I'll take up golfing. And then I spend an evening with those bobbies who have. Puzzle: Find the Broadway entrance to the Hotel Astor. The soda clerks have gone south. New faces.

The Paramount clock only eight seconds wrong. Harry Acton, who goes out to sea to meet ships. Cool winds at dusk. Freightened with the salty tang of the sea. The buoyancy of home-going crowds. Color, zip, speed and dazzle. What a town!

BROADWAY refuses to permit others to select its celebrities.

STORY-TELLING STRESSED AS CHARACTER BUILDER

Importance of Movement Among Children Emphasized by Speakers at League Convention.

Importance of story-telling to children as a means of character development was discussed by Mrs. Edward F. Leonard of Chicago, president of the National Story-Tellers' League, in opening the fifth quadrennial convention of the league at Hotel Chase yesterday afternoon. Constant requests for story material prepared by the league for use in social and community work, Mrs. Leonard said, gave evidence of a growing use of story-telling in ethical instruction.

The theme of the present convention of the league, "Story-Telling for Character Building," also was carried out in addresses yesterday by Mrs. Adelyn M. Keffer of Harrisburg, Pa., president of the eastern district of the league, and by Mrs. Annie L. MacKinnon of Hartford, O., president of the central district and in a group of stories told by Miss Daphne Carroway of Wilson, N. C.

The league, which was formed in 1902, now has 40 chapters, of which the St. Louis chapter, with 85 members, is the largest. The convention will close tomorrow afternoon.

TOY PLAYERS IN OLD COMEDY

Amateurs Present "Gammer Gorton's Needle" in a Pleasing Manner

"Gammer Gorton's Needle," an old English comedy dating back some 350 years, was presented by the Toy Theater Players in their little playhouse in the Musical Arts Building. The amateur members of the cast gave a pleasing performance of the ancient piece and delighted a large audience of their friends who were on hand.

In the company were Madeleine Douglas, who played Gammer Gorton, the old woman who upset a whole town by misplacing her needle, Sanford Wise, Robert East, Aileen Baer, Harold Houser, Rose Heleman, Joseph McKenna and Milton Carpenter.

BISHOP OF LONDON DEFIES PARLIAMENT

Sends Letters to 160 Clergy to Continue Perpetual Reservation of the Sacrament.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Undeterred by the authority of Parliament and the recent hostile vote of the majority of the clergy in his diocese, the Bishop of London has determined to permit perpetual reservation of the sacrament.

Perpetual reservation was the point which chiefly swayed the House of Commons when the 1927 and 1928 revisions of the book of Common Prayer were rejected. The bishops recently voted against allowing the bishop, the Rev. Arthur Foley Winnington Ingram, to regulate permanent reservation.

In a letter to the clergy of 160 churches in the London diocese where reservation has been practiced although it is technically illegal, the Bishop directed them to continue reservation. He placed restrictions on some of the other observances followed by Anglo-Catholics.

The letter apparently was not sent to the other 460 churches of the diocese where reservation is not practiced.

Opponents of the Bishop said today that his action will intensify trouble which already is serious enough.

33-MILE ZONE IS OUTLINED FOR ST. LOUIS CENSUS

city, St. Louis County except Meramec Township, St. Clair and Madison Counties, Ill., to lines east of Edwardsville and Belleville and north of Alton, and St. Charles, with no other part of St. Charles County. The principal communities included are East St. Louis, Granite City, Venice, Madison, Belleville, Alton, Collinsville, University City, Clayton, Webster Groves, Kirkwood, Florissant and St. Charles.

Factors in Determination.

Factors employed in determining the area included the extent of mail deliveries through the St. Louis postoffice, carrier delivery of St. Louis newspapers, established routes of solicitors working out of St. Louis, daily retail deliveries by downtown merchants, truck deliveries from St. Louis warehouses to branch stores and factories, switching and long-distance freight rates, commuter service or transportation facilities, distribution of electricity, water and gas, local telephone service and membership in St. Louis clubs.

For each of these factors a map was drawn showing the area about St. Louis in which they were present. By comparing these maps and averaging their boundaries, the Metropolitan District was outlined.

A committee will be appointed to present the proposal to the Census Bureau. It met with approval of all present at yesterday's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Building except two representatives of chambers of commerce of nearby cities, who were not authorized to speak for their organizations.

ACCIDENT VERDICT IN DEATH OF FIRE CAPTAIN WERMINGHAUS

Officer Fatally Injured Early Wednesday in Collision of Apparatus.

A Coroner's verdict of accident was returned today in the death of Fire Captain Frank Werminghaus, 54 years old, who was fatally injured at 1:15 a. m. Wednesday in a collision between apparatus of Engine Co. 13 and Engine Co. 18, at Eleventh street and Washington avenue, while going to a fire at Thirtieth and Pine streets.

Capt. Anthony Steinmeyer, commanding Engine Co. 18, testified that his truck was westbound in Washington avenue and unexpectedly met the truck in charge of Capt. Werminghaus, driven south in Eleventh street. Capt. Steinmeyer said that under traffic rules of the department, Co. 13 uses Twelfth boulevard in responding to alarms west of Twelfth. Steinmeyer said he had not been notified that Twelfth boulevard had been closed Tuesday night under a permit issued by the city to permit crowds to get election returns.

Capt. Werminghaus, who resided at 5312 Geraldine avenue, was thrown from his truck by the collision, suffering a fractured skull, from which he died at City Hospital Wednesday night.

FALLS INTO DITCH; WITNESSES SAY STREET CAR STRUCK HIM

Bertrand Carter Seriously Hurt; Motorman of Passing Trolley Denies Hitting Him.

Bertrand Carter, 40 years old, 4715 Phinon street, is at city hospital with a fractured skull and internal injuries suffered at 9:45 o'clock last night when he either fell or was knocked into a ditch at Twelfth and Spruce streets by a passing street car.

According to employees of the City Water Department working in the ditch, Carter attempted to walk around the excavation, which is seven feet deep, and was struck by the street car. The motorman declared the car did not strike Carter, who he said fell into the ditch in attempting to avoid the car. Carter is a janitor at the Telegrapher's National Bank and was on his way to work at the time.

ABLE TO SEE WITH CORNEA
FROM ANOTHER MAN'S EYE
Subject of Transplanting Operation Has Vision, but Its Permanency Is Uncertain.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Several days ago a surgeon grafted on the falling eye of Bert Ferguson the cornea of another man's eye, which had been removed because of a tumor. When the bandages came off yesterday Ferguson could discern objects 10 feet away. The cornea appeared healthy, but doctors said another two or three weeks must pass before they could definitely determine whether it would continue to adhere to the eyeball.

"The transplant is attached; that much we know," said Dr. Jago Galdston of the New York Academy of Medicine's information bureau. "The man has a certain degree of vision he did not have before, although he has not normal clarity of vision. The only question now is whether the transplant will continue to adhere and become stronger or slough off."

Illinois Governor Greets Well Wishers in Hotel at Mount Vernon.

the Associated Press. MOUNT VERNON, Ill., Nov. 9.—Louis L. Emmerson has been elected Governor of Illinois, but his neighbors and friends here congratulated him simply as "Lou," the yellow-townsmen to whom his name honor.

Tired of campaigning, but with a happy smile on his face, Emmerson greeted hundreds of well-wishers from Southern Illinois in the lobby of a hotel here. Later the crowd assembled at the court-house, where a program was given in his honor. A real old-fashioned torchlight parade, led by a brass band, started the celebration.

Southern Illinois was celebrating not only the election of a neighbor to the office of Chief Executive of the United States, but also because for the first time in a generation "Egypt" was elected a citizen as Governor.

John R. Tanner, Governor during the Spanish-American War, was the last one from Southern Illinois. He stepped out of office early in 1911.

Equally as happy was Mrs. Emmerson, who had accepted the vicissitudes of the campaign as calmly as though they were part of the daily routine of her home life. Promises of future favors and rewards had no part in his selection for the Governorship, Emmerson held a throng of admirers.

Makes Missouri Mother Proud

Don't let constipation and its attendant ailments, such as headaches, nervousness, feverishness, fretfulness, yellow, "broken-out" skin, etc., pull your child down and make her puny, listless and underweight. At the first sign of bad breath, coated tongue or overbushiness, give her a little California Fig Syrup.

Children love the rich, fruity flavor of California Fig Syrup, and it never fails to start lazy bowels quick, cleanse them thoroughly and give tone and strength to them and to the stomach so these organs continue to act normally, of their own accord. It stimulates the appetite, helps digestion, makes rosy cheeks, bright eyes, helps build up and strengthen children.

A well-known Missouri mother, Mrs. Horace Williams, 1747 Nichols, St. Louis, says: "My little daughter, Dorothy, suffered from constipation until I thought it was going to keep her delicate always. She was losing weight fast when I started her on California Fig Syrup. In a few days it made a world of difference in her looks and actions. Now I'm proud as I can be of her. She's so rosy, strong and plump."

Over four million bottles used a year shows the popularity of the genuine. Look for the name "California" on the carton, so you won't get a substitute.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH
FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1938
TOWN CLUB ADOPTS RETRENCHMENT PLAN
Financial Difficulties Straightened Out, Officers of Women's Organization Announce.
The Town Club, an organization of St. Louis business women, has solved the financial problems it has faced for the last year due to a decrease in revenue and increased operating expense, and will enter at once into an intensive retrenchment program, officers of the organization said today.
Although faced with a considerable deficit as the fiscal year was about to end, all obligations of the organization have been met through the co-operation and financial assistance of the membership. The new retrenchment program, passed unanimously at a meeting last night, includes the subleasing of part of the space now occupied by the club. The cafeteria and dining room, operated for several months at a loss, will be continued on a more modest scale, serving plate lunches and a limited a la carte menu.
The club has at this time a membership of about 1500, who pay dues of $25 a year. A loss in membership has resulted, club officers explain, from the fact that business women have not as much time as men to enjoy the benefits of an organization of this type.
The eight-story building occupied by the Town Club at 1120 Located street, is owned by the Town Club Investment Co., and five floors that serve as club quarters are leased for approximately $28,000 a year. As part of the new program, the organization will sub-lease two floors, probably the auditorium on the seventh floor and the lounge room on the third floor, consolidating both features in the three remaining floors now occupied by the cafeteria, dining room and rest room.
EXPLAINS REORGANIZATION PLAN FOR SCHOOLS OF STATE
A plan to equalize educational opportunities throughout Missouri by increasing the school fund and reorganizing the State into larger school districts was explained yesterday by Charles Lee, State Superintendent of Schools.
In an address before the St. Louis County Teachers' Association at University City High School.
In addition to a larger distribution of the fund, the plan provides for an equalization fund to add to appropriations in rural districts where school facilities do not equal those in cities and wealthy counties, Lee said. The proposal also would remove inequalities in the length of school terms, equalize school taxes, and permit rural districts to pay teachers living wages, he said.
These ends would be accomplished by a State-wide optional redistricting measure, under which the redistricting would be done by county superintendents and voted on in each community. As many districts as there is need for four-year high schools would be included. While St. Louis would receive nothing from the proposed equalization fund under the plan it would get about $1,500,000 from the distribution fund, an amount about four times as great as this year's appropriation.
FRACTURES SKULL IN FALL
Patrick Whittle, 65 years old, 4425 Labadie avenue, is in a serious condition at City Hospital with a fractured skull suffered last night in a fall.
Police learned that Whittle spent part of the afternoon in a saloon and later appeared at the dry goods store of Jacob Schramm, 2903 North Vandeventer avenue, where he fell against a window.
Schramm, who is a new Whittle, refused to take him home. Whittle fell down three times on the way home, according to Schramm, who called an ambulance when he was unable to raise Whittle the last time.
Swindler of Workmen Sought.
Police are looking for a man who "borrows" from $1 to $2 from carpenters and skilled laborers who have answered his advertisements offering work. After assuring a workman that he has a job for him the next day, the man is suddenly reminded of a package to be delivered to him in the next 15 minutes and borrows a dollar or two.

KINGSHIGHWAY ZONING CHANGE IS OPPOSED

Property Owners Object to Plan for Undertaker's Chapel and Apartment.

To protest against the construction of an undertaker's chapel and an $8-family apartment house on the east side of Kingshighway, between Millett and Alma avenues, 75 property owners of that section gathered yesterday at a public hearing before the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen, which, for the third time, is considering an ordinance which would change 116 feet on the east side of Kingshighway from a residential to a commercial zone.

The zoning change was provided in an ordinance in 1927, but the ordinance was repealed when it was ruled that a public hearing should have been held. Twice since then the Board of Aldermen has rejected similar ordinances after public hearings.

Wade L. McCann, who bought the disputed frontage last August, declared he had purchased in good faith, assuming the commercial classification would be permanent, and had resold sections of it with that understanding.

McCann now holds 226 front feet which he proposes to improve with an apartment building, while Ziegenheim Brothers, undertakers, have acquired 220 feet for an elaborate funeral parlor.

Daniel Bartlett, an attorney, was chief spokesman for the protesting property owners, arguing that the zone change would reduce property values and that McCann's interests should not be put ahead of those of the residents in the neighborhood.

George F. Hoffman, 5910 South Kingshighway, declared he had spent $15,000 on his home in order to have "peace and quiet." With an apartment house there, he asserted, delivery wagons would be going up the alley constantly and the air would be charged with the odors of garbage and smoke. The funeral parlor would have a morbid effect on his 11-year-old child who would pass it every day on the way to school, he added.

Other property owners endorsed Hoffman's views until almost three hours were consumed. The committee continued the hearing until next Thursday.

CINCINNATI HEIRESS OBTAINS DIVORCE FROM PRINCE MURAT
Husband, Descendant of Napoleon's Marshall, Twice Sentenced for Fraud.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Nov. 9.—Princess Murat, who was Helena McDonald Stallo of Cincinnati, has obtained a divorce from Prince Michel Joachim Murat on the ground of abandonment. She married the descendant of Joachim Murat, Napoleon's Marshal, who was made King of Naples, in Paris on Feb. 12, 1913.

Princess Murat arrived in America eight months in prison in Paris in November, 1925, on the complaint of the Countess de Salverte, who, it was stated, gave the Prince $60,000 francs worth of jewels to be pledged to provide her with funds for operations on the Bourse. It was testified that the Prince took the jewels to London, pledged them there and sold the pawn tickets.

Princess Murat arrived in America in December, 1925. In March, 1926, she became a gown saleswoman in a Fifth avenue store in New York. She inherited a fortune from her grandfather, Alexander McDonald of Cincinnati.

Princess Murat in December, 1926, again was sentenced to prison when he was found guilty of helping to defraud the shareholders of a company of which he was president. The supposed object of this company was to breed silver foxes in France with the promise of a large return through the demand for fox fur.

Miss Jacobo's musical career began on a winter afternoon 14 years ago in Boston. The great Tetrastar plucked roses from her bouquet and tossed them out into a wildly cheering audience. High in the gallery the fascinated Clara, then 14 years old, watched her. That night she announced her determination before a family which

"M'NARY DOUBTS FARM RELIEF WILL NEED AN EXTRA SESSION"

Chairman of Senate Committee Thinks Congress Can Pass Acceptable Measure at Once.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Chairman McNary of the Senate Committee on Agriculture today said he did not think an extra session will be necessary to obtain farm relief legislation. In the opinion of Senator McNary, it will be possible to pass a farm relief bill in the Senate before President Coolidge within a week. He does not think consideration of such a bill would endanger other legislation pending before the short session. He will offer a bill at the meeting of the Senate tomorrow along the lines of the McNary-Hauger bill, with the equalization fee eliminated.

"It is not necessary for us to have more hearings," he explained. "We already have all the information we need. So that should be decided as to what would be acceptable to President Coolidge. Therefore we should act promptly, and can well afford to put into operation the machinery of a board to handle the farm relief fund, provide funds for financing co-operative associations, and other provisions which also have received the approval of President Hoover, and let this machinery get into full operation in time to have the necessary appropriations be gained by postponing action until a special session in the spring. We can get the measure through this winter and I can see no reason for delaying action."

LOCKOUT CLOSES RUHR WORKS
Reichstag to Consider Labor Trouble in Iron and Steel Area.
By the Associated Press.

ESSEN, Germany, Nov. 9.—A lockout since Nov. 1 in the iron and steel works of the Ruhr district, affecting 250,000 men, has begun to hit allied branches and industries such as metal, textile and other works at Gelsenkirchen, Bielefeld and elsewhere.

So serious has the situation become because of the increase of unemployment and the suffering of working-class families that the Reichstag has been called to assemble Monday, a day earlier than had been planned. All blast furnaces in the Essen district have been damped. Both the Lutheran and Catholic churches are making efforts to bring about a peaceful

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1873, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and does just such a mild, safe, gentle and stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children.

Arkansas Needs New Texts Under Anti-Evolution Law

Fundamentalists Say Teachers Appear Unwilling to Tell Her Just Which School Books Must Be Changed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 9.—Arkansas fundamentalists apparently have been rewarded for two years of intensive work by realization of their plan of a public education system from kindergarten through university without one reference to the theory that man ascended or descended from a lower order of animals. Returns from 735 of the 2018 precincts in the State showed the anti-evolution bill with a margin which made it practically certain that it has been adopted. The vote was 26,683 for the bill and 23,549 against.

Charles T. Coleman, Little Rock attorney who headed a committee opposed to the measure, admitted Wednesday night that his cause appeared lost. Mrs. John H. Page, active in behalf of the measure, said that plans already are under way for enforcing the act which will become effective immediately upon official certification of the election results, within the next few days. Mrs. Page said the act will affect textbooks now in use in the various high schools as well as in the State Colleges and the University. It will affect science taught in Little Rock junior high schools, Mrs. Page said, and university texts in biology, geology, zoology, psychology, and probably English. Mrs. Page added that it is difficult to determine just what books will come under the ban, since teachers whom she has consulted have appeared unwilling to give her the desired information.

J. P. Womack, State superintendent of public instruction and secretary to the State Textbook Commission, said the law will not affect any book adopted for use in the common school course, since no book adopted by the State board contains anything on evolution. The State board adopts texts for all grades from the first through the seventh, and through the ninth in districts without junior high schools. Agitation for the anti-evolution measure first became noticeable here about two years ago when fundamentalists urged passage by the 1927 Legislature of a bill modeled after the Tennessee law.

The bill, as planned, was introduced in the 1927 House of Representatives by Representative A. L. Rotenberry of Pulaski County. It passed the lower branch of the Legislature by a narrow margin but its friends in the Senate were unable to prevent its being tabled without a record vote.

The action by the Senate brought a storm of protest from the sponsors of the bill, and early this year petitions were circulated to submit the measure to the voters under the initiative and referendum clause of the State Constitution.

Cascara is Your Doctor's Choice

When physicians pronounce cascara the PERFECT laxative—why experiment with things that lash the system into action? Cascara, you know, is the bark of a tree. A natural and normal stimulus to the bowels.

The Indians, who used to chew this bark, had no word in their language that meant constipation!

Perfect regularity is possible today, and to all of us. We have cascara in ideal form; the very delightful-tasting, candy Cascaret gives us pure cascara. It has helped at least a million people to habitual regularity. Millions of others, unfortunately, have stuck to stronger things and acquired only the laxative habit.

A modern drug store must stock many laxatives, but for your own good the druggist would rather have you ask for the inexpensive little box of Cascarets than anything else.

ARMISTICE DAY PARADE BY LEGION TOMORROW

Military Procession and Services at City Hall to Celebrate End of War.

Guns will rattle, war tunes will blare and veterans of the World War will march tomorrow to mark the tenth anniversary of the signing of the armistice. The program was arranged for tomorrow, because Armistice day, Nov. 11, falls on Sunday.

Several luncheons and meetings today and tomorrow will commemorate the tenth anniversary of the end of fighting in the World War. On Sunday there will be widespread observance of Armistice day in churches. At 11 o'clock Sunday morning, in accordance with a proclamation issued by Mayor Miller, all activity is to cease for two minutes out of respect for those who lost their lives in the war.

The city hall, all banks in the city, and the Merchants' Exchange will be closed Monday, in observance of Armistice day.

The parade, arranged by various American Legion posts in St. Louis, will leave city hall at 2:30 o'clock. Preceding the parade, American legionnaires will attend a luncheon at the American Annex at 12:30. The speakers will be W. R. Weisenberger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Col. E. L. Butts, chief of staff of the 102d Reserve Division.

Sixth Infantry to Lead Parade.

The parade will be led by the Sixth Infantry regiment from Jefferson Barracks which, as part of the Fifth Division 10 years ago, saw bitter fighting along the Meuse. The marchers will move west on Market from City Hall to Fourteenth street, north to Washington avenue, east on Washington to Fourth street, south to Chestnut street, west to Twelfth street, and thence back to city hall, where services will be held in front of the memorial tablet.

All former service men in the city, whether they do or do not belong to the American Legion, are invited to take part in the parade.

The Optimist Club, at its noon luncheon today in Hotel Statler, devoted its program to commemoration of the signing of the Armistice. Frank A. Thompson was the speaker.

Rabbi Louis Witt, at Temple Shaare Emeth, Lindell boulevard and Vandeventer avenue, will preach an Armistice day sermon tonight, at 8 o'clock, on "Preliminaries to International Peace." Rabbi Julian H. Miller, at joint services tonight of Temple Israel and B'nai El, at the Temple Israel, 14th and Washington boulevards, will preach on "Peace Hath Its Victories." Rabbi S. Thurman, at the United Hebrew Temple, 225 South Skinner road, will preach on "Looking Backward" at 8 o'clock tonight.

An organ recital featuring soldier songs of 1917-18 will be part of the service.

Wilfred M. Aikin of the John Burroughs School will speak from the pulpit of the Second Presbyterian Church, Taylor avenue and Westminster place, on Sunday night, at a special Armistice day service for young people. His subject will be "What Should Be the Christian's Attitude Toward War?"

Armistice day will be observed at Lindenwood College with special services on Sunday beginning at 6:30 p. m. Dr. John Lincoln Roemer, president of the school, will speak.

In East St. Louis, the St. Clair and Madison County Reserve Officers' Association will give a dinner tomorrow night at the Broadview at which Col. Bennett C. Clark of St. Louis will be the speaker.

The 124th Field Artillery, American Legion Post No. 5, of East St. Louis, will give a dance tomorrow night at the Broadview. G. Edwin Popkes, post commander, is in charge of arrangements.

Under auspices of the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian Church of St. Louis, a United States Army band will play tomorrow afternoon and evening in Almad Temple.

TRIES TO HEAT GASOLINE AND DOES, POURS WATER ON BLAZE

Woman's Kitchen Set Afire When Bucket of Fuel on Stove Is Ignited.

Mrs. Walter Probert, 4117 Carter avenue, attempted to warm an open bucket of gasoline yesterday, in boiling water over a burner on her gasoline stove. The gasoline in the bucket caught fire, and when Mrs. Probert placed it in the sink and turned on the water faucet, the flaming gasoline was thrown about the room.

The fire was put out after Patrolman Oltman entered the kitchen, seized the burning bucket and flung it out of doors.

MANIU, RUMANIAN PEASANT LEADER, FORMS NEW CABINET

"Triumph of Constitutionalism Over Despotism," He Says; Succeeds Bratianu.

By the Associated Press. BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 9.—Juliu Maniu, leader of the National Peasant party and long an opponent of the Bratianu regime in Rumania, today formed a Cabinet to succeed that of Vintila Bratianu, which resigned several days ago at the request of the Regency. The new Cabinet will take the oath tomorrow at noon.

When Maniu left the palace for his home near the American legation he received a tremendous ovation. "It is a triumph of constitutionalism over despotism," he said to the Associated Press correspondent, as he hurried down the steps of the palace.

The mandate to form a government was given to Maniu by the Regency after Nicholas Titulescu, former Foreign Minister, had notified the Regency that he was unable to form a National Union Cabinet. Titulescu declared that his failure was because of the refusal of former Premier Bratianu to agree to the formation of a concentration Cabinet and the dissolution of Parliament.

MAN DIES AFTER SAYING HE HAD TAKEN RAT POISON

Charles Stewart Became Ill After Eating Candy and Drinking Whisky, Wife Says.

An autopsy will be performed today in the case of Charles Stewart, 38 years old, of 1635 Franklin avenue, who died at City Hospital at 5 p. m. yesterday after telling physician he had taken poison.

According to Stewart's wife, he left home at 5 o'clock yesterday morning to go to work and returned three hours later, complaining that he was ill. During the morning he ate candy and drank some whisky, Mrs. Stewart said, and at 3 p. m. was removed to the hospital. Yesterday was the first time Stewart had complained of feeling sick in 19 years, according to his wife. A search of the house failed to disclose any poison.

POINCARE WILL TRY TO FORM NEW FRENCH CABINET
 Task Accepted on Condition That Ministry Be One of Harmony Among All Republican Parties.
 By the Associated Press.
 PARIS, Nov. 9.—Poincare, after consulting with his friends today, agreed in principle to attempt to form a new Cabinet. Poincare sent a long letter to President Doumergue, in which he set forth certain conditions of his acceptance. Before accepting in principle the task of constituting a new ministry, M. Poincare had a long consultation with M. Doumergue over the difficulties confronting him. Reference was made to the retirement of the four radical members of the Cabinet, because of which Poincare and the Cabinet resigned as a body. His desire is to have a ministry representing all sections. The essential condition laid down by M. Poincare in his letter to M. Doumergue was that the Cabinet must be one of harmony among all the republican parties. This is interpreted as meaning that M. Poincare may attempt to govern without the collaboration of the entire radical party, but would be content if a portion of that party should grant him support.

RECIPES FOR DISHES IN WEEK'S MENUS

Get Out of the Rut of Serving Certain Foods Always the Same Way.

In the toasted cheese sandwiches that are served for supper, Sunday night, use a little finely chopped pickle mixed with grated cheese for the filling. Make the sandwiches first, using a liberal amount of cheese in each, then toast them.

Baked Cranberry Pudding.
Take two cups cranberries, one cup sugar, two eggs, three tablespoons butter, one-half cup milk, two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder and one-third teaspoon salt.

Cream, butter and sugar; add yolks and beat. Add milk; then the flour, making powder and salt, sifted together. Stir in cranberries, chopped; fold in stiffly beaten whites. Turn into a greased baking dish and cook in a moderate hot oven 45 minutes. Serve with hard sauce.

Baked Macaroni and Cheese.
Boil and drain one package of macaroni. Make a smooth paste of one ounce flour, two ounces grated cheese, level teaspoon mustard, half teaspoon salt and half pint milk.

Bring to boil and pour over macaroni, sprinkle with bread crumbs and grated cheese. Bake in hot oven for quarter of an hour, until nicely browned on top.

Stuffed Baked Peppers.
Boil enough rice to allow two heaping tablespoons to each heaping tablespoon of rice. Wash and stem peppers. Split the peppers lengthwise, remove seeds and white pith. Parboil for five minutes. Season the rice well with catsup, salt and the catsup sauce. Fill the peppers and bake for about 20 minutes, basting once or twice with the catsup.

The peppers may be topped with grated cheese or chopped nuts, or with peanut butter may be added to the rice with the catsup.

Stuffed Baked Potatoes.
Select good-sized, smooth-skinned potatoes for baking. Wash and score a cap on top of potato. Bake in a 450 degrees Fahrenheit oven until tender. Remove cap and scoop out inside, add butter, salt and pepper and enough evaporated milk that has been diluted with an equal quantity of water to moisten. Fill shell and sprinkle with grated cheese and paprika. Brown in oven. Chopped nuts may be added to the mashed potato mixture.

Top Mixture.
The four tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon butter, two teaspoons almonds, one tablespoon candied orange peel and in a 450 degrees Fahrenheit oven until tender. Remove cap and scoop out inside, add butter, salt and pepper and enough evaporated milk that has been diluted with an equal quantity of water to moisten. Fill shell and sprinkle with grated cheese and paprika. Brown in oven. Chopped nuts may be added to the mashed potato mixture.

Lemon Sponge Pie.
Cream together one cup white sugar and butter half as large as eggs. Add two tablespoons flour, pinch salt, juice and grated rind one lemon, two well-beaten egg yolks, one cup sweet milk and lastly well-beaten whites two eggs. Bake in a hot oven. It makes a sponge cake on top and lemon jelly on bottom.

ATTRACTIVE MENUS FOR MEATLESS DIET

Suggested for Ill or Invalid Persons Who Cannot Eat Meat.

When, for one reason or another, the diet cannot include meat, there is always a question of what to substitute for it. Unless they are carefully planned, meatless diets seem to be not quite satisfying. And yet with a little forethought and a little knowledge of foods that contain the same nutritive elements as meat, it is entirely possible to work up a list of recipes that will be so satisfying that the meat will not be missed.

In substituting other foods for meat, it must be kept in mind that meat is a protein food, and that only some other protein food can be used in its place. Those most in line are nuts, cheese, eggs and some of the vegetables, especially peas, beans and lentils. Milk is also an almost indispensable part of such a diet.

Perhaps the best way to tell of the foods that can be used in making up a meatless dietary is to give a few such menus.

1. Thin cream of celery soup; scalloped potatoes; spinach; baked and sliced tomato or tomato jelly salad; tapioca pudding.

2. Vegetable 'bouillon'; baked noodles, spinach and cheese; spring salad; fruit bread pudding; coffee.

3. Asparagus timbales; stewed spinach and carrots; buttered potatoes; celery and radish salad; lemon or pineapple pie.

4. Spinach ring with mushrooms; baked potatoes; stuffed pepper; French dressing; whole wheat bread and butter; rhubarb or any fruit—tart.

5. Rice loaf, Creole sauce; spinach; green peas; celery and peanut salad; lemon whip; coffee.

6. Vegetable soufflé with mushrooms and parsley sauce; baked potatoes; buttered cabbage; sweet pickled beets; fruit salad; coffee.

TWO COMBINATION DISHES MADE WITH DRIED FRUITS

Both Are Attractive Desserts, With High Food Value.

Dried apricots and prunes that are used for breakfast should be cooked either on Saturday or on Sunday. You will find that they are much better in flavor if they are soaked over night or for several hours before cooking.

A good proportion is equal parts of prunes and apricots, or one-quarter of a pound of apricots to three-quarters of a pound of prunes. Cook them in the same water in which they have been soaked, heating them very slowly to the boiling point, covering the pan and cooking slowly for not more than one-half hour. At the end of that time add one-half cup of sugar that has been mixed with one teaspoon of flour.

Let the mixture boil two or three minutes and then set aside to cool. This very slight thickening of the fruit juices gives a little more body to the mixture and is much preferred by many people.

One-quarter teaspoon of baking powder may be mixed with the sugar and flour and will tend to somewhat reduce the acidity of the fruit.

Apricot Whip.
Any of the apricot and prune mixture that is left over is utilized in making apricot whip.

This may be made easier with a gelatin base or by cooking the fruit juice with cornstarch, then whipping in stiffly beaten egg whites and the fruit pulp, chilling the mixture thoroughly before serving with the custard sauce.

You'll like the tempting taste of ripe, juicy tomatoes and the spicy tang of the tabasco, blended to produce the inimitable flavor of Brooks Tabasco Catsup. Get it in the distinctive tapered bottle from your

CANDIED SWEET POTATOES CLEAR AND TRANSPARENT

Properly Prepared, They Will Be Solid With a Sugary Syrup.

The success in cooking sweet potatoes in this manner lies perhaps more in slow baking than in anything else.

Some of it, of course, depends on the kind of sweet potatoes, of which there are a large number of varieties. The yams or the deep orange colored sweet potatoes generally cook more readily and are softer than some of the other varieties.

Select medium-sized sweet potatoes, wash thoroughly, cut a small slice off each end, and cook without peeling in boiling, salted water for 20 minutes or until they can be easily pierced with a fork.
Drain, cool and peel.

Cut in half lengthwise and place cut side up in a buttered, shallow baking pan. Sprinkle thickly with brown sugar and dot with small pieces of butter, allowing one-half cup of sugar and two tablespoons of butter for four medium-sized sweet potatoes.

Bake in a slow oven for 30 minutes, basting several times with the sugar and butter mixture as it melts in the pan.

An economy idea long and in foods was applied to soap

K has taught women a new way to judge soap. One that you will want to adopt in your buying, too. Kwiksolv is soap in condensed form... a Palmolive triumph. Just as 60% water is removed in condensing milk, so we now remove 57% air, 20% moisture, from soap. The result is that in one 25c package of Kwiksolv you get over 1½ pounds. That's 2½ times as much as would be possible if Kwiksolv were not condensed. Think of the saving!

Because condensed, Kwiksolv cleans with uncanny speed. A special water-softening agent is included to hasten still more its cleansing action. Thus the soap is left free to do soap's big job, which is to clean.

Condensed soap will win you as a dirt-remover. Badly stained clothes, the soil-line of cuffs and collars, Kwiksolv brings these to gleaming whiteness with a speed that will be new to you. Use this condensed soap just as you would any other: for dishes, cleaning, laundry. It keeps your hands soft and white, powerful detergent though it is.

Now you needn't be out of soap "every few minutes." The Kwiksolv package lasts and lasts. The savings it brings are too great to be ignored. And the way it lightens your work will delight you. At all grocers'.

Our laboratories regard Kwiksolv as their greatest triumph in soap-making

Different Ways Required Make the Two Kinds of Pie Crust

Perhaps it is because pie is acknowledged "Great American Dessert" that the culinary attention of the great majority of housekeepers is to make a pie. Most of them are like the bride who said she could make the filling and it was the crust that bothered her. Those who have not yet achieved their ambition insofar as pie is concerned, the following recipe will help:

There are two main types of crust—the short, tender crust and the crisp, flaky kind. That is the technical classification. Those actually produced vary in variations in between. There are four factors governing the kind of pie crust you make: 1. flour; 2. kind of shortening; 3. method of mixing; 4. temperature of baking.

Pastry flour makes the best crust because it contains less gluten than bread flour. Pastry flour is simply wheat flour milled in a way as to give it a small amount of content.

What Fat to Use. The vegetable oil compounds, soft lard or well clarified animal fat, or any shortening, will do. Readily and thoroughly mix the flour, should be used in the tender pie crust is desired. The kind of a texture depends on thorough distribution of fat throughout the flour and fat should not be secured if a very shortening is used.

A flaky crust, of which the paste is a good example, results from the use of a harder fat. The sort of crust needs a more perfect blending of fat with flour, and small bits of fat always be present in the mixture when the dough is rolled out. making puff paste or any small amount of fat with the flour, and to add the rest in small pieces when rolling the dough. The chilling is also necessary to add the layers of flakiness in the product.

Methods of Mixing. The methods of mixing used for the short, tender crust, a vigorous rubbing together of fat and flour until the mixture is so thoroughly blended that no particles of fat can be seen.

Secondly, in making the crust, about one-fourth of the amount of fat is rubbed into flour, water added to make dough and the remainder of the divided into three parts. The chilled, each part put in a bowl and dotted over the dough and rolled out. The dough is then rolled over the fat and rolled again.

As for baking, the pie should be baked in a hot oven, about 450 degrees.

AN UNUSUAL SALAD MADE OF GREEN PEPPERS AND ONIONS. A Serving Of 10. Plus Dressing.

Two large green peppers, cups fresh boiled rice, one cup grated cheese, one hard-boiled egg, two stuffed olives, two spoons French dressing, one cup mayonnaise and salt per to taste.

Mix the rice, cheese, dressing and chopped green together. Cut the stem off the green peppers, remove seeds and white fiber, dry: the tops are chopped and added to the rice. Fill the peppers into the peppers and firmly; set in cold place.

Line chop plates or individual plates with lettuce; with knife cut each pepper into rings; place on the lettuce. The eggs are chopped and put around the pepper rings; a teaspoon of mayonnaise on top of each ring and an olive stuffed olive (one olive cut in rings).

ONION CHEESE

One pound of Spanish two ounces of Parmesan salt and pepper, one onion, half pint of milk, one of flour and one quart of dry: the tops are chopped and added to the rice. Fill the peppers into the peppers and firmly; set in cold place.

PIE IS THE GREAT AMERICAN DESSERT

Different Ways Required to Make the Two Kinds of Pie Crust.

Perhaps it is because pie is the acknowledged "Great American Dessert" that the culinary ambition of the great majority of housekeepers is to make a perfect pie.

There are two main types of pie crust—the short, tender variety and the crisp, flaky kind. That is the technical classification.

The vegetable oil compounds, soft lard or well-chilled chicken fat, or any shortening that can be readily and thoroughly worked into the flour, should be used if shortening is desired.

A flaky crust, of which, perhaps, the most common is the one made from the use of a harder fat. The perfect crust needs a much more perfect blending of fat with the flour, and small bits of fat should always be present in the mixture.

Methods of Mixing. The methods of mixing used are first, for the short, tender crust, a vigorous rubbing together of the fat and flour until the mixture is so thoroughly blended that no particles of fat can be seen.

Secondly, in making the flaky crust, about one-fourth of the amount of fat is rubbed into the flour, water added to make a dough and the remainder of the fat divided into three parts.

Two large green peppers, two cups fresh boiled rice, one-fourth cup grated cheese, one teaspoon ground onion, two hard-boiled eggs, two stuffed olives, two tablespoons French dressing, one-half cup mayonnaise and salt and pepper to taste.

Mix the rice, cheese, French dressing and chopped green peppers together. Cut the stem ends from the green peppers, remove seeds and wash. Slice the peppers lengthwise to the ribs, fill the ribs with the mixture and set in cold place.

Line chop plates or individual plates with lettuce; lay the stuffed peppers on each, and on a ring of each ring and on a ring of stuffed olive (one olive cut in four rings).

Onion Cheese. One pound of Spanish onions, two ounces of Parmesan cheese, salt and pepper, one ounce of butter, half pint of milk, one cup of flour and one quart of cream.

Butterscotch Meringue Pie

Butterscotch meringue pie is among the delectable favorites; to make it use for the filling, one and one-half cups brown sugar, one and one-half cups water, three tablespoons flour, three tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla and two tablespoons white sugar.

Heat brown sugar and water to boiling point. Pour over sifted flour, cornstarch and white sugar and cook until thick.

Put in hot oven or under broiled to brown.

Every lot is tested by actual baking in our own ovens at the mill.

GOOD CAKE ICING IS A COOK'S AMBITION

It Can Be Mastered by Amateur Cook if Simple Rules Are Observed.

Every housewife would like to pride herself on being an expert cake-maker, and more of them could achieve this ambition if they realized that there are really no deep, dark secrets guarding the door to successful cake making.

Since the success of a cake depends so largely upon the icing, or frosting, call it what you will, I am going to pay most attention to that.

There are two types of icings—cooked and uncooked. Each should, however, meet more or less the same requirements to be successful.

Cooked icings are perhaps a little more difficult to make successfully and for this very reason are the ambition of most amateur cooks.

For a good cooked icing use one and one-half cups of granulated sugar, two teaspoons corn syrup or one-fourth teaspoon of cream of tartar or one teaspoon lemon juice, and two-thirds cup boiling water.

Next week we shall go further into the question of cake icings.

THE FORM OF FOOD EATEN IS A DIGESTIBILITY FACTOR

One Person Can Digest a Type of Food While Another Person Cannot.

Another factor that enters into the digestibility of a food is the form in which it is eaten.

APPLE COOKERY SEASONABLE AFTER THE FIRST FROST

Another attractive apple dessert is apple Charlotte russe. To make it, take one cup heavy cream, one egg white, three tablespoons powdered sugar, one-half teaspoon vanilla, eight lady finger cakes, apple sauce and Maraschino cherries.

LAST CALL TO MAKE
JAM AND MARMALADE

Apples, the Last Fall Fruit, Make Delicious Jellies and Relishes.

Apples make the most delicious jellies, marmalades, butter and spiced relishes. These several recipes will help the housewife who is stocking a preserve closet to add to her store.

Spiced Apples.

Take two cups water, two cups sugar, three pounds apples, rind and pulp of two oranges, one-half teaspoon mace, one-fourth teaspoon cloves, two teaspoons cinnamon and one point and eight raisins. Make a syrup by boiling together for 15 minutes two cups water and two cups sugar. Wash, peel and core apples and chop fine. To the syrup add orange rind and pulp, and spices, and let boil slowly for 10 minutes. Add chopped apples and raisins and cook 15 minutes longer. Turn into sterilized jars and seal at once.

Apple Jelly.

Wash and cut apples in quarters. Barely cover with water, put on cover and let cook, undisturbed until soft throughout; mash and drain through a coarse sieve. Then allow juice to drip through a double thickness of cheesecloth or a jelly bag. Measure juice and let boil 10 minutes and to each quart add three cups sugar. Bring to boiling point and boil until syrup jells, about five minutes. Skim and turn into hot sterilized glasses. When cold cover with melted paraffin.

Apple Butter.

Pare, core and slice the desired quantity of apples. Boil sweet cider until it is reduced one-half. While the cider is boiling add the apples. Cook slowly, stirring constantly. When it begins to thicken add one cup of brown sugar to each two quarts of the butter. Boil until it remains in a smooth mass, when a little is cooled. About a bushel of apples to a gallon of boiled cider will be found to be the right proportion.

Apple Relish.

Three pounds of apples, pared and diced, three pounds sugar, one pound raisins, one pound pecans, two oranges. Remove peeling and put through the meat grinder. Cut orange into small pieces. Cook for one hour, adding the nuts five minutes before removing from the fire. Turn into sterilized jars and seal at once.

Apple Mint Jelly.

Cut apples in quarters and put in a kettle. Add almost enough cold water to cover the fruit and cook slowly until soft. Drain without pressure through a jelly bag or cheesecloth. Measure juice, boil 20 minutes, add two-thirds as much sugar and boil five minutes or until the mixture shows the jelly test. Measure. For every cupful of jelly add two teaspoons of mint extract. Color green with fruit coloring and pour into sterilized glasses.

SUCCESS OF SUNSHINE CAKE DEPENDS UPON THE BAKING

Master the Trick of Cooking This Type of Cake.

Much of the success of sunshine or any other type of sponge cake depends upon the baking. The tin should not be greased. The sides should be dry, so that the mixture may be supported by clinging to them as it rises.

The cake requires slow cooking, the proper temperature being 300 to 350 degrees Fahrenheit for loaf cake and 340 to 360 degrees Fahrenheit for a sheet sponge cake.

If baked at a higher temperature a tough crust forms on the outside of the cake before it has raised as much as it should, while the inside remains uncooked.

When the cake is a light brown and springs back when pressed with the finger, it is done. Remove to the cake cooler, invert and allow it to stand until the cake is cool, when it may be removed from the tin.

HOT STUFFED BEETS

Not a Salad But a Vegetable Dish Suitable for Dinner.

Six medium-sized beets, one cooked carrot, one cup peas, four tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper. Scrub beets clean; cover with scalding water and boil gently until tender, from 25 minutes to two hours. Plunge into cold water to remove skins.

With a pointed knife carefully cut out centers. Chop fine beet centers and cooked carrot; add peas with butter and seasonings and reheat, then refill beet shells.

Apple Punch.

Tight cups of cold water, seven large apples, which have been cored, quartered, but not pared. Add to this a cup of raisins, a few bay leaves, stick of cinnamon, the grated rind and juice of three lemons. After this is boiled add eight cups more of cold water. Boil three-quarters of an hour and drain. Add two pounds of sugar and the juice of two lemons; stir until dissolved. Add a dozen maraschino cherries, some skinned and seedless raisins and serve in punch cups.

Salad-Making Hint.

Don't put the dressing on the salad until immediately before serving. Otherwise, it will wilt the greens.

Broiled Steak Seasonable.

Broiled steak is always popular and is one of the best and most satisfying meat dishes to use for a meal.

OLIVE OIL HAS USES OF GREAT DIVERSITY

It Is An Age-Old Product Featured by the Ancient Epicures.

There are numerous brands of olive oil on the market that are imported from France, Italy and Spain and there are also brands of olive oil made from the olives grown in our own country in California. The selection of any brand is usually a matter of individual taste.

If you do not know which you want, buy small cans of the different kinds and try them out until you find one that suits your taste. Pure olive oil is, of course, made from the pressed olives. When the fruit is ripe it is picked, usually by hand, and carried to the mill or press in baskets. The amount of oil in the fruit varies considerably. Green olives are used, as we know them, for appetizers, the fruit being picked green, soaked in an alkaline bath for a few hours, then thoroughly rinsed, packed in bottles and filled with brine.

Olive oil was formerly considered a decidedly luxurious article and could only be used by the very wealthy, chiefly as an article of toilet. The Greeks used olive oil as an important part of their diet as well as for its external use in anointing the body. The Romans also employed it largely in cooking food—only the wealthy, however. Nowadays olive oil is well within the reach of most of us and is used perhaps more as a food than for toilet purposes. There are various qualities of olive oil. After the fruit is taken to the mill, it is crushed and pressed to extract the oil. The first oil pressed out is known as the virgin olive oil and is the best quality to use for cooking or for table purposes. Other pressings or extractions are used for lubricating oil and for making of candle and other soaps. The pulp that is left after all the oil is pressed out is used for fuel and fertilizer.

Olive oil today is used for many purposes. Perhaps chiefly so far as cooking is concerned in the making of salad dressings. It can, however, be used for frying—especially for fish to which it gives a delicious flavor.

Lamb Shortcakes.

This is made by chopping the meat through the meat chopper, mixing with any leftover gravy and adding, if necessary, one cup of white sauce seasoned with lemon juice, minced parsley and a little Worcestershire sauce. This is made very hot and served over baking powder biscuits split in half.

Fried Cauliflower.

Cut into slices, cold cooked cauliflower, dip in egg and bread crumbs and fry in hot fat in a shallow pan until brown on both sides. Place in a baking dish, cover with tomato sauce, sprinkle with bread crumbs and bake about ten minutes in a hot oven. Fresh vegetables may be served with brown gravy and not baked.

TO MOVE TO ST. LOUIS

$11,000,000 Concern, Employing 400 Persons, Decides to Leave Des Moines

The Southern Surety Co., which employs 400 persons, has decided to move its general offices from Des Moines, Ia., to St. Louis.

The company has leased, through the Isaac T. Cook Co., agents, the twelfth floor of the Paul Brown Building, and expects to open offices there shortly after Dec. 1. The lease is for a long term and involves about $400,000.

The company is known now as the Southern Surety Co. of New York, having been recently incorporated under the laws of New York, and has increased its capital to $2,500,000 with a surplus of $1,700,000. The company has assets of more than $11,000,000, which consist principally of cash, bonds and stocks.

Plans are under way for the organization of a fire insurance company with a capital of $1,000,000 and a surplus of $2,000,000, to be under the control and management of the directors and officers of the Southern Surety Co.

Officers of Southern Surety are: Norman R. Moray, president; F. A. Ungles, J. H. Huckleberry, Roy Armstrong, D. D. Smith and W. W. Powell, vice presidents; E. G. Davis, secretary, and J. T. Price, treasurer. Lon W. Harlow is vice president in charge of the St. Louis agency.

Future investments will be under the direction of President Moray, C. S. Cobb, chairman of the Executive Committee; C. S. Sargent Jr. of Kinder, Peabody & Co., New York; Rogers Caldwell, president of Caldwell & Co., Nashville, and Treasurer Price.

18 DEAD AS RESULT OF SHOE FACTORY EXPLOSION, 4 HURT

By the Associated Press.
LYNN, Mass., Nov. 9.—Eighteen persons are dead and four others are in a serious condition at the Lynn Hospital as a result of the explosion and fire which destroyed the plant of the Preble Box Toe Co. and damaged six nearby dwellings in East Lynn yesterday.

Twelve of the victims were killed outright by the explosion or burned to death in the fire which followed it. Six others died after being taken to the hospital.

Six of the dead and one of those now at the hospital were members of the family of Harry Blaney, who lived in a two-tenement house within 10 feet of the rear of the plant. His wife, Mrs. Lillian Blaney, and four of their children were burned to death in the fire which swept their home after the explosion. These children were Thelma, 13 years old; Arthur, 10; Helen, 7, and Harriet, six months. Another Blaney child, Vivian, 15, was rescued from the burning house but died a few hours later at the hospital. The father was in a serious condition at the hospital. Two other members of the family, Harry Jr., 17, and Norman, 14, were also taken to the hospital and were discharged after treatment.

REHEARING GRANTED TO CITY ON AIRPORT BOND ISSUE

Supreme Court in Recent Decision Declared Vote of Aug. 7 Was Invalid.

The State Supreme Court today granted the motion of the City of St. Louis for rehearing of the suit involving the validity of the vote for a $2,000,000 airport bond issue, taken Aug. 7. The Court decided recently that the election was invalid, because no proper registration was held in preparation for it. A registration was held for the primary, held at the same time, but the notices for this registration said nothing about the bond issue vote. The Court, in its decision, held this defect to be fatal.

The case will be argued on rehearing, Nov. 19. City Counselor Muench said, in a telephone message to his office.

If the Court, on rehearing, maintains its previous decision, a new vote will be taken on the airport matter.

21 MORE PHILADELPHIA POLICEMEN FACE INDICTMENT

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—Bills of indictment charging 21 policemen with bribery were ready today for presentation to the regular grand jury.

The bills of indictment against the 21 policemen contain 567 counts charging bribery, extortion and conspiracy. All of the officers were involved in testimony by Joseph Clearfield, who declared at a preliminary hearing that he had paid them weekly for protection.

FIRE BLOCKS OLIVE ST. ROAD

Fire which destroyed the frame residence of H. D. Henderson, 6215 Olive boulevard, University City, with a loss of $4000, attracted hundreds of spectators and caused a traffic jam on Olive Street road between 9 and 10 o'clock last night.

The crowd remained at the scene after the flames had burned out, to watch youths of the neighborhood induce unsuspecting friends to lean against a metal building next door, which had become charged with electricity from wires falling from the burning building. Police had to stop the entertainment before traffic could be cleared.

The Loyola University Ramblers of Chicago and the St. Louis University Billikens should provide a very interesting football game at Sportsman's Park tomorrow afternoon in the only local collegiate contest.

In the first place, the teams are about evenly matched in weight, both averaging a little less than 170 pounds. Secondly, in five previous meetings of the eleven only one game was decided by a greater margin than a single touchdown and that was when the Billikens won a 19-0 victory at Soldier Field in Chicago last year. There will be no element of overconfidence on the part of either team because a Billiken scout saw the Ramblers lose a last-minute 12-7 decision to Dayton, which held Detroit to a 7-0 score, while Dan Lamont, the Loyola coach, watched "Frank" Anderson's team at its best against Creighton.

St. Louis is weakened by the loss of three valuable men—Joe Linzenich, "Frip" Joseph, and "Snakes" Caselle, all inactive because of injuries received last Saturday. Loyola, according to advance reports, also suffers from injuries although its first string lineup is expected to be ready to start the game. Downs, star halfback of the Chicagoans, returned to practice this week to find his position well handled by Les McElroy who ran 62 yards for a touchdown against Dayton last week. Lawless, the veteran fullback, a fine line plunger, is in good condition to brighten the Ramblers' hopes.

Dirnberger at Fullback.
The St. Louis lineup is rather indefinite but Coach Anderson announced his intention after practice yesterday of starting Capt. "Doc" Dirnberger at Linzenich's fullback position instead of one of the new men whom he has been grooming this week. Jim Stringfellow, the reserve lineman, who was used at that position this week again impressed the coaches with his work in the first team's only scrimmage of the week and he is almost certain to break into the game. Dirnberger, however, handled the fullback job well in the early games and was a consistent ground gainer.

Tony Kimmell is the probable starter at Dirnberger's right half and the other halfback position will be shared by Charley Eaton and Jack Joyce, the Billikens' passing star. Saul Naidorf, the 144-pound quarterback, will call signals in the opening lineup instead of Bill Parilla, according to Anderson.

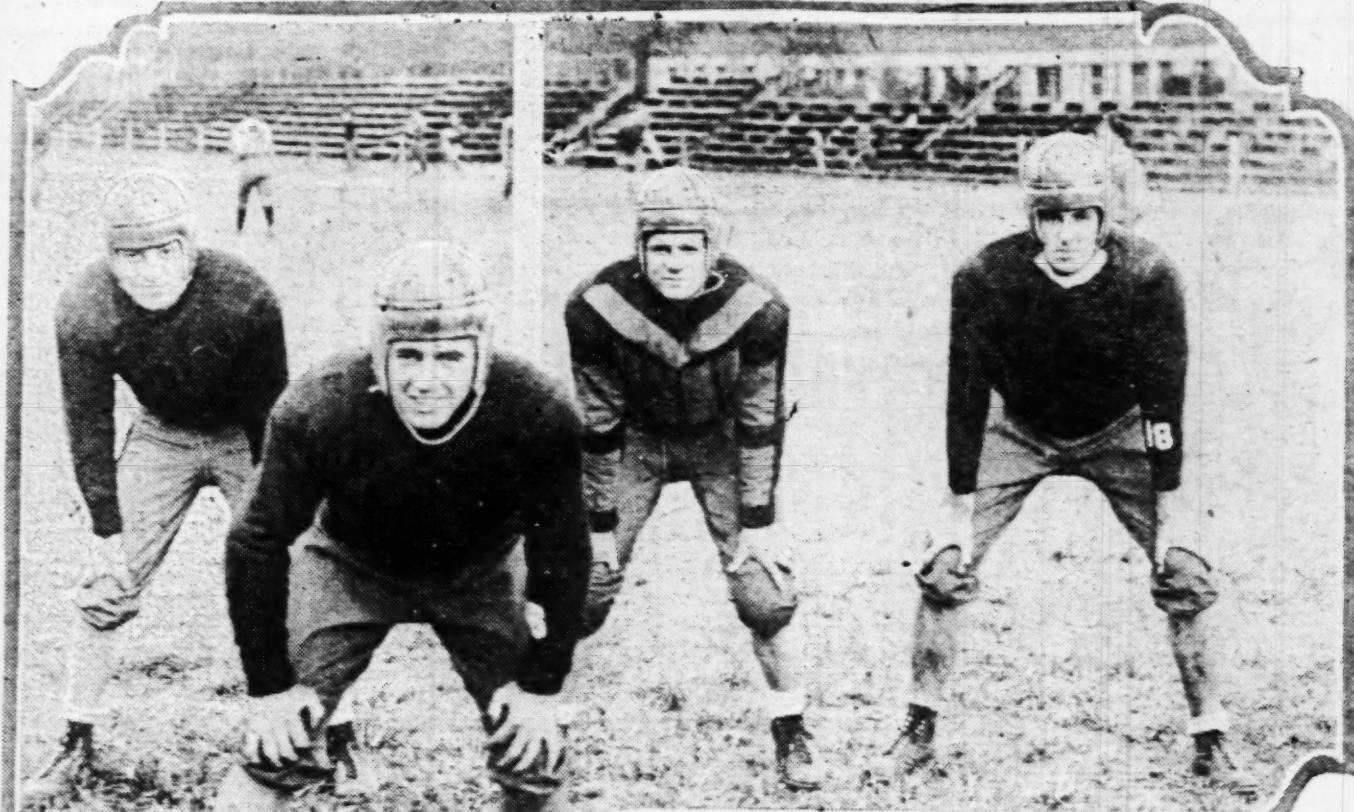

Two new men will also see action on the line. Lyle Drury, a veteran of last season, has been improving consistently and is likely to replace Ford Brown at left end. However, Brown will be used if Charley Eaton encounters any trouble with the punt. Brown is one of the best kickers on the squad and has been doing most of the booting this season. Rufus Schultz may get a chance to start at the tackle left vacant by Joseph but Barney Miller will alternate at that position. Schultz never played football before this year but he has been learning fast and Anderson believes he is ripe to stop the Loyola plays in his direction.

To Employ Passing Attack.
Anderson continued to stress an aerial offense in practice and the Billikens are not likely to wait until the last few minutes to open up with an overhead attack. Anderson has given his men several new plays which were executed in good style in scrimmage.

On the basis of past performances, Loyola apparently owns a slight edge over the Billikens. St. Louis took a 23-0 trouncing from Detroit and the Ramblers figure much better than that by virtue of their 12-7 game against Dayton which gave the Titans their hardest opposition of the season. Loyola's record also includes a 6-0 defeat by the Haskell Indians who defeated Washington University, 7 to 6. In an earlier game, Lamont's team won a 26-0 victory over Lombard College. The Billikens have only their 14-6 defeat of Creighton to recommend them, having lost two of the other games, won two, and tied one. The local victories were scored over Rolla and the Peru Teachers, neither particularly strong opponents.

Tomorrow's game will start at 2 o'clock as will also the remaining games on the schedule. The tickets for the Loyola contest tomorrow erroneously give the starting time as 2:30 p. m.

"Shock Troops" of Loyola University's Eleven

Soldan-Beaumont Loser Is Likely to Be Eliminated As Contender for Honors

By Harold Tu-hill

Tomorrow afternoon two of the choice football games of the year in the City High School League will be on view when Soldan tackles Beaumont in the first contest at 1 p. m., and Cleveland and Roosevelt struggle for the South Side honors, beginning at 2 p. m. Central draws a bye.

A defeat for either Beaumont or Soldan will practically eliminate the loser from the race, because the quality of the other teams is such as to make a tie for final honors virtually impossible. If Soldan wins from Beaumont, it has only Roosevelt to block its path to the championship. If Beaumont defeats Soldan it should have little trouble downing Roosevelt and Central.
To continue the conjectures, if Roosevelt subdues Cleveland, the Rough Riders will maintain their perfect average and remain in the running. If Roosevelt is on the short end of the score, it will have to meet Soldan and Beaumont, both of which have already won from Cleveland. Whatever the outcome of the games, the tense nature of the campaign will do much toward making an interesting football program.

Cleveland Lineup Shifted.
Since Bert Penzance has decided that Cleveland will use the forward pass as a chief means of gaining ground, he has shifted the Carondelet school's backfield, so that McLaughlin, a newcomer to the eleven, will be the fullback with Bernhardt and Bill Savage, halfbacks, and Thompson, quarterback. Wilson, who played in the backfield last week, has been moved to his old position at center.

The recovery of Coach Lee Carson's crutches will permit the full strength of Roosevelt to be available for the first time this season. Roosevelt was fortunate in that it drew Central for the opening game, at a time when Roosevelt's squad was not in the best of condition. The week's rest which Roosevelt had last week enabled all of the regulars to overcome their ailments.

There are many who agree with Coach Jim Cook that Soldan has displayed enough ability in its previous games that few, if any, changes are necessary. The only alteration in the Soldan line will be Minkey at end in place of Heilmich and McHenry at guard instead of Bill Bray. The Soldan backfield will remain intact.

Teams Closely Matched.
Coach Raymond Lewis feels that after Beaumont's excellent showing against Cleveland, he could make no improvements on his eleven. Those on Beaumont's squad who have been limping because of bruises received last week have recovered and the North End school will be in top form to oppose Soldan.

The relatively equal strength of each team in all departments of attack and defense makes any predictions as to the probable victors decidedly hazardous.

STEIN AND LAMBERT LEAD IN PIN MATCH

Wooster Lambert and Otto Stein Jr. gained an 82 pin lead over Roy Fuit and Tom Hefton, representing the St. Clair Recreation Alleys in East St. Louis, in the first half of their ten-game special intercity match at the Washington Alleys yesterday.

Stein led the quartet with a total of 1029 for the five games, an average of 205.8, which combined with Lambert's 292 score gave the local pair a grand total of 2322 pins, while Hefton and Fuit, with 275 and 973 respectively, totaled 1248. Stein's 253 game in the second game and Lambert's 245 in the next were the high spots of the block.

The final five games will be rolled at the St. Clair Alleys in East St. Louis next Wednesday.

DROZ GAINS VICTORY IN INDOOR BIKE RACE

Louis Droz was the winner of the mile race in the dual bicycle event between the St. Louis and Century Cycling clubs held on indoor rollers at the Architectural Club Hall last night. Droz won in 1:12. Joe Fay was second and E. Kennison third. Droz won his heat in 1:10. Fay negotiated the distance in 1:19 and Kennison in 1:26.
Joseph Martin rode a third-mile sprint in 23 seconds.

TWO CHICAGO STARS TO JOIN ST. LOUIS TEAM

By W. J. McGoogan.

Two of the men now training here with the Chicago Black Hawks of the American Division of the National Ice Hockey League will be transferred to the St. Louis team today, probably after the morning workout and they will be eligible to play with St. Louis against the Black Hawks tomorrow night.

It was learned from an authoritative source that the deal for the two men, a straight cash transaction, has been completed.
With the acquisition of these players the St. Louis squad will be filled up and will go ahead with its training for the opening of the American Association here against Minneapolis, Nov. 27. Tomorrow and Monday night the contests against the Black Hawks will be exhibitions for there is as much difference between the American Association and the National League in ice hockey as there is between the two leagues with the same name in baseball.

Blacks Score Four Goals.

The Black Hawks gave a 15-minute exhibition at the Winter Garden last night before a large crowd. Two teams of Hawks, styled the Blacks and the Whites, whirled around the ice and showed the prospective fans how the game is played. The Blacks scored four goals in the one period. Duke Keats and Gotschke each putting two shots into the net.

While the play was not nearly so rough as may be expected in a league match it was fast and pleasing to the spectators.
The Hawks will line up tomorrow night with Gardner in goal. Cyclone Wentworth and Bouncer Taylor, defense, Keats at center, Burns left wing and Vic Irvin, captain, right wing. For reserves, they will have Clem Loughlin, Ty Arbor, Alec McKennon and Ripley Vaughn to play goal.

Anderson, the St. Louis goalie, who was injured in practice is likely to miss the starting whistle against the Hawks. If he is unable to play Bill Vaughn will be in the goal.

Hornsby Is Ready to Play in Contest With Drake Team Tomorrow

By Jerry Bernoudy

Determined to make a strong bid to rid themselves of the "D" that has hovered over them in their past two games, Washington University's football squad, 26 strong, departed last night for Des Moines, where they will engage the strong Drake team, conquerors of the Missouri Tigers, in a Valley grid game tomorrow afternoon. The Bears are scheduled to work out this afternoon in the Bulldog stadium.

Dr. Sharpe's team went through a short practice on Francis Field yesterday. The Bruins gave every evidence of being in a confident frame of mind despite the reversals which they have met in their last two battles. All the injured men including Kurz, Berlinger, Jablonsky, and Hornsby participated in the session, but the ability of the first three to play tomorrow will not be determined until after today's practice. Hornsby, regular halfback, is fully recovered from the knock he received in the Haskell game, however, and will take his place in the starting lineup unless Dr. Sharpe decides to use Duncan, Rawdon, Bickel, and Whittier as his regulars.

The Bears have devoted the greater part of the week to the development of their offense which has been far below the defensive brand of play the team has exhibited. Dr. Sharpe has worked on all phases, so it is not likely that the Bruins will resort to one type of attack as a means of advancing.

The green jerseyed players are particularly anxious to take the Bulldogs into tow tomorrow as it would add considerably to their prestige, owing chiefly to the fact that Drake defeated Missouri 6-9 Saturday and in a victory by Washington would be hailed as ample evidence of superiority over the team.

Workers have been busy in the track this week conditioning for the arrival of two carloads of thoroughbreds from the Empire track tomorrow. It was expected the oval would be in condition for the first allotment of horses to begin light exercises on their arrival.

Flame Games in Prospect.
Chicago showed fine improvement last week-end and will cause Wisconsin to feel of trouble. However, I cannot see anything but Wisconsin win. Stag's cripple are all back in the lineup and Badger fans who are looking for a one-sided contest will be in for a rude shock. Chicago should play Wisconsin a great game of football but will not have enough wins.

The Purdue-Northwestern game at Evanston should be a corker. Football technicians may see in it a contest between the Warner system and the Notre Dame system. Northwestern's record is encouraging by their fine showing against Minnesota and looking back to the fact that Minnesota beat Purdue, might be inclined to feel that there is a doubt about a Northwestern victory. Looking the odds right now, the game, however, I believe Purdue will win. The margin of difference will be very little. Both Dick Harney and Jimmy Phelan have done fine jobs this year but in the analysis it will be a contest between the individual abilities of Welch and Holmer. I believe the "best" from Texas has a shade of the Purple warrior.

Navy Should Beat Michigan.
The Michigan-Navy game will lack the color of previous meetings owing to the fact that both teams have not had their usual good weather. As it is, I am inclined to favor the Navy to win. The Navy attack is beginning to show signs of functioning on all cylinders and is more versatile than the Michigan attack. Michigan has a danger of long pass attack but Bill Ingalls will no doubt concentrate against this, as he has the past two years. Navy has a man named Lloyd who if he ever makes up his mind to play football is good enough to ruin anybody's football team. Saturday may be his day.

Illinois comes to Indianapolis to open Butler's new stadium. Although Butler is much stronger than it has been in past years, Illinois should not have any trouble in winning.

Kansas looks to be just an ordinary football team this year. The Jayhawkers journey to Milwaukee to play Marquette and while Marquette has not been particularly impressive yet it has the edge mainly because of its star halfback, Gebert.

Nebraska is entirely too strong for Oklahoma and Drake should win from Washington at Duquesne.

The Missouri Tigers travel to Manhattan to play Kansas Aggies in another Big Six engagement. The Missouri Tiger has not been very impressive so far, but the material is there and I look for Gwynn Moore's boys to snap out of it Saturday.

Notre Dame Has Hard Task.
Notre Dame journeys to New York City, determined to give West Point more of a football game than the dopesters figure. On paper West Point outclasses Notre Dame with one of the greatest football teams in its history. The Notre Dame team is rather tired from a hard schedule but even so, I believe the boys will rise up and make it at least fairly interesting.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 9.—The results so far this season are more evenly matched than are, this year, represented by the game, there isn't a single weak team there any outstanding team.

Anyone who thinks he can win this game has more sense than I have. It is my opinion that anything may happen between now and the last whistle. Look out for some more upsets. The two undefeated teams, Ohio and Iowa, meet at Columbus, Ohio, Saturday. I am picking Iowa to win. I consider Ohio a very strong team, but they played their hearts out against Princeton Saturday, while Iowa was storing up energy in a day game. Furthermore, Iowa has a sort of Indian sign on its back and I am a great believer in Omikashi. It should be a great football game. Doc Spears' Minnesota juggernaut, posed out in two different games by a margin of one point, entertained Indiana at Minneapolis. There should be plenty of fun in this. Doc Spears has not forgotten that the only blemish on his Big Ten record last year was an unexpected tie at the hands of the "D" team.

ROCKNE PICKS IOWA OVER OHIO; PURDUE TO BEAT NORTHWESTERN

BELIEVES ARMY ELEVEN WILL HAVE AN EASY TIME AGAINST NOTRE DAME TEAM, TOMORROW

By Knute Rockne.
Notre Dame Football Coach.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 8.—In regard to the Western Conference, the results so far this season seem to indicate that the Big Ten teams are more evenly matched than ever. The chronic weak sisters are, this year, represented by strong teams. In fact, as far as I can see, there isn't a single weak team in the organization. Neither is there any outstanding team.

Anyone who thinks he can pick the winner of the Big Ten race at this stage of the game has more sense than I have. It is my opinion that anything may happen between the last whistle and the last kick. Look out for some more upsets. The two undefeated teams, Ohio and Iowa, meet at Columbus, Ohio, tomorrow. I am picking Iowa to win. I consider Ohio a very strong team, but they played their hearts out against Princeton Saturday, while Iowa was storing up energy in an easy game. Furthermore, Iowa has a sort of Indian sign on Ohio and I am a great believer in jinxes. It should be a great football game. Doc Spears' Minnesota juggernaut, posed out in two different games by a margin of one point, certainly indicates that Minnesota should be plenty of fry-frying. Doc Spears has not forgotten that the only blemish on his Big Ten record last year was the unexpected tie at the hands of Pat Page's aggregation at Bloomington. If Spears' team can get back in a football game this week at Minneapolis that will be intensely masculine and virile.

Pine Games in Prospect.

Chicago showed fine improvement last week-end and will cause Wisconsin lots of trouble. However, I cannot see anything but a Wisconsin win. Stagg's cripples are all back in the lineup and any Badger fans who are looking for a one-sided contest will be in for a rude shock. Northwestern's victory encouraged by their fine showing against Minnesota and looking back to the fact that Minnesota beat Purdue, might be inclined to feel that there is no doubt about a Northwestern victory. Looking the dope right in the face, however, I believe Purdue will win. The margin of difference will be very little. Both Dick Hanley and Jimmy Phelan have done fine jobs this year but in the final analysis it will be a contest between the individual abilities of the two teams. I believe the "pet" from Texas has a shade on the Purple warrior.

Navy Should Beat Michigan.

The Michigan-Navy game will lack the color of previous meetings owing to the fact that both teams have not had their usual good seasons. As it is, I am inclined to favor the Navy to win. The Navy attack is beginning to show signs of functioning on all cylinders and is more versatile than the Michigan attack. Michigan has a dangerous long pass attack but Bill Ingram will no doubt concentrate against this, as he has the past two years. # BIG DRIVE ON BOB WHITE TO OPEN SATURDAY

The big drive on Bob White will start in Missouri and Illinois Saturday. The quail season opens then and in Missouri will continue until Dec. 31, while in Illinois the open season extends to and including Dec. 10.

At the City Hall where licenses are issued to participate in the big drive, 903 persons have paid $2.50 each since Nov. 1. This pays for a hunting and fishing license with privilege in all counties of the State. Licenses to hunt in St. Louis County cost only one dollar. Licenses for non-residents of Missouri to hunt in the State cost $1.

To date this year 15,632 hunting and fishing licenses have been issued here.

In Illinois the resident hunting license costs one dollar and the cost to non-residents is $1.50. In Missouri the daily limit is 10 birds to each hunter and the bag limit is 15. That is a person legally cannot have more than 15 birds in his possession at one time.

In Illinois the daily limit is 12 and a hunter can have 35 in his possession legally after three days of the season have expired.

Reports from Missouri fields are that the sport will be good this year. Keith McCane, Missouri Game and Fish Commissioner, has stated that indications point to an unusually good quail season.

In Illinois the reports have not been so good, though in some sections the birds are said to be plentiful. Winton Barker, St. Louis sportsman, who does much of his bird hunting in Illinois, says his friends have informed him that the birds are going to be hard to find because of the unusually heavy underbrush.

Fifty thousand hunting licenses will be sold during the next 30 days, according to Keith McCane, State Game and Fish Commissioner at Jefferson City. This is the busiest season of the year for the hunter, with the opening of the quail season tomorrow, wild turkey and fur-bearing seasons on Dec. 1, in addition to the duck and goose season which is already open, and the rabbit shooting for which there is no closed period.

Last year over 250,424 hunting and fishing licenses were issued. A tabulation in the Game and Fish Department shows that there are yet 50,000 hunters who have not purchased this year's hunting license.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Bill Not Worried

BILL TILDEN, now barred from amateur tennis tournaments by 35 nations, probably will be doing business at the same old stand next summer.

Bill's application for reinstatement will be brought up next February. Since his only offense is a more or less conventional one, as such things are considered today, and as there is considerable doubt whether Bill intended any wrong, it is probable that he will be reinstated.

There are those who think that as Bill has been earning a modest livelihood of from $10,000 to $25,000 annually out of his amateur tennis reputation, he is, in fact, a professional and that therefore he will not be reinstated.

We must remember that Bill is not on trial for anything but one specific offense, which is pretty well outlined. The United States Lawn Tennis Association, having declared his previous activities while under ban, cannot bring ex post facto stuff out of the moth balls. The U. S. L. T. A. already is committed to approval of Tilden's previous career. The only question is did Bill misunderstand instructions regarding writing about the 1924 Wimbledon tourney? Taken by itself the incident deserves only a suspension, not permanent professionalization. Bill has paid his penalty and will doubtless be put on the cured list.

The Lawn Tennis Association owes him that. Bill has done more for the Lawn Tennis Association than it can hope to do for him.

Hockey Comes Back

ST. LOUIS will have its first opportunity, tomorrow night, to see a sport that has been viewed here only at rare intervals in the past 25 years—professional hockey.

The big league hockey game of today will prove a real thrill, as it is full of action and spills and is genuinely dangerous.

Elsewhere the game has been built up to a point where the players are almost as well rewarded as major league baseball stars. The average of the St. Louis team's hockey players will be around $2000 a season, although the local fix belongs to a secondary organization.

St. Louis, in the past, has dipped into league hockey. More than two decades ago Bob Gillespie put a team in the field which played in the major circuit, holding its games at the old Crystal Rink, Cook and Channing avenues. Several local players "made" the team, in those days, and they held up their front very well against the strong clubs of the Middle West, most of which were filled out with imported talent.

Today there is scarcely an American player to be found on

86,000 Persons Will See Army and Notre Dame Battle

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. THE Yankee Stadium will hold a record-breaking metropolitan crowd of 86,000 for the Army-Notre Dame game tomorrow, according to official announcement.

This makes the big ball park the largest for football in the East, exceeding the capacity of Franklin Field, home of the University of Pennsylvania, as well as Yale bowl.

The Army-Notre Dame is a sell-out for the fourth year in succession, with wagers on the outcome favoring the Cadets at odds ranging from 3 to 2 to 2 to 1.

SOUTH NEW YORK BODY WITHDRAWS FROM U.S.F.A.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—With both sides facing comparative starvation in the Eastern soccer realm, the pro soccer war goes on apace. Owing to the defection of his club's following, Charlie Stoneham, chief owner of the New York Giants of baseball, has moved his national championship soccer team, the New York Nationals, out of the Polo Grounds to Inisfaul Park, a newly completed enclosed stadium on the southwestern fringe of Van Cortlandt Park at 240th street and Broadway. The stands will accommodate but 15,000 and a soccer crowd there is better bunched than in the big baseball park.

Meantime, the outlawed American League, from which the New York Giants, Newark and the one-time champion Bethlehem Steel F. C. went over to the freshly organized and United States Football Association-sanctioned Eastern Soccer League, plan to add two more clubs to its circuit, re-established on an eight-club basis by the addition of a Philadelphia club.

The outlaws now plan to place a club in Newark and to launch a Jewish club in Brooklyn to counter-act the New York Hakoahs, largely comprised of former Brooklyn Wanderers, New York Nationals and New York Giant players, formerly with the noted Vienna Hakoah eleven, which packed a lot of ball parks on its first American tour several years back.

The Executive Committee of the United States Football Association, planning to reform the Southern New York Football Association, which withdrew from the national governing body in support of the American League following its expulsion, has appointed a committee to canvass the territory and report back in two weeks. Heading the committee is Dr. G. Randolph Manning, first president of the United States Football Association and one time arch foe of Tom Cahill, United States Football Association's guiding genius, who is leading the current battle on the insurgents.

Representing seven leagues formerly in the Southern New York body, 125 clubs have decided to remain without the pale of so-called organized soccer in the war on the national association, and have formed with the American League a State organization which is headed by Nathan Agar, chief owner of the Brooklyn Wanderers, on the other occasion.

Baseball Season Of 1929 to Open Later, Says Heydler

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. NDRS, present plans, the major league baseball campaigns will start a week later in 1929 than they did this year.

John Heydler, president of the National League, said it was expected to open the season in both leagues on April 15 and close on Sept. 29.

The 1928 season opened on April 11 and closed Sept. 29, but weather conditions, especially in the East, cancelled any advantages there might have been in the early opening.

SUSPENSION OF JACK TIPPETT IS LIFTED

By Damon Kerby.

The suspension of Matchmaker Jack Tippet, of the Fred W. Stockham Post of the American Legion, was lifted today by Maj. E. N. Handian, chief boxing inspector of the St. Louis district. Tippet was indefinitely banned by the State Commission as a result of three minors appearing in the ring on the last fight card at the Coliseum two weeks ago.

Two of the minors, age 5, gave an exhibition of the fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, while the third, age 7, was referee. They were rewarded with a money shower.

Maj. Handian said that the State Commission recognized that the fact that the boys appeared in the exhibition was not a terrible offense, but that the board did want organizations promoting fights and promoters and matchmakers to understand that the rules of the commission were to be obeyed.

Tippet said he would take over the matchmaking of the "Peewee" Kaiser-Joe Rivers fight card of Nov. 19, at once. This duty has been in the hands of Al Kammann, a member of the Stockham Post boxing committee, since the suspension of Tippet.

The Stockham Post matchmaker expects to sign Milton Manguna of New Orleans today for a 10-round bout with Dugan Layton of Springfield, Mo. Manguna will be signed through his local representative, Ed Brady.

If you have good arches, you are very fortunate. You will be still more fortunate if you can keep them in good condition and prevent the arch difficulties to which men of this age are heir. The proper fitting of this new shoe is a service we are glad to render. Selz Archlast models have a fine custom style and are made of imported brown and black calfskins - also grained leathers. ## THE WAY —OF— A WOMAN

—By—
Marguerite Mooers Marshall

THE RIGHTS OF A CHILD.

"MOTHERS," solemnly enjoins Mrs. Bertrand Russell, English educator and wife of the philosopher, "part with your babies. Abolish the home. What I mean by abolishing the home is bringing up the children away from the influence of the parents. I think that influence is a bad thing for them. With the provision made by modern civilization a child is able to leave its mother at the age of 2."

"It is a serious question," as solemnly opines Dr. John B. Watson, behaviorist and author of "The Psychological Care of Infant and Child," "whether there should be individual homes for children or even whether children should know their own parents."

Dr. Watson, less of an optimist than Mrs. Russell, admits that the motherless child, the child whose home are universal ideas which will not live to see realized. So he compromises by urging that children refrain from kissing their children, except once in a way on the forehead, and that fathers never take their children on their knees.

At this point, every real mother of a real youngster is registering scorn and indignation with every feature of her mobile countenance. Every fond American father is vocalizing his profane personal opinion of the "new" child culture. Nor can we blame them. Even though we be branded as "hopelessly old-fashioned" by all modern authorities on the bringing up of children, we insist—and we think it's time for somebody to insist—that every child has the right to its own settled, comfortable, happy home with its own kissing, scolding, working, worrying, loving parents. An unkind baby seems to us a far more pathetic spectacle than one that is kissed too much. While parking a 2-year-old child at a school run by highly scientific strangers may be good for a mother's bridge technique we don't believe it's good for the child.

SO MANY of the "scientific methods" recommended to modern motherhood just seem to us ways of ducking responsibility. The mothers who swallow this sort of propaganda are fooling themselves. They are thinking, subconsciously, in terms of their own comfort rather than of what is best for their babies.

Heaven knows, it's not an easy job for an intelligent, high-strung woman to take all the care of one or more small children: the never-ending tedious physical care and the far more tedious adjustment of a mature mind to the incessant activity of an immature mind. The woman who loves her youngsters does indeed get much enjoyment from them, but she also—if she is both sensitive and candid—must admit that she suffers much weariness and irritation on their account. Nevertheless, they are here—and who is she to dodge the dull with the sweet of motherhood?

If a woman is a good soldier, there are hard things she has to do in life. One of them is taking the best possible care of her little children, provided she decides to bring them into the world.

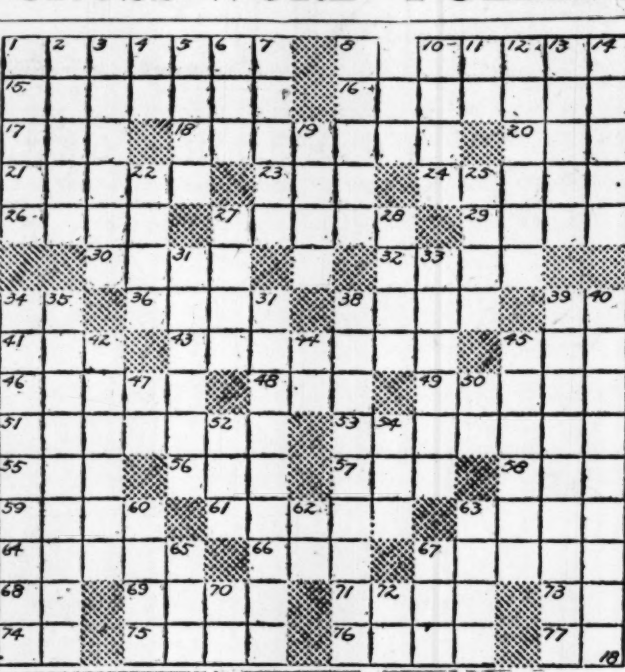

HOW a child needs a home of its own—an established place with the same mother and father, with an "own room" charmingly decorated and furnished, with a kitten or a puppy or both, with a yard (if possible), with simple clothes and playthings and amusements, with the society of other children—how this natural nest is the first and chiefest of children's rights, may be brought home by observing, in life or books, the homeless children.

Perhaps they are babies sent away to school, or those living in hotels, or orphans in asylums; or perhaps they are unchildlike children forced too early into the world's illimitable. Such a pathetically precocious little girl tells her own story so that they who run may read, in Grace Perkins' original and interesting novel of the stage child on the road, "Angel Child." The warmth of mother and father-love that is to children what air is to plants—how can any woman convince herself that the kisses, homeless new pedagogy offers anything better for her children?

Naturally, the wise mother uses her mind as well as her heart in bringing up her children; mothering with her doesn't mean smothering. But she is sure—that her child is her job, that her home is by rights their home—and that her kisses are their rights also. Suppose a child is "able to leave its mother at the age of two"—what mother, with a heart and a conscience, is able to leave that child?

To damped a dainty blouse or dress evenly wring a towel from water, roll the garment tightly in this and leave it 10 minutes before ironing.

Meditations OF A Married Woman

By Helen Rowland

SPEAKING OF MARRIAGE.

ONCE a man used to give at least ONE ear-drum to his wife's conversation, but now the radio has cheated her out of even that little crumb of comfort.

Discretion is what comes to a man after the first motor smash, the second marriage, the third kiss, or the last drink. It is usually accompanied by a broken rib, shattered illusions, boredom or a headache.

A man's bath should be a private and personal matter; but from the way he splashes, sputters, groans and sings under the cold shower, apparently his idea is to advertise his cleanliness to the whole world.

When a man would "rather work than eat" it may be only a pose or chronic dyspepsia—but when he would rather work than play golf or go to a baseball game it is a sign of sheer genius.

Nowadays most of mother's "overstrain" comes from banting or hunting for a cook to stay in the kitchen; and most of father's "overwork" from the struggle to get away in time for a round of golf or for discussing ways and means to get the fish to bite.

Some married couples get so far away from love-making that when they run across a pair of lovers "spooning," they have that surprised, "Well, they're still doing that sort of thing!" feeling.

The woman, the love, or the habit to which a man clings forever is usually the one that he feels he can easily drop at any moment.

After about 10 years of marriage, anything a woman may say in a domestic quarrel seems so entirely inadequate to express her feelings that she just naturally shuts up. That's how seasoned married couples "get along so nicely together."

A man sometimes uses all his art in trying to deceive a woman—and then a woman has to use a lot more art in pretending to believe him.

After 30 a girl ceases to look upon marriage as an adventure, and begins to regard it merely as a solution.

A Slight Bite.

If nipped slightly by a cat or dog, immediately apply tincture of iodine. Unless the dog or cat is mad the abrasion is no more serious than any other scratch. If the animal acts strangely, then see a doctor and have the scratch cauterized.

Ribbon in Beading.

When running ribbon through a beading in a garment, start at the center of the garment with ribbon and run it through from there in each direction. It means less handling of the ribbon and in consequence a better-looking job.

Salted Almonds.

Why not decide to do your own almonds this year and save a great deal of money on your parties? First blanch the shelled almonds by pouring boiling water over them and letting stand until the skins will slip off easily. Pour one pint of olive or vegetable oil in a saucepan and when boiling hot drop in the almonds, not so many that they are crowded. When they are the desired brown remove with a skimmer and let drain on brown paper. Shake salt over them and turn them over a couple of times so the salt will be on all sides of the nuts. The remaining oil may be poured into a jar and kept in the refrigerator for future saltings. Clothes will last longer if mended before laundering.

FOREST DEPTHS.

FURRED and feathered, the wild things go
Here where the moss on the boughs swings low,
Seeking the depths of the forest's gloom,
Safety and rest in its green-arched room.
Stealthy the steps of the furry cat,
Ever alert for the foe called man,
Rustle of leaves through the whole day long,
Strange, low calls, then a burst of song;
Sudden whirling of unseen wings,
Sense of watchful and hidden things.

SHOES MUST MATCH COSTUME

Latest Shoe Models in New York Shops.

SHOES are becoming a most important item of the chic American woman's wardrobe. It is necessary in this day of "ensemble" to have shoes that harmonize with each costume. The line, color and material of the shoes are determined by the costume with which they are to be worn.

Slippers for evening wear are more delicate and frivolous and are made of exquisite materials. One very effective pair, worn with a black lunasol gown, are covered with silver sequins and have an evening bag of sequins to match. The evening slippers most often seen are plain opera pumps dyed to match the gown or its trimming. Brocade and lame slippers are worn, but they must be chosen carefully to harmonize with the gown. The slipper illustrated at the top of the accompanying sketch is of metal brocade trimmed with graceful bands of silver kid clasped with a jeweled buckle.

For afternoon wear there are step-in and strap pumps of suede and kid. There is a tendency to trim these slippers with long curved bands of a contrasting leather, gracefully following the outline of the foot. Suede is trimmed with kid of the same color, and kid is trimmed with reptile leather or with darker kid. Because of the numbers of beige and brown costumes this fall brown suede afternoon shoes are most popular. A charming pair of brown suede pumps, illustrated, are trimmed with a brown wooden buckle beautifully carved in a modernist design.

In contrast to the delicacy of shoes for formal wear, sport shoes are very sturdy and have low heels. For walking there are one-strap shoes of black or tan kid trimmed with reptile leathers. Oxfords are popular for fall sports. Two of the most popular styles are illustrated at the bottom of the sketch. The first is a "ghillie" oxford in brown calf and alligator. The three eyelet oxford is of suede with a high Cuban heel, a "racer" curved saddle and a slender toe.

Orange Butter

Wash the oranges and remove stems and blossoms. Cut into small pieces, removing all seeds. Cover with water and cook until peel is tender, about two and one-half hours. For every pound of fruit add one-half pound sugar. Cook until thick. A delicious and healthful sandwich spread for the kiddies.

Poorly Planned.

CARING FOR THE BABY

By Claire Morton.

SLEEP DURING THE DAY.

THE perfect baby sleeps at regular hours during the day. The problem of getting a child to take his nap can be greatly simplified if he is taught at a very early age to sleep at the same hour every day.

After constant activity for an hour, two hours, or longer (depending on his age), the baby is worn out. He is eager to sleep. He will be cross until he can sleep. Give him the opportunity. Take him to a room away from the rest of the family, take off his stockings if you are the sort of mother that insists on babies wearing stockings, and take off the dress or romper if it is the least bit uncomfortable or binding. Cover him up warmly and open one window wide. Even if the baby doesn't fall asleep, he rests. That is almost as beneficial as sleeping.

Rocking him, or walking with him takes up your time and does not help him to get the rest he needs. In fact it will delay the time when, out of sheer exhaustion, he will finally close his eyes.

A child that is trained to rest at the same hour every day will not make it necessary for the family to walk about on tiptoes. He will fall asleep and sleep soundly through ordinary household disturbances.

A very young baby should sleep most of the time, day and night. By the time he is 6 months old, two-hour naps a day, in addition to the 12-hour sleep at night are all that he needs. At 1 year of age, one long and one short nap is required. Beginning at 2 years of age, he will need only one nap in the middle of the day.

Regularity in daytime naps practically eliminates crossness in a healthy child. A baby that remains awake after he is worn out grows unnapier by the minute. The only way to keep his temper equable is to take him to his crib at the moment he reaches the point of exhaustion. When he wakes he will be rested and consequently happy, or "good."

Children Act On Impulse

By Dr. Brice Belden.

YOUR child is more or less a bundle of impulses. That is all the character it possesses. Its inhibitions are only beginning to be developed. As they develop from painful experience, its impulses—that is to say its reaction to stimuli, external and internal—are said to be "brought under control."

Impulsive acts in children deserve the special attention of parents and teachers because they are able to do things which are not in accordance with the child's make-up but also the outlook for its mental health. The knowledge of this special side of the child's life is important for preventive measures.

The principal and most primitive law of nervous activity is the reflex act. If a sharp point touches us, we jump; we do not know we are going to jump and we do not intend to jump, but it happens all the same. That is a reflex and automatic reaction to an external stimulus, the pin. As our development advances the tendency to direct reflex action becomes controlled, and thus a blind force is transformed into a conscious and determined act. Impulsive actions are the expression of a reflex phenomenon and are normal as long as they are under the control of the higher centers of the brain, but they become unhealthy when the equilibrium is interrupted. They are rapid and sudden and often repeated in a paroxysmal manner. The child may be conscious of them, but unable to control them, be quite unaware of them. The acts may depend on the exigencies of life or be quite unrelated to it.

They may take the form of gestures or words, ridiculous acts, stupid or extravagant acts, repulsive acts, wandering off aimlessly, thefts, destructive or incendiary acts or acts of violence. The problem is, therefore, a very rapid and sudden one. Here is an example: A girl of 8 had had a series of infectious diseases—measles, whooping cough and diphtheria—and developed the curious habit of suddenly walking off for a minute in the middle of a conversation or at the table, and then would stop, surprised at herself and quite unable to remember what had occurred.

Children of advanced years who continue to perform strictly impulsive acts cannot be regarded as normal. They lack control and equilibrium. Very often they show other signs of abnormality such as lying, deception, queer feeling toward relatives, cruelty or apathy. Sometimes they are brilliant, clever and precocious.

Upon their management in these early years their whole future depends. Their mode of living, mental development and emotional life must all be different from that of normal children. The preparation for the future, for adolescence and manhood or womanhood should aim differently from the preparatory measures applied to normal life. Intellectual life must not be forced or hastened. No definite plans for the future must be made.

The emotional life must be very carefully guarded. Negligence in this special direction is bound to lead to collapse at the critical period of puberty. If, on the other hand, they are placed under too much care they may live long, healthy and useful lives.

When analyzed, these conditions lead in an ascending manner to a deeper insight of a child's constitutional makeup. Recognition and proper evaluation of any abnormal phenomenon in childhood constitutes a very instructive chapter in mental hygiene.

Hatless Fad Hits Hat Check Graft

THE "hatless Manhattan" movement has spread to Paris and once prosperous owners of hat checking privileges see a cheerless future.

So many men go bareheaded to theaters and hotels and the women seldom wear cloaks that the old ladies who have thrived on tip are complaining that fashion is taking the bread from their mouths.

Sport and the automobile are to blame. The cult of the young woman disdain hats has grown of late years and this summer at beach and mountain resorts multiplied the number of the hatless crowd.

The increase in automobiles naturally has made it easier for men and women to go to the theater without hat or coat.

It is quite an upset in the traditions of France but back of it is the long abuse of the "vestibule" cloakroom. It has been a department in public places, so poorly handled that the people often preferred to keep their wraps rather than wait ten minutes in a struggling line to get them back.

Also, they came to resent the assumption of the right to collect hats, coats and canes from all who entered. The public, therefore, has followed fashion the more willingly because it helped abolish another nuisance.

In Case You Slip.

A place of cardboard cut with circles in the middle to fit around the door bell or speaking tube when cleaning and polishing will prove a great protection to the surrounding woodwork.

Fruit cocktail may be added to fruit gelatin mixture and serve as dessert for the children's lunch.

THE DAY.

l asleep and sleep soundly rough ordinary household diseases.

A very young baby should sleep
most of the time, day and night.
The time he is 6 months old,
two-hour naps a day, in addition to the 12-hour sleep at night, all that he needs. At 1 year age, one long and one short nap required. Beginning at 2 years age, he will need only one nap the middle of the day.

Regularity in daytime naps practically eliminates fussiness in a lithy child. A baby that relaxes awake after he is worn out sleeps untroubled by the minute.
The only way to keep his temper stable is to take him to his crib the moment he reaches the point of exhaustion. When he wakes he will be rested and consequently happy and "good."

Children of advanced years who continue to perform erratic impulsive acts cannot be regarded as normal. They lack control and equilibrium. Very often they show other signs of abnormality such as lying, deception, queer feeling toward relatives, cruelty or apathy.
Sometimes they are brilliant,
dever and precocious.

Upon their management in these early years their whole future depends. Their mode of living, mental development and emotional life
must all be different from that of normal children. The preparation for the future, for adolescence and manhood or womanhood should aim differently from the preparatory measures applied to normal life. Intellectual life must not be fostered or hastened. No definite plans for the future must be made.
The emotional life must be very carefully guarded. Negligence in this special direction is bound to lead to collapse at the critical period of puberty. If, on the other hand, they are placed under wise care they may live long, healthy and useful lives.

When analyzed, these conditions lead in an ascending manner to a deeper insight of a child's constitutional makeup. Recognition and proper evaluation of any abnormal phenomenon in childhood constitutes a very instructive chapter in mental hygiene.

Hatless Fad Hits
Hat Check Graft

THE "hatless Manhattan" movement has spread to Paris and once prosperous owners of hat-checking privileges see a cheerless future.

So many men go bareheaded to theaters and hotels and the women so seldom wear cloaks that the old ladies who have thrived on tips are complaining that fashion is taking the bread from their mouths.

Sport and the automobile are to blame. The cult of the young who disdain hats has grown of late years and this summer at beach and mountain resort multiplied the number of the hatless crowd.

The increase in automobiles naturally has made it easier for many men and women to go to the theater without hat or coat.

It is quite an upset in the tradition of France but back of it is the long abuse of the "vestiare" or cloakroom. It has been a department in public places, so poorly handled that the people often preferred to keep their wraps rather than wait ten minutes in a struggling line to get them back.

Also, they came to resent an assumption of the right to collect hats, coats and canes from all who entered. The public, therefore, has followed fashion the more willingly because it helped abolish another nuisance.

Children Act On Impulse

By Dr. Bruce Belden.

YOUNG child is more or less a bundle of impulses. That is all the character it possesses.
Its inhibitions are only beginning to be developed. As they develop from painful experiences, its impulses—that is to say its reaction to stimuli, external and internal—are said to be "brought under control."

Impulsive acts in children deserve the special attention of parents and teachers because they enable us, by their very nature, to determine with considerable accuracy not only the child's make-up but also the outlook for his mental health. The knowledge of this special side of the child's life is important for preventive measures.

The principal and most primitive law of nervous activity is the reflex act. If a sharp point touches us, we jump; we do not know we are going to jump, but it does not intend to jump, but it happens. That is a reflex and automatic reaction to an external stimulus, the pin. As our development advances the tendency to direct reflex action becomes controlled, and thus a blind force is transformed into a conscious and determined one. Impulsive actions are the expression of a reflex phenomenon and are normal as long as they are under the control of the higher centers of the brain, but they become unhealthy when the equilibrium is interrupted. They are rapid and sudden and often repeated in a paroxysmal manner. The child may be conscious of them, but unable to control them, be quite unaware of them. The acts may depend on the exigencies of life or be quite unrelated to it.

They may take the form of gestures or words, ridiculous acts, stupid or extravagant acts, repulsive acts, wandering off aimlessly, thefts, destructive or incendiary acts or acts of violence. The problem is, therefore, a very vast one.

Here is one example: A girl of 14 had had a series of infectious diseases—measles, whooping cough and diphtheria—and developed the curious habit of suddenly walking out for a minute in the middle of a conversation or at the table, and then would stop, surprised at herself and quite unable to remember what had occurred.

Children of advanced years who
continue to perform erratic impulsive acts cannot be regarded as normal. They lack control and equilibrium. Very often they show
other signs of abnormality such as lying, deception, queer feeling toward relatives, cruelty or apathy.
Sometimes they are brilliant,
dever and precocious.

Upon their management in these early years their whole future depends. Their mode of living, mental development and emotional life
must all be different from that of normal children. The preparation for the future, for adolescence and manhood or womanhood should aim differently from the preparatory measures applied to normal life. Intellectual life must not be fostered or hastened. No definite plans for the future must be made.
The emotional life must be very carefully guarded. Negligence in this special direction is bound to lead to collapse at the critical period of puberty. If, on the other hand, they are placed under wise
care they may live long, healthy
and useful lives.

CHIC CHERIE

A Wedding Soon

This is a letter from Diana—please don't get her confused with Dina—and Diana is going to be married this winter. She wants to know what she should buy for her, trousseau. Which question will now be taken under advisement... Don't you like Cherie's dress? It consists of a dress and scarf of a bluish tweed and a tuck-in sweater of the same blue with a pattern in orange and green. Diana's sweater frock has a red skirt and a gray sweater with red stripes. Kitty's sweater dress is of natural yarn—Kitty's gesture is an inquiry—how tall is this Diana who wants some advice about her trousseau? About as tall as Dina.....

Diana is a brunette, too, like Dina, and weighs about the same. Enough not to be skanky, but certainly not plump. Just nice. She's only 19 years old, which is young to be married, and Diana and Cherie do hope she'll be happy. In the meantime they've drawn up a long list of suggestions for a winter trousseau. Cherie's jolly dress (you know, kerchiefs are simply never going out of style) is a wool jersey in two shades of blue. Diana's coat-dress is a knit tweed, slightly bloused, wide leather belt, pleated front of skirt—and all that. Tomorrow we'll detail some of the suggestions Cherie is making for the trousseau.

FINISHING UP
WHAT'S BEGUN

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne.

IT is a common adult failing to leave unfinished tasks which have been begun.

We are all familiar with the man of the family who gets the porch half screened and lets the matter rest indefinitely. We know the woman who enthusiastically enrolls for a series of lectures only to cease her attendance after the first two or three. Since such habits are fixed in early childhood, they cannot but persist throughout life.

It is therefore worthwhile to train the child so that he will begin only such jobs as he is willing and able to finish. The 4 year old, ambitious to make a wire cage for his new rabbits, should be diverted to the more suitable enterprise of arranging their nest in a box, while his father makes the cage. In this way he is spared the frustration which would have been his if he had attempted to make the cage and he still has the pleasure of accomplishing his share in making a home for his pets.

The 9 year old girl, inspired by her mother's skill, wants to embroider a difficult and tedious pattern on a luncheon set. It would take her several weeks to finish it. No child's interest would last that long. She should, instead, be given a simple design which a few days' work will see completed.

The child who begins too many things at once will, for all his fine initiative, reap only a sense of failure. If he tries at the same time to make a garden, build a raft and embark on an intensive Boy Scout career, he will do no single one well as he should. He must not be allowed to bite off more than he can chew.

When once a piece of work has been begun the child should be made to finish it, although he is a little bored and would prefer the thrill of a new adventure. Such discipline is wholesome and is a realistic foretaste of what will be expected of him when he is grown.

THE only real trouble with regard to youth is an economic one," said Floyd Dell, the noted young writer, who is usually well equipped to speak on the younger generation.

"The young girls of the middle class are ready to get married at 18—but whom can they marry?
Not the young men they have been playing around with, for it will be several years before they will be in a position to marry. For that reason, too, the men are afraid of the girls during the traditional mating period. The girls, therefore, have to do the wooing and the young men are obliged to be coy and evasive.

"This reversal of the psychological roles which have been played with great satisfaction since the Garden of Eden is enough to account for a good deal of queer behavior in our youth, including drinking to drown their miseries—miseries which they do not quite understand. The girls do know, though, that they would much rather be wooed, and the young men on their part would like a chance to do the wooing themselves. They both feel that the present middle-class predicament is unnatural. The girls have to turn finally to an older group of men in order to get married—or else make themselves self-supporting and tactfully let the young men understand that they won't be required to support babies until they are making more money.

"Nobody explains the situation clearly to the girls. They have to find out, painfully for themselves. (The fact is that girls who need to be supported are luxuries in which young men cannot afford to indulge. The girls read the popular magazines, and go to the movies where they see the heroine surrounded by luxuries provided by the enamored hero; then they look about them and regretfully see that real life is not like that.

"The middle class economic situation forbids early marriages except on terms which are likely to offend young feminine vanity and young masculine pride. Only the most intelligent and spirited and courageous young people can adjust themselves to the situation without a great deal of neurotic floundering."

HIROHITO ASCENDS TO 'HIGH AUGUST SEAT' AS 124TH MIKADO OF JAPAN

Heir of Sun Goddess in Unbroken Line, He Assumes Imperial Throne With Ancient Ceremony.

Emperor Starts Day With Formal Shinto Ritual at Shrine of Traditional Ancestress.

By the Associated Press.
KYOTO, Japan, Nov. 10.—A new sovereign today formally assumed the "high august seat," the throne of the sun goddess who, tradition says, have reigned over Japan from before the dawn of authentic history.

Before the highest dignitaries of his realm and representatives of 26 other nations, Hirohito made the announcement this afternoon by which he took his place as the 124th Emperor of Japan.

The climax of this solemn ceremony came precisely at 3 o'clock, when Premier Baron Tanaka, standing at the foot of the stairs of the throne hall, led the brilliant assemblage in three cries of "Banzai!" This was timed to the second so that at hundreds of centers throughout the empire other gatherings, less distinguished but no less fervent, could raise the same cry at the same instant. "Banzai!" literally "ten thousand years!" is best translated, as used on this occasion, "Reign forever!"

As soon as the cheers led by Premier Tanaka, who was in the black robes of the ancient court costume, ceased, muffled army and navy bands took up the strains of "Kimi-Ga-Yo," the national anthem. A cold drizzle which had been falling shortly after noon stopped at 2 o'clock before the main dignitaries took their places and bright autumn sunshine flooded the spectacle.

29 Foreign Envoys Present.
Of the 26 foreign envoys who received the formal announcement of the imperial accession, only one represented an Emperor—the Emperor of India, who is also King George V of Great Britain. Nine brought the felicitations of Kings, and 14 of Presidents of republics. The other two were an Ambassador from Soviet Russia, and an envoy of uncertain status from Nationalist China.

The drama of the Sokul-rel, or ceremony of ascending the throne, was enacted by a company of about 2000 persons, many of them women. It solemnized an accession which actually occurred nearly two years ago, for Hirohito has reigned in fact since his father, Emperor Taisho, died on Christmas morn. ing, 1926.

On this stage was presented a pageant richer in historical symbolism than any other now surviving, the story of a people crystallized in ritual. The long scroll of legends and authentic history of Japan, beginning with the misty and ill-formed tale of the divine ancestors from whom the Japanese believe themselves descended was unrolled. There were symbols of the sun goddess, who is held to have ruled the high plain of heaven before this mundane order took form.

In the sword and jewel of the imperial regalia were reproduced relics of a prehistoric Japan, from which the empire emerged with the accession of Jimmu Tenno, which the official histories place 2588 years ago. Abundant survivals of the centuries, more than 1600 years ago, through which the influence of the still more ancient culture of China dominated Japanese thought and manners appeared in the architecture of the throne hall itself and in the ritual.

In the costumes of the chief actors were pictured the luxury and refinement of the court of medieval Kyoto. In the bows and arrows and corselets of the guards before the throne room there lived again the swaggers of the warriors of feudal, shogun-ruled Japan, they of the inflexible Samurai code which preferred death to dishonor or disgrace. The modern age was pictured in the 1928 toilettes of the women of the diplomatic corps and the diplomatic uniforms of full evening dress of their escorts.

Older Ceremony Nov. 14-15.
Ancient as was the ritual here performed, it is not the oldest extant Japanese enthronement ceremony. That remains to be performed the night of Nov. 14-15.
